HELP! MAYOR TO LEGISLATURE

DUCE INSISTS CATHOLIC CLUBS REMAIN CLOSED

Order Definite and Final, He Says.

ROME, June 2.—While negotiations for a solution of the Italo-Vatican crisis continue, both through regular diplomatic and unofficial channels, the Fascist government announced today that the dissolution of all the juvenile organizations of Catholic Action is final and definite.

CARDINAL GASPARRI.

Among the organizations definitely hit by the order is the American Knights of Columbus, one of whose playgrounds was closed on Saturday by the police, whereupon the remaining five closed voluntarily. Hope that the Knights of Columbus playgrounds might be allowed to reopen were dashed today when Premier Mussolini decided that no exceptions could be made and that the Knights of Columbus must share the fate of all other juvenile organizations which are not directly managed by the Fascist party or Fascist organizations.

Catholic Action Offices Open.

The decision caused a considerable amount of indignation in Catholic circles since the Y. M. C. A., which was closed on Saturday, was allowed to reopen a half hour later. This was taken by Catholics to show that the dissolution order is not a general measure applied to all non-Fascist juvenile organizations, but is directed exclusively at all organizations in any way connected with the holy see.

The government, however, has carefully avoided breaking the letter of the Italo-Vatican conciliation treaties, for it made no move against Catholic Action itself, which is protected by article 43 of the concordat. The offices of Catholic Action, comprising the association of Catholic adults, are still open and are continuing their activities as usual.

Renewed protest against the treatment accorded him by the Italian government was made by Pope Pius XI. today in an address delivered to a group of Mexican pilgrims. He told them he never has assumed a hostile attitude against any one, and therefore considers "the attitude taken by some against so many dear sons and daughters who belong to him absolutely inexplicable."

Vatican in New Protest.

It was learned today that the Vatican has presented not one but two protests to the Italian government. The first was made by the pope in his capacity of sovereign of the state of Vatican City. It protests against alleged violations of the Italo-Vatican treaty. The points specifically mentioned are violation of article 15 by invasion of the palace of the papal chancery by an excited mob, which thus technically invaded Vatican territory, and violation of article 43 of the concordat, by a violent campaign in the Fascist press against Catholic Action, which the Italian government bound itself to recognize.

The second protest made by the pope was in his capacity of bishop of Rome, and deals with all the other insults and violences to which the property and members of Catholic institutions have been subjected.

Though the Italian government has not yet replied to the demand for apologies and reparations contained in both protests, it is known that negotiations for a solution of the crisis are actively proceeding. They are being conducted on the one hand by Magr. Borgongini Duca, papal nuncio to Italy, and on the other by Count de Vecchi, Italian ambassador to the holy see.

Gasparri Enters Parleys.

Unofficial go-betweens, however, have come to the assistance of official diplomacy. It is significant that Pietro Cardinal Gasparri had more than an hour's conference with the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Pacelli, tonight. Cardinal Gasparri, who as papal secretary of state in 1929 negotiated the conciliation with the Italian government, has wide experience in Fascist diplomatic methods, and he better than any one is qualified to establish unofficial contacts which might result in finding a way out of the present deadlock.

A hopeful sign is that both sides continue to be optimistic, and it is quite evident that both wish to avoid a rupture of relations if this can be achieved.

ALCOCK UPSETS STATION; SETS UP SCOTLAND YARD

Also Tightens Reins on Police Ratings.

In an order issued yesterday Acting Police Commissioner Alcock put into effect two innovations in Chicago police practices on which he has been working since the inauguration of Mayor Cermak. Both are designed to increase efficiency of the department in curbing crime.

CAPT. SHOEMAKER.

One of the changes is the creation of a "Scotland Yard," which will conduct investigations independently of other branches of the department. The other is the installation of a system by which the inefficient detectives and plain clothes men will be replaced by others and ordered to patrol duty in uniforms.

Transfer 186 Men; Abolish Station.

The order transferred 186 men and abolished the Canalport police station at 2075 Canalport avenue. This district henceforth will be included in the Maxwell police district to which most of the patrolmen and officers of the abandoned station were transferred. Capt. Patrick Kelliher of Canalport was transferred to the detective bureau.

Commissioner Alcock announced that he will leave desk sergeants and wagon crews at the Canalport station, where Capt. William Shoemaker, former chief of detectives, who recently was transferred to Alcock's office, will be in charge of Chicago's "Scotland Yard."

Capt. Shoemaker in Charge.

"Capt. Shoemaker will have the station house as his headquarters," Commissioner Alcock said. "He will have men assigned to him, and will conduct a secret investigation department similar to London's Scotland Yard."

Capt. Shoemaker has a reputation for knowing every well known criminal and gangster in the city. In his investigation of murders and major crimes he will report only to the commissioner.

"I haven't conferred with the commissioner, yet," Capt. Shoemaker said when he was asked about the new job last night, "and until then I won't know just what is expected of me." He declined to reveal any plans for operating his new bureau.

40 Detectives Transferred.

In the transfer order, 40 men were removed from the detective bureau and sent to outlying stations for patrol duty in uniforms. They were transferred in accordance with Alcock's new system of keeping only policemen who have high efficiency records at the detective bureau.

"Under the new system," the commissioner said, "every captain is held responsible for the conditions in his district. They must make a report every fifteen days of the number of crimes committed in their districts and the number that have been cleaned up.

"In addition I keep records of the work performed by every district policeman in plainclothes and of every man assigned to the detective bureau. I personally supervise their work, and if a policeman is low in efficiency for two or three months in succession, he is transferred to patrol duty in uniform.

To Reward Hard Workers.

"In the past a few men at the bureau or in the districts have done all the work. From now on the men doing the work will be kept in plainclothes and the others will be in uniform.

"I believe the prevention of crime is more important than solutions after crimes are committed; that the real crime preventive is uniformed men on post. I intend to keep as many in uniform as possible."

The order also transferred sixteen men from the automobile detail. Its commander, Lieut. John J. Sullivan, was transferred to the Albany Park station. Lieut. Joseph McGuire was transfered from Albany Park to Hudson avenue, and Lieut. William P. O'Brien from Hudson avenue to South Chicago.

FREE GARDENS ARE OFFERED TO NEEDY OF GARY

Gary has inaugurated a new back to the soil movement as a means of helping its unemployed. The plan is to lay out gardens of adequate size in 210 acres of ground in Calumet bottoms, half of it in the city limits, assign each garden to a person who applies for it, furnish him with seed, lend him tools for cultivation, see that he follows proper growing methods, and guard his plot to see that it is not trampled or robbed in his absence.

The ground has been donated rent free and more than 500 applications for gardens already have been received. The Social Agencies council, of which Guy E. Wuling is executive committee chairman and Miss Mary Newlin secretary, is credited with originating the idea. City Engineer John Hayes and his assistants are surveying the plots, and the American Sheet and Tin company has offered seeds to all its employés who wish to become gardeners. Watchmen will be obtained from the ranks of the unemployed.

Mayor R. O. Johnson has suggested that the arrangement be made permanent if it is successful this year.

Three Guinan Girls Escape; Take Joy Ride

BULLETIN.

HAVRE, France, June 3.—(AP)—Three girls who took French leave from Texas Guinan's troupe yesterday returned this morning. They were found sitting on the doorstep of the detention hotel about dawn and said they had "just been for a little ride" with a Texas millionaire.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVRE, France, June 2.—All the way from here to Paris special detectives and ordinary policemen tonight are trying to capture three pretty dancing girls from Texas Guinan's forlorn gang of "whoopee" purveyors, who today slipped away from under the noses of the guards at the immigration detention hotel and headed for adventure and supposedly the French capital.

The three runaway girls, Norma Taylor, Evelyn Martin, and Mabel Schwartz, were to have packed up and gone back to America with "Tex" and the rest of the gang tomorrow because the French government after a lot of meditation decided that they had no labor permit, and therefore could not dance for the tired business men in Paris.

American Takes Them to Tea.

The girls started out today with Anne Boyelan and Anne Eckdoll, two other members of the troupe, on a shopping tour. These two came back to the hotel and said nothing. They are now held under guard. The three runaways were last seen taking tea with a wealthy American, Dick Crespy, 26 year old cotton merchant from Waco, Tex., in the Frascati hotel. The trail ends there. It is believed they raced away in Crespy's auto.

The escaped girls are far from destitute. Norma Taylor is said to have $1,500 hidden beneath her garter.

France to Share Cost.

Texas, who has been near distraction over the baffling events of the last few days, got one bit of consolation tonight. She was told that all the expenses of her dancing girls on their return trip in first class cabins will be paid by the French lines. It was earlier reported that she would have to bear all the costs of deportation.

It is understood that this decision was reached at the request of Premier Pierre Laval, who intimated that the French government would bear part of the expense.

COUPLE TRAILED FROM THEATER; ROBBED OF GEMS

Four bandits, three of them armed, last night held up and robbed Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hoyland of cash and jewelry valued at $2,500 as the couple drove to their home at 1133 Farwell avenue. Mr. Hoyland is head of an advertising company bearing his name at 417 Clinton street.

The Hoylands had attended a loop theater with Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Bowyer of 2440 Lake View avenue. Mr. Bowyer is publisher of an automobile trade journal. After leaving the Bowyers Mr. Hoyland drove through an alley near his home toward his garage. There an automobile drew alongside and three men with revolvers stepped out and demanded Mr. Hoyland's money and his jewelry. A fourth sat at the wheel of the bandits' car.

After Mr. Hoyland turned over $10 in cash and a ring the men turned to Mrs. Hoyland, who displayed hands that were barren of jewelry and told the bandits she had no rings. Mrs. Hoyland, following a habit of several years, had hidden her rings in her dress when she entered the dark alley.

"You had better give them up," said Mr. Hoyland after the bandits declared they had seen her jewelry as she left the theater. Mrs. Hoyland selected one ring and gave it to the gunmen, who fled.

U. S. DIPLOMACY IS HELL ON FEET, DAWES OPINES

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—American diplomacy is "easy on the brain but hell on the feet," according to Gen. Charles G. Dawes, the American ambassador to Great Britain, who called at the state department today for a conference with Secretary Stimson. He gave the characterization during a conversation with friends as he sat on a table in the department with his hat on the back of his head.

The ambassador, who recently arrived in this country on a leave of absence, which will be devoted primarily to affairs in connection with the World's Fair at Chicago, came here today and will be a White House guest until Thursday.

Medicine Vender, 91 Years Old, Perishes in Flames

William J. Hickey, 91 years old, an itinerant medicine vender well known to many sections of the south side, was suffocated early this morning when fire destroyed the shack in which he lived at the rear of 4340 South Union avenue. Michael O'Connor, who resides at that address, tried to break down the doors and rescue the aged man, but strong locks baffled him, and by the time firemen arrived and broke in Hickey was dead.

Liner Returns from Its First "Alcoholiday"

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 2.—[Special.]—The good ship Berengaria, third largest of the wave splashers, came frolicking into port this afternoon from its first "alcoholiday" cruise. Aboard were 1,143 passengers, home from the zone of the great headache, far beyond the 12-mile limit.

Three stewards were reported "resting well" in the ship's hospital after nervous breakdowns as a result of incessant service in the pleasure saloon during the four and one-half day jaunt to Bermuda and back. The great Cunarder bore the brunt of the merrymaking, as only four hours were spent ashore and that on a Sunday afternoon.

Blue laws reigned in Bermuda on the Sabbath, beaches were closed, shops were barred. There was nothing to buy but sunburn and sunburn lotion. Consequently, motor launches churned St. George bay ferrying tourists with parched throats back to the haven of the more hospitable Berengaria.

Bounding Back From Bermuda.

And then the cocktail cruisers came bounding back from Bermuda to bounce plump into the arms of 120 customs officers. The passengers had salt in their eyes as they held on tightly to the handrail of the gangplank, for life had been just one long queue since the Berengaria had nosed into quarantine.

The Berengaria could not rightly be called a "bottle-scarred" ship, for it has given up the sale of bottled goods just to avoid such unpleasant customs lineups as took place today and possibly to save tear and wear. Nevertheless, the refreshment business was good.

The three indisposed stewards were too tired to talk, but other of their comrades on tray and shaker duty reported an average of three to four hours' sleep on the four and one-half day cruise. Several on bar duty had no opportunity to change clothes, it was revealed, and took turn about grabbing forty winks.

Night life, passengers agreed, lasted until 4 a. m. and a lot of the passengers went in for day and night life. The chief steward declined to reveal the amount of the bar receipts, but it was said they were well in excess of all costs of food served on the ship.

No Contraband to Buy.

The week-end tourists soon discovered they were back in the United States, however, when the Berengaria sat down off Staten Island and the customs men climbed aboard. It took more than an hour to check the voyagers off as American citizens, and then came the scramble on the pier when each of the 1,148 had to explain his or her four hour sojourn in a foreign country.

It made no difference that the visit had been on a Sunday when there was no contraband to buy. It was just a formality required by law, the customs men explained. A request had been made in Washington by officials of the line, it was said, that when passengers had no chance to buy anything in Nassau or Bermuda that the formality of going through declarations be dropped.

The fact that the Cunard line has agreed not to sell any bottled liquor on shipboard, making it impossible for contraband to be brought into the country, may have some effect on getting the customs inspection lifted.

The Berengaria goes back on her Southampton run tomorrow at midnight and the saloon stewards will be allowed to sleep until she sails.

CERMAK TAKES REVENUE RELIEF PLEA TO CAPITAL

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Following Cook county's default on Monday in the payment of $1,868,600 of bonds and interest Mayor Cermak, County Treasurer McDonough, and members of the mayor's advisory commission departed for Springfield last night to urge remedial legislation for the financial ailments of the local governments. They were determined to press for action at the present session of the legislature despite reports from Springfield that the lawmakers are holding up all revenue matters for a special session.

The mayor will present the picture of the city's financial condition to the revenue committee of the house of representatives at its scheduled meeting this morning. He will also endeavor to arrange a meeting between his group and Gov. Emmerson and the leaders of both house and senate.

Wants Legislation Now.

Before his departure Mayor Cermak indicated that he saw no hope of obtaining immediate relief for the local governments in a special session of the legislature. If the present session does not give the relief, he said, he will cut the staffs of city departments to the bone, retaining only absolutely essential services.

This statement was made by the mayor following a conference that was held in his office just before his departure. Those present were Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank; Sewell Avery, chairman of the mayor's advisory commission; Emmett Whealan, president of the county board; M. S. Szymczak, city controller, and Victor Petterson, deputy city controller.

"Situation Is Terrible."

"We are satisfied," said Mayor Cermak after the conference, "that we cannot get any legislation at a special session which will be of immediate help in getting the city, county, and schools out of their financial difficulties.

"The tax expending bodies are in a terrible financial situation. There is no reason for fooling ourselves. There is no hope of paying longer.

"If the legislature does not give us aid by July 1, I will reduce the city forces to a minimum, regardless of civil service and regardless of any other influence, because there will be no money with which to function at the present rate of spending.

He Won't Increase Debt.

"I will not plunge the city into further indebtedness. The fire and the police departments will probably be the only ones that will not be severely cut. I will instruct the department heads to cut expense to the bone, and carry on only the essential services.

"This means, among other curtailments, that there will be little or no paving in Chicago during the remainder of the year. The people cannot pay special assessments for street improvements if they cannot pay taxes."

Mayor Cermak said that he could see no good reason why the legislature should not remain in session until June 30, if necessary, to aid Chicago. He explained why he saw no chance of immediate relief in a special session.

"In the regular session," the mayor said, "only a majority vote is required to pass a bill, while in a special session a two-thirds vote is required if the bill is to become effective before July 1, 1932. In the meantime Chicago is suffering."

Hits at Tax Boosters of Past.

Then Mayor Cermak spoke of another matter. He said:

"The same interests—the policemen, firemen, and school teachers—who went to Springfield to get tax increases, are not here now to help the city out of its financial troubles. This fight is not the mayor's. It is particularly the fight of those who stood for the last city administration.

"Every month that the legislature delays giving us aid means $1,000,000 in interest."

Referring specifically to house bill No. 28, which would revise and consolidate the tax boards, the mayor said that the reason the bankers want a change in the taxing machinery is to speed up the assessments, get the taxes collected, and the city's credit reëstablished.

McDonough Also Seeks Aid.

County Treasurer McDonough went to Springfield to present a bill which will permit the refunding of bonds and interest by the county. The city now has the power to refund bonds alone, but it is the only local government with that power, although the sanitary district is seeking such authority.

"Unless the legislature will provide help," said Treasurer McDonough, "the county will probably default on bonds or interest on the first day of every month, except September, for the remainder of the year. In addition to the default yesterday, there is $658,985 more in bonds and interest due before the end of the year."

"Aside from the $1,100,000 spent last winter for aid to the poor and unemployed," said M. J. O'Connor, assistant deputy controller for the county, "the county has unpaid bills totaling upwards of $6,500,000. By the end of the year we will be $12,000,000 in the hole unless something is done. The pay roll approved yesterday, including certain essentials, such as mothers' pensions, hospital nursing, jurors' fees, home placing and industrial schools, totaling about $550,000, will be the last, until relief arrives."

The Bankers' Suggestions.

The banks on Monday declined to buy Cook county's 1931 tax anticipation warrants, and gave as one reason that these warrants are now a lien upon taxes alone, while they should be a lien on all county income to insure their payment.

The bankers suggested to the county officials that tax anticipation warrants should be numbered serially and paid in the order issued. On top of that, the bankers told the officials that more money had been appropriated than the county could expect to obtain in revenue, and that the county is continuing to spend according to the appropriation instead of the expected revenues.

At one stage in the discussion, one banker made the charge that the county had "misappropriated" money. The point was that in the opinion of this banker taxes collected for one purpose had been spent for another.

City Bonds Due on July 1.

The city has bonds and interest totaling $3,289,753 due on July 1. Regarding that, City Controller Szymczak said yesterday:

"We are certain that the city does not want to place itself in the attitude of not meeting the interest on its bonded indebtedness which falls due July 1. This position must be assumed by the city in order to protect its credit. Therefore we are confident that nothing will be left undone to meet this $3,289,753 in interest on bonds for the city and board of education by July 1."

HOUSE SPEEDS STATE HIGHWAY POLICE MEASURE

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—[Special.]—Attack upon senate amendments to the state highway police bill failed in the house today, and the force was voted an increase from 300 to 350 men and given full police powers. The bill was sent to third reading.

"It is impossible for these 300 men to patrol the hard roads of the state in their limited numbers," said David Hunter [Rep., Rockford]. "If they can't have help they can't perform their work."

Minority leader Igoe of Chicago led the fight, charging that the increase would be a menace to organized labor.

"This is the opening wedge for a state constabulary," said Igoe. "They will be allowed to arrest without warrant and given the same powers that city police have. The governor perpetrated a great hoax recently when he went to Sterling to deliver an address on crime. While he was there his highway police captured six men in East St. Louis and brought them to Sterling to fit into the scheme of the speech."

Representative Sol Handy [Dem., Marshal] and John Devine [Dem., Dixon] charged that the extended power was in anticipation of forthcoming strikes which might follow wage cuts.

Rob Bank as Employes Are Outside Watching Fire

Brayton, Ia., June 2.—(AP)—While ployés of the Brayton Savings bank stood in front of the building watching a fire that threatened the town for a time today, robbers entered the bank and took approximately $750 in cash from the vaults.

PRO AGENTS GET TWO STILLS.

Prohibition agents yesterday raided a 300 gallon still in a bungalow at 6119 McVicker avenue and arrested George Crowley. Sam Glacinge was arrested as operator of a 350 gallon still at 332 North Water street, Sweator.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—[Special.]—The proposed tax on cigaret, cigar and pipe smokers and tobacco chewers, which was laughed to death in the senate three weeks ago, was embalmed today by the senate revenue committee, Chairman Earl B. Searcy [Rep., Springfield], officiating as chief mortician. The measure was tabled in company with two other bills proposing a tax on rolling stock of private car companies, such as sleeping car and refrigerator car companies, on motor buses, and on oil and gas pipe lines.

Wipe Out 100 Obsolete Laws.

Likewise Senator Harold C. Kessinger [Rep., Aurora] got the senate to pass his bill wiping 100 obsolete laws from the statute books, including one for a tax on stage coaches and another to pay the bounties to soldiers after the civil war.

Tonight the session has all symptoms of having slumped into a flop. The action of the house Democratic caucus in voting against congressional reapportionment, in the hope of a Democratic landslide next year, which may enable a remap under Democratic instead of Republican control, in the opinion of leaders, leaves the assembly with little hope of emerging from the category of dud sessions.

As one leading senator put it tonight: "The only big measure so far passed was the repeal of the Illinois prohibition act and of the search and seizure act—and the governor vetoed that." Revenue and reapportionment have gone up the spout. On the three outstanding matters the result is nothing.

Start Killing Bills.

In the remaining three weeks the houses will devote their attention to some important matters, such as the judicial reform program, but principally to routine measures and small fry stuff. The slaughter of measures is going full tilt, and committees are now hopping to the old expedient of postponing consideration until July 1, by which time the session will be over.

The ceremonials over the entombing of the cigaret tax were brief and simple.

"A lot of people wont like a 2 cent tax on a package of cigarettes which now pays 6 cents to the government," said Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet], and senate leader, "It looks like a special session on revenue and the whole subject matter should be deferred."

Take Old Laws Off Books.

The Kessinger bill wiping 100 obsolete laws from the books includes old laws creating various jobs such as state veterinarian, trustees of institutions, and other positions supplanted by later laws. Among them is the old law for justices of the peace in Chicago which were succeeded by the Municipal court. As new laws took the place of old ones, the old ones remained to clutter up the books.

HOUSE VOTES BAR ON ALL FIREWORKS SALES IN ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—[Special.]—The house today voted to ban the manufacture, sale and use of fireworks in Illinois by passing the bill introduced by Representative Thomas J. O'Brien [Dem., Chicago] by a vote of 81 to 41.

THOMAS O'BRIEN.

Strong opposition came from Republican leaders, notably Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago], who talked of the significance of Independence day as demonstrated by the amount of explosives used to celebrate it. The floor leader, Roger F. Little [Rep., Champaign], was also against it.

The house, however, appeared more willing to agree with Representative James T. Burns [Dem., Kankakee], Thomas J. O'Grady [Dem., Chicago], and with Mr. O'Brien.

To the plea that numerous persons employed by fireworks manufacturers would be thrown out of work by passage of the bill, Mr. Burns replied: "That is only putting dollars and cents above the value of human lives. It's also nothing but bunk to say that the shooting of firecrackers celebrates Independence day."

It was reported that an attempt will be made to reconsider the bill in the hope that enough members have changed their votes already to allow the continued sale and use of explosives.

AUDIT DISCLOSES CITY FUNDS ARE SHORT $40,179

Recovery Sought from Bonding Companies.

An audit of funds in the city treasury was completed yesterday by City Controller Szymczak, who sent a report to Corporation Counsel Busch. The total of bad checks and unpaid salary advances was $40,179.75, and preparations were immediately made by the corporation counsel to collect this amount from the bonding companies who furnished bonds for former City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson and former City Treasurer August B. Singer.

The controller recommended that the city treasurer's books be audited each month in the future.

Irregularity Is Noted.

The records of the city treasurer were in good shape with the exception of the amounts noted above, according to the report.

"Draw slips for salary advances were not recorded as disbursements but as cash on hand," the report read. "As some of these draw slips are old and the amounts too large to be strictly salary advances, we consider them irregular."

The audit then listed the irregular items. Two checks for a total of $90, signed by the late Bishop A. J. Carey, were found. The checks had been returned with the notation "Account closed."

Salary Advances Listed.

	Advanced.	Paid back.	Bal. due.
Anna Lindh	167.50	$ 82.50	$ 45.00
J.I.Brockett	100.00	.....	100.00
E. E. Cole.	200.00	.....	200.00
Jos. Singer	600.00	200.00	400.00
A.B.Singer	21,984.75	18,750.00	3,234.75
E. G. Bingham	36,930.00	.....	36,930.00
	$59,102.25	$19,012.50	$40,089.75

Bingham was head cashier under Singer as city treasurer.

The corporation counsel's office announced that the bonding companies had been notified of the deficits.

$41,000,000 TAX RECEIPTS HELD UP, IS COMPLAINT

McDonough Criticized for Slow Turnover.

A survey of county funds yesterday disclosed that County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough has thus far failed to distribute more than $41,000,000 paid in to the county treasury by taxpayers. City officials were complaining that the county treasurer's delay was costing local governments an average of $6,000 a day.

According to the official figures, approximately $156,000,000 in taxes had been collected by the treasurer up to May 30. Of this amount, only $84,960,000 had been paid over to the various tax spending bodies.

From the balance of approximately $71,000,000 should be deducted the $15,000,000 collected by county town collectors who have the power to distribute these funds and an additional $15,000,000 which under the law must be held in trust by the county treasurer. The remaining $41,000,000, according to the complaining officials, should have been distributed immediately.

Heavy Load of Interest.

One city official, who asked that his identity be kept secret, discussed the situation yesterday.

"Supposing that $41,000,000 had been paid over," he pointed out. "We would be able to go to the banks and take up that much in tax anticipation warrants. We are now paying an average of $45,000 to $50,000 a day in interest on tax anticipation warrants. Payment of $40,000,000 would relieve the burden by approximately $6,000 a day."

County Treasurer McDonough has been pressed by officials for reasons why he has delayed paying over money he has collected, it was revealed. He is said to have replied that he needed time to figure out the percentage requird by the various tax spending bodies. "There have been machines in the county treasurer's office for years which can figure out in a few hours the amounts which must be paid to each local government," asserted one city official.

How Money Is Divided.

This official pointed out that each dollar collected in taxes by the county treasurer is divided, under present laws, in the following manner:

City of Chicago	32.25
Schools	33.25
Parks	19.25
Sanitary district	9.00
County	7.50
State	6.25
Forest preserves	1.50
Total	100.00

"The county treasurer has no excuse in withholding immediate distribution of tax funds," said another official, who was reported to have argued vainly with Mr. McDonough. "If we had the additional millions which he could give us and could pay part of what we owe the banks, our credit would be strengthened, and 1931 tax warrants would be made bankable."

Taxes Still Coming In.

At present, the survey revealed, about $500,000 a week is still being paid into the county treasury in tax payments. Many taxpayers are withholding payments in the belief that the legislature will yet pass a law giving relief to the payer of 1929 taxes.

"If the legislature adjourns on June 20 without having passed such legislation," said an official, "many of those who have been holding off will decide that there is no hope of relief this year and will pay up. This means that the tax payments will mount rapidly."

It was claimed that George F. Harding, Mr. McDonough's predecessor, paid over tax moneys much more rapidly than the incumbent.

House Gets Chicago Revenue Problem in a New Form

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—[Special.]—The entire problem of Chicago revenue was reopened in the house tonight when Representative A. O. Galvin [Rep., Chicago] gained leave to introduce ten bills—the program of the Chicago Real Estate board.

In condensed form the bills represent much the same program that was embodied in ninety-nine bills which James J. McVicker [Rep., Chicago] sought to promote twe weeks ago. Such a staggering number overwhelmed the house and it refused to sanction it.

Briefly, the bills would place all real estate in Illinois on the basis of 100 per cent valuation. Bonds to the amount of the 1930 tax levy would then be issued, which would mature over a twenty year period.

Whereas the previous session was stormy, tonight's was fairly peaceful. Galvin made his request and was immediately opposed by Arthur Roe [Dem., Vandalia].

"I'm against this," said Roe. "These bills are only what we refused to consider before. Why take them now?"

"Anything that would help Cook county out of its desperate situation deserves attention," answered Ray O'Keefe [Dem., Chicago]. "Consider them by all means."

"Consider them, to be sure" interjected Frank E. Foster [Rep., Harvey]. "But why not in committee, where they belong? Do you honestly believe, Mr. Galvin, that there is a chance to pass them?"

"They should be passed" replied the sponsor.

"Can we avoid a special session by passing them?" asked Elmer C. Wilson [Rep., Kankakee].

"I think we can," Galvin told him.

The "ayes" overwhelmed the "nays" when the question was put and Speaker Shanahan sent the bills to the revenue committee.

The house also voted to third reading the bill introduced by John Bolton [Dem., Chicago], which would increase legislators' salaries from $3,500 to $5,000 for the biennium.

NEW QUIZ BEGUN AS JUDGE RULES FOR CANAL TRIAL

State to Seek New Graft Case Indictment.

The June grand jury started a new investigation of the affairs of the sanitary district under the régime of Timothy J. Crowe, former president, within an hour of the time that Judge Joseph B. David of the Criminal court gave a decision quashing three of the nine counts in the general graft conspiracy indictment against officials and former officials of the district. The judge allowed six of the counts in the indictment, which has been pending for a year, to stand. This assures a trial for Crowe and nine others.

JUDGE DAVID.

The others are: James Whalen and J. J. Touhy, present trustees of the district; John K. Lawler, August W. Miller, and Frank J. Link, former trustees; Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer; John T. Miller, former manager of permanent plants and structures; Martin Edelstein, former head of the real estate department, and Timothy L. Connelly, former purchasing agent.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup indicated that a new indictment will be sought within the "very near future" to eliminate the legal flaws which, according to Judge David, exist in the present indictment.

Trial on Two Indictments.

The prosecutor plans, it was reported, to try the case on both the old indictment and the new one. The new indictment will cover more specifically certain phases of the alleged conspiracy, it is said.

This will be possible, Prosecutor Northup asserted, because of additional evidence which he has recently uncovered. This evidence is now being presented to the grand jury. Several witnesses were taken secretly before the May grand jury.

In the present indictment each of the ten defendants is named in every count. During the hearing on the motion to quash the indictment Judge David indicated that he would hold the state to certain legal rules because of the method in which the defendants are joined in all the counts.

The new indictment, the prosecutor said, will be more specific in joining the defendants in the various counts. The prosecutor said they will be properly grouped according to the parts in the alleged conspiracy with which they are charged.

One of the prosecutors pointed out that the state still has seven days left before the statute of limitations will outlaw the conspiracy charges, thus giving the prosecution that much time in which to obtain a new indictment. The sanitary district "whoopee" scandals were brought to light early in 1930.

Judge David's decision of yesterday is considered by lawyers as really affecting only one defendant, Kelly, who is also president of the south park board.

Judge David ruled that the acts charged in the last three counts do not constitute a crime. It was admitted at the state's attorney's office that the seventh, eighth and ninth counts, which were quashed, were aimed directly at Kelly, although all defendants were named together in them. The prosecutor refused to say whether the proposed new indictment would name Kelly, but he indicated that it was not probable that any new defendants would be named.

Deal with Sewage Plants.

The quashed counts dealt mainly with the north and south side sewage disposal plants, which were built under Kelly's guidance as chief engineer. The counts charged that the prices paid for these projects were excessive and that competitive bidding was not held as required by the law.

One of the new items to be taken up in the new inquiry in connection with pay roll padding charges, it is said, will be the employment of attorneys by the sanitary district. Evidence on this was given in testimony during the hearing on proceedings to disbar fifty-seven lawyers.

Prosecutor Northup will appear before Judge David tomorrow morning to state whether he wants to start the trials on the pending indictment.

SPAIN URGED BY CABINET MAN TO ADOPT DIVORCE

MADRID, June 2.—(AP)—Various groups in the new Spanish republic which have been agitating for the passage of divorce laws to substitute for the present restriction on legal separation found their cause strengthened today when the newspaper Cristol published an interview with Minister of Justice Fernando de Los Rios in which he was quoted as advocating the movement.

"Divorce is a common right," Minister De Los Rios said. "I believe it should be proposed to the coming constituent assembly."

He denied that divorce is inconsistent with Spanish Catholicism, declaring that Belgium, which is a Catholic country, has had divorce since 1830. Modern divorce, he said, is "far from ideal," but it is the best available system and hence should enter Spain.

GARAGE OWNER FREED IN AUTO DEATH OF PRIEST

A jury in Criminal court yesterday deliberated only 45 minutes in reaching a verdict of acquittal for Hans M. Bonlolke, a Glenview garage owner. Bonlolke was tried for manslaughter in connection with the death of the Rev. Rafael Ashenden, a priest, who was killed in a collision between his automobile and Bonlolke's car in Northbrook last February.

During the trial, a bottle of gin which the police said they found in Bonlolke's automobile after the accident was introduced as evidence. After the jury returned its verdict, Judge Joseph B. David discharged the defendant, descended from his bench and then turned suddenly to the jury and said: "Give him back his bottle, too."

TWO LABOR BILLS ARE PASSED IN LEGISLATURE

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—[Special.]—Two important labor bills were passed in different branches of the legislature today. The senate approved the workmen's compensation bill introducted by Andrew S. Cuthbertson [Rep. Bunkerhill], which raises the minimum injury payment to a worker from $1,650 to $2,500 and the maximum from $3,700 to $4,000.

The house passed the Barr senate bill which provides that supplies for the state and its political subdivisions and the institutions of both must be purchased from prison made products.

Skeleton in Frat House Window Excites Neighbors

Tenants in the neighborhood of 1400 Hyde Park boulevard yesterday telephoned police that a skeleton was leering at them from a window at that address. Police induced members of the Iota Tau Sigma fraternity of the University of Chicago medical school to remove the skeleton from the window.

Grand Jurors Are Told How Police Captain Won Riches

The romantic story of a police captain's rise to wealth as the result of a kindly deed done many years ago was told yesterday to members of the special grand jury. The captain is Dennis M. Malloy of the East Side station, who is rated as being worth $500,000, and who has been known for years as a wealthy man who, besides being a policeman, is a lawyer and a real estate operator.

Malloy's accounts, as well as those of other captains, are being studied by a special committee of the special grand jury consisting of J. A. Farmar the foreman, and Robert Coulter and James Brooks, who are bankers. The jury, which for months has been investigating charges of police graft, is looking into the bank accounts, realty deals and other business transactions of thirty-seven captains in search of evidence in its graft inquiry.

His First $15,000 Profit.

In accounting to the jury for his wealth Capt. Malloy, it is said, told how he got his start in real estate. In his younger days, it was related, while he was still struggling along on his policeman's pay, Malloy did a favor for a realty dealer. In return for the policeman's kindness the realty man advised him to buy a certain piece of property. The policeman managed to scrape together $500, so the story goes, to make a down payment on the property. There was a sudden rise in value, and Malloy sold the property at a profit of $15,000.

Other profitable real estate deals were disclosed by Malloy's records. His partner, his wife, his auditor, and himself went over every transaction wit the committee, it was reported.

Await Completion of Records.

No sessions of the special grand jury are scheduled pending a completion of the search for real estate holdings and securities owned by the police officials, according to an announcement by Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller. He and Assistant State's Attorney Charles Lounsbury are awaiting the completion of the jury committee's work before they call any of the captains before the whole grand jury for questioning under oath.

The committee has found, it is said, that Acting Police Commissioner John H. Alcock is among the wealthy members of the force. An estimate of his possessions was put at above $250,000.

Information also was given the committee regarding real estate holdings of Chief of Detectives John Norton at Malta, Ill.

BUSINESS AGENT ARRESTED AFTER JURY FREES HIM

Although exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday, Benjamin J. Weber, business agent of the window washers' union, was again taken into custody and charged with the murder of Daniel Agoa, secretary of the Window and Building Cleaners Contracting association. The shooting occurred last Thursday morning in front of 400 South State street.

A verdict of justifiable homicide was reached by the coroner's jury after several witnesses had related threats made by Agoa. Unsatisfied with the verdict Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne ordered Weber taken into custody again. He will be arraigned in Felony court today.

ALD. HODES WILL CARRY DEMANDS TO PHONE HEAD

Ald. Barnet Hodes [7th] will head a delegation which will visit F. O. Hale, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, today and present to him a demand that the company pay $4,267,000 owed the city as back compensation under its franchise.

The demand was decided upon at a meeting Monday of the city council committee on gas, oil and electricity, at which several aldermen declared that a new franchise would not be given the telephone company until it pays what is due the city.

Others in the delegation will include City Controller Szymczak, Ald. Albert E. Loescher [44th], and O. E. Northrup [19th], and a representative of Corporation Counsel Busch.

DOCTOR SLAIN IN BROOKLYN HOME BY DAGGER MAN

Police Hunt Discharged Filipino Butler.

New York, June 2.—[Special.]—Dr. George Edward Deely, 59 years old, prominent eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist of Brooklyn, was stabbed to death some time this morning in his bachelor apartment on the top floor of a four story, brownstone building where he had lived nine years. The condition of his bedroom indicated that he had died after a long and fierce struggle in the dark.

And so strong was the evidence that the murderer was some one who knew the layout of the room that the police immediately hit on the idea that only a servant or a close friend of the specialist could be responsible. Tonight the search seemed to have narrowed down to George Damico, a Filipino butler who was dismissed from the doctor's service last Thursday. A general alarm was sent out for him by Police Commissioner Mulrooney.

Find Clew in His Room.

Suspicion pointed to Damico when the police, searching a furnished room in Concord street which he had taken after his dismissal by the doctor, found a brown felt hat, stained with blood, and a pair of socks, similarly stained. The hat and the socks were identified as Damico's property.

Dr. Deely was known throughout Brooklyn for the free service he gave the poor in Catholic orphanages, homes and other institutions. He contributed liberally to Catholic charities, had a reputation for generosity and gave frequent parties.

On Monday night Dr. Deely had as guests Dr. and Mrs. Karl Kreogs and their daughter, Adelaide. After dinner they sat around and talked until midnight. The doctor saw them to the door and returned to retire. Stillness descended on the household.

Body Found in Morning.

Arthur Lindaris, caretaker, and his wife, Norma, early this morning found Dr. Deely's body on a deep oriental rugs in his bedroom. Near by lay one of the ornamental corners of his big four-poster bed, a wooden sphere about the size of a polo ball. In another part of the room a chair was overturned. Sheets of memorandum paper from the telephone table next the bed were scattered about. One shade was half-way up, contrary to custom, throwing sunlight on the religious paintings on the high walls.

When the police came they saw that Dr. Deely had put up a hard fight. He had been stabbed in eight or nine places, his lips were bruised, his silver-gray hair was badly tousled and around his neck and under his armpits he was loosely bound with insulated radio ground wire that had been torn from its connections.

Jugular Vein Severed.

Dr. Manuel E. Marten, deputy medical examiner, later found cuts in the doctor's hands, where he tried to catch the knife, there were several slashes on his body, but the one that caused death cut the jugular vein. The wire was not tight enough to have caused strangulation. Apparently the murderer had hoped by a quick move in the dark, to tighten the wire around the doctor's throat as he lay asleep, but had succeeded only in awakening him.

Then the police got the story of the dismissal of Damico and of his brother Filipino, Seliko Simplico, who served as cook and chauffeur for Dr. Deely. Both, it was said, had been discharged for riding in the doctor's car without his permission.

Simplico was located in Garden City. He said he had not been dismissed. He had quit because the pay was not enough, and the doctor had shaken his hand and given him a recommendation when he left.

He Identifies Hat.

He was held for further questioning, and he later identified the blood stained hat and socks as Damico's. A warrant calling for the arrest of Damico on a homicide charge was sent out.

Up to this time the police were positive that they were dealing with a "revenge murder." Nothing of value in the doctor's room appeared to have been touched. But they found, on going over the place again, that his wallet, believed to have contained about $100, was missing, and they changed their theory to "murder and revenge."

BANDIT LOCKS 3 IN ICE BOX.

A robber yesterday forced the manager of an A. and P. store at 2501 West 71st street and two customers into an ice box while he robbed the store of $160. His victims were Mrs. Ruth Campbell, the manager, and Mrs. Louise Zorn, 12760 Francisco avenue, and Roman Wish, 2507 West 71st street.

PRESIDENT PRAISES ARMY FOR SUCCESS OF AIR MANEUVERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—President Hoover today congratulated the war department upon the "remarkable success" of the recent air maneuvers when army flyers flew close to 2,000,000 miles without serious mishap.

"I wish to congratulate you and the air corps on the remarkable success achieved in the maneuvers just terminated," President Hoover wrote to Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley. "To have mobilized, from all parts of the country, a force of 672 airplanes and maneuvered it from the middle west to and along the eastern seaboard from Maine to Virginia without any serious mishap is very convincing evidence of the efficiency of of the army's air forces.

"I am especially gratified to know that all three components of the army of the United States—regular army, National Guard, and organized reserve—participated so creditably in this instruction."

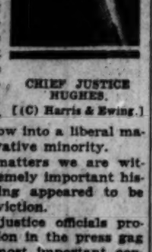
SUPREME COURT 'LIBERALIZED' IN RECENT MONTHS

Press Gag Decision Marks New Trend.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—The victory in the Supreme court yesterday in behalf of the freedom of the American press was the talk of official Washington today.



CHIEF JUSTICE HUGHES.
[(C) Harris & Ewing.]

The discussion revolved mainly around two themes:

The far reaching effect of the decision knocking out the Minnesota press gag law and the implications of the development that the Supreme court, as disclosed in this and other recent decisions, is divided now into a liberal majority and conservative minority.

That in these matters we are witnessing some extremely important history in the making appeared to be the universal conviction.

Department of justice officials pronounced the decision in the press gag case one of the most important constructions of the constitution in the history of the Supreme court.

Sets Up New Human Right.

Defining, as it does, the right of the press to criticize public officials without penalty of suppression of publication and subject only to the law of libel, and curbing, as it does, the power of rascally, incompetent or tyrannous officials to command immunity from exposure by intimidation of the press, the decision, it was pointed out, takes rank with the articles of the bill of rights.

Officials prophesy that the decision will go down in history by the name of its author, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

That the decision will influence profoundly the development of government in our democracy, is the opinion in many quarters.

Forestalls Other Attempts.

The action of the Supreme court is believed to have scotched in its inception what might otherwise have become a widespread procedure on the part of vulnerable public officials for silencing the press by invoking the fear of suppression of publication.

Had the constitutionality of the Minnesota press gag law been affirmed similar laws, it is thought, would have been enacted in other states, with the possible result of bringing the entire American press under the subjection of officialdom, in which case corruption might then run riot without danger of exposure.

In this connection there was much comment upon the published account of the origin of the Minnesota law with a member of the legislature from the Mesaba range who was bent upon silencing for all time a newspaper in his district which had continuously attacked him. Had the Supreme court placed the seal of constitutionality upon the gag law the way would have been open for other legislatures to adopt this device for laying the press by the heels.

Peril Forever Ended.

As it is viewed here, however, the Minnesota law goes into the limbo of thwarted encroachments upon liberty under the American system and any legislation of this character on the part of other legislatures in the future will meet a similar fate.

The decision, handed down, as it was, by a court divided five to four, gave fresh point to the discussion that has been going on for the last two or three weeks on the new trend of viewpoint discernible in the pronouncements of our highest tribunal of law.

It is being commonly remarked that the appointment of Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts to fill the vacancies created by the death of Chief Justice William Howard Taft and Associate Justice Edward T. Sanford has transformed a conservative into a liberal majority.

The New Lineup.

According to this classification, the liberal majority consists of Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Holmes, Brandeis, Stone, and Roberts. The conservative minority is made up of Justices Butler, Van Devanter, McReynolds, and Sutherland. Formerly there were six conservatives, with Holmes, Brandeis, and Stone constituting the liberal minority.

As in the decision of the press gag case yesterday, the five liberals were lined up against the four conservatives in the decision of the chain store tax case a few weeks ago, Hughes, Holmes, Brandeis, Stone and Roberts joining in the majority opinion upholding the Indiana law, which imposes a higher tax on chain than on independent stores.

Dozens of legislatures have enacted or are considering anti-chain store legislation and the agrarian radicals in congress are clamoring for restrictive federal legislation. The liberal majority of the court held that the Indiana tax was not an arbitrary discrimination because "the discrimination is founded upon a reasonable distinction," and "the statute treats upon a similar basis all owners of chain stores."

Another Decision.

In invalidating the conviction of a communist under the California "red flag law," the court divided, but this time Justices Van Devanter and Sutherland lined up with what are classified as the liberals, leaving only Justices Butler and McReynolds in dissent. Chief Justice Hughes delivered the opinion, declaring the California law "repugnant to the guaranty of liberty contained in the Fourteenth amendment."

In the citizenship case in which the court refused naturalization to aliens unwilling to fight for this country in time of war, Chief Justice Hughes and his fellow liberals found themselves in the minority, Justice Roberts this time lining up with the four conservatives. Mr. Hughes voiced the liberal view in a vigorous dissent.

In all the discussion interest is centered on Chief Justice Hughes, who has so conspicuously voiced the viewpoint of those liberals who so generally viewed with alarm his appointment to the Supreme bench.

Suspected by Radicals.

The radicals in congress vigorously fought confirmation of the appointment of the lawyer who had grown rich on the fees of great corporations. They were sure human right never would have a chance with this defender of property rights in the chair of the chief justice. The Hughes record on the bench has discomfited the radicals.

Press Gag Decision Praised by Washington Officialdom

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—The action of the Supreme court yesterday in holding unconstitutional the Minnesota law under which a Minneapolis publication was suppressed met with the approval of every public man in Washington who expressed an opinion on the subject today.

The importance of the court's decision, as viewed by some of the ablest constitutional lawyers in congress, lies in the fact that it will render a press censorship of any character whatsoever impossible, and at the same time restrain state legislative bodies from attempting to make any form of restrictive regulation of public criticism effective.

Among the interviews given on the decision are the following:

FRED A. BRITTEN [Rep., Ill.]—It would be difficult to overestimate the magnitude of this great victory in the constant battle for the preservation of human rights. The entire American people, in my opinion, owe a debt of gratitude to the winners of this epochal decision of the Supreme court.

SENATOR HENRIK SHIPSTEAD [Farm-Labor, Minn.]—The gag law suppressed as a nuisance for publication of matter deemed scandalous and defamatory was a disgrace to Minnesota. Here was a legislative body that conferred upon a court of equity the power to censorship, setting aside the libel laws with trial by jury. When a legislature does that, it takes the American people out of the administration of justice.

SENATOR DAVID A. REED [Rep., Pa.]—I am very decidedly in favor of the freedom of criticism. A country will be better off if every public official and his acts are open to full discussion. There always will be falsehoods and unfair criticism directed toward those in official life, but such methods defeat themselves.

REPRESENTATIVE L. C. DYER [Rep., Mo.], ranking Republican member of the house committee on the judiciary—If the court had sustained the constitutionality of the Minnesota act . . . it virtually would have established a press censorship. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE set forth this contention clearly in its fight for a free press.

SENATOR THOMAS D. SCHALL [Rep., Minn.]—I suppose I have been attacked by the newspapers as much as any of my friends in public office in Minnesota. Notwithstanding, I am greatly pleased by the decision of the Supreme court. I believe public men should have all their acts subject to action by the press. The evils and abuses of a free press are far less to be feared than the evils of suppression.

UTILITIES GRAFT AND CORRUPT, IS PINCHOT CHARGE

Speech Is Interpreted as Bid for 1932.

French Lick, Ind., June 2.—[Special.]—Charges of graft and corruption of government by public utilities were made by Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania before the annual conference of governors here today in an address interpreted by many in his audience as the opening gun in his probable campaign for President next year on a third party ticket or as a radical candidate for the Republican nomination.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

The speech blasted the customary tranquility of these annual gatherings of state executives, and an attempt was made by the conference executive committee, headed by Gov. Case of Rhode Island, to avert the fireworks by assigning to the ambitious Pennsylvanian the innocuous subject, "Timber Needs of the Future."

Disregards Assignment.

But Pinchot disregarded the assignment, printed and circulated advance copies of his utilities talk to newspapers throughout the country, and there was a report that he intended to give out his graft charges as an interview had he been barred from the platform at the conference.

On the same program, strangely enough, was Gov. Roosevelt of New York, who is looked upon as the likely Democratic candidate for President. Roosevelt's talk included some references to the economic situation (an assured campaign issue) and a recital of the progress made by his administration in dealing with problems of the depression. But if it can be considered as a campaign speech it was mild compared with the Pennsylvanian's.

"We are facing a new threat against the rule of the people," said Gov. Pinchot. "The domination of the public utilities in public affairs is a grave and imminent danger to government by the people and in the interests of the people.

Exert Political Power.

"The power of the public utilities is manifest in every political assembly, from the congress of the United States to the smallest town meeting. The strongest political power in my own commonwealth is the power of organized public utilities. And I venture that there is hardly a single state where the pressure of the public utility lobbyists is not known.

"In Pennsylvania the Republican party is in power. The public utilities do not dominate the Republican party, or rather the men and women of whom it is composed, but they own and operate the party machinery.

"They control the state chairman, the national committeeman, and other officials of the Pennsylvania Republican state committee, and these officials are busy doing the will of the public utilities and in defeating the will of the people.

"Let me be understood. This is not a matter of good parties or bad parties, but of interests which use parties in their business. If the Democratic party were in power in Pennsylvania I have no doubt its party machinery would likewise be controlled by the organized public utilities."

Merged Control Outlined.

The speaker recited a history of the phenomenal development of electricity utilities and of their being merged under consolidated control. His comments hit a Hoover cabinet member when he charged that the Morgan-Mellon group controlled 57 per cent of these companies.

"I have no desire to be unjust to the utilities," he said. "But a square deal to the utilities does not require nor include the unbridled power to make such profits as they please, to control such public service commission as might otherwise impede their march to complete commercial dominance, or to own and operate such political organizations in cities, counties, states, and nation as they deem necessary to perpetuate their graft."

"I call it graft, and I am well within my rights. Through the device of the write-up, the electric utilities alone are today collecting from the people of Pennsylvania interest on much more than $100,000,000 that never was put into business. Through overcharges in rates the public utilities generally are collecting in Pennsylvania alone far more than $50,000,000 a year over and above a fair return on their investments.

"Through these same overcharges in the United States at large the electric utilities alone are collecting yearly from the people a sum estimated by one man who should know the vast total of $500,000,000."

Gov. Roosevelt preceded Gov. Pinchot on the program. The New Yorker opened with a reference to "this severe depression when many who are anxious to work cannot find food for their families, while at the same time there is such a surplus of food supplies and other necessities that those who are growing crops or manufacturing can find no markets.

"More and more," he continued, "those who are the victims of dislocations and deficits of our social and economic life are beginning to ask respectfully but insistently why government cannot and should not act to protect its citizens from disaster.

"I think the question demands an answer and that the ultimate answer is that government, both state and national, must accept the responsibility of doing what it can do—soundly with considered forethought, and along definitely constructive, not passive lines.

"These lines fall naturally into a number of main heads, such, for instance, as a scientific tariff aimed primarily to create a movement of world commodities from one nation to another; such, for instance, as a better thought out system of national taxation than we have at the present; such, for instance, as a survey and plan to cut the excessive cost of local government; such, for instance, as the extension of the principle of insurance to cover fields of sickness and of unemployment which are not now reached; such, for instance, as the dislocation of a proper balance between urban and rural life."

At the close of the session this afternoon Gov. Roosevelt was asked whether he cared to make any comment on Gov. Pinchot's talk.

"No, I don't think I do," the Democratic leader replied thoughtfully, and then he smiled and added, "You don't suppose the press is trying to open the presidential campaign somewhat prematurely?"

DON'T BE MISLED BY PINCHOT, VAUCLAIN WIRES GOVERNORS

Philadelphia, Pa., June 2.—(AP)—Samuel M. Vauclain, chairman of the Baldwin Locomotive works board, today telegraphed all governors of the United States that Gov. Pinchot in his address today before the governors' conference misrepresented conditions in Pennsylvania.

The message said "responsible citizens throughout Pennsylvania deplore the misleading statements made today by Gov. Pinchot in his address. . . . Many of his assertions are without foundation.

"It is not true that the public utilities of Pennsylvania seek to dominate the government of this state. The house investigation committee which the governor named and dominated found, as indicated by its report, no evidence to support his charges. The legislature properly refused the governor authority to hire and fire public service commissioners at his sole discretion.

"It may be or may not be true that Gov. Pinchot has presidential aspirations, but it is hoped that thoughtful people throughout the United States will understand his so-called program of action will endanger constitutional government and also delay the return of prosperity."

Two Boys Held on Charge of Stealing Cop's Motorbike

Joseph Kasian, 1011 Dodge avenue, Evanston, and Francis Daley, 813 Reba place, Evanston, were arrested early yesterday on a charge of stealing a motorcycle from Policeman Richard Bowman of Niles Center. HERE ARE FACTS ABOUT THAT JAIL BREAKING PLOT

Reports of an attempted jail break at the county jail last night were investigated and the following facts were disclosed:

Assistant State's Attorney Le Roy Mather and six of his colleagues were in conference on the third floor of the Criminal Courts building when they heard a crash in the driveway below. Mr. Mather looked out of the window and saw his automobile skidding along the wall in an unseemly manner.

The state's attorney ran below and collared the occupant of the car. Through an alcoholic aura he managed to tell his story. His name, he said, was Dan Driscoll, 2531 Maple street, and his wife, Lola, was in jail on a debtor's writ. Mr. Driscoll had a befuddled idea that his wife was about to be freed from jail, and then he had another idea that he needed an automobile to drive her home. Hence he was in Mr. Mather's car.

Meanwhile Warden Moneypenny of the county jail reported everything "as quiet as the tomb." All the noise was in the driveway.

The prosecutors said Mr. Driscoll was likely to join his wife in jail today for trying to borrow a car.

DEMOCRATS ACT TO DOOM REMAP BILL IN HOUSE

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—[Special.]—House Democrats virtually killed the congressional reapportionment bill at a noon caucus today by agreeing unanimously that they would block its passage on second reading. They will wait two years more for a Democratic administration and do the job themselves, they confidently asserted.

HENRY RAINEY.

This was the advice of Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton, the 20th district, who opposes the plan because it would add two Republican counties to his area. The bill was drafted by a subcommittee headed by Representative Sol P. Roderick [Rep., Chicago].

"It is as good a bill as you could expect from a Republican controlled committee," Mr. Rainey told the caucus, "but we should look farther ahead and realize that we never will have another apportionment unless Illinois loses in population. What is done now, must stand."

Move Rainey Into Saddle.

Minority Leader Igoe of Chicago, who presided at the meeting, called attention to Rainey's expectation in the next congress.

"When the Democrats come into power again next year," Igoe said, "Mr. Garner of Texas will become speaker and that will move Mr. Rainey into the post of floor leader. This will refute the charge that the south will be in the saddle. We should do nothing that will interfere with Mr. Rainey's succession."

Members questioned Representative Frank W. McClure, Abingdon, and George A. Fitzgerald, Chicago, who represented the Democrats on the subcommittee as to why districts had been divided thus and so—questioning that eventually led McClure to tell them, "remember, please, this committee had a Republican majority."

Calls It G. O. P. Gerrymandering.

"That's just why we shouldn't accept it," said Igoe. "Its Republican gerrymandering and nothing else."

"The feeling now," interjected John P. Devine, Dixon, "seems to spell the inevitable ousting of the Republican next year. It's the only way to bring back prosperity. When it comes we can do this re-apportioning to suit ourselves."

Howard Doyle of Decatur then moved that the caucus go on record as opposing the bill and was seconded by Truman A. Snell of Carlinville. As the motion was being discussed, State Chairman Thomas F. Donovon of Joliet, entered the room and Mr. Igoe explained what was being proposed he agreed with the chairman that it was the only course his party could take.

There was no dissension during the meeting save a warning from Thomas J. O'Grady of Chicago. "You Cook county people are going to be criticised because you are refusing to accept a plant which would give us two more congressmen," he said.

Before it voted the caucus thanked McClure and Fitzgerald for their efforts on the sub-committee. When it voted, the "ayes" were unanimous, which prompted Mr. Igoe to beam and remark that the unanimity signalized Cook county and downstate working together, and liberals and drys working together—the most conclusive display of such harmony he had witnessed.

Blames Chicago Democrats.

Without Democratic support, the plan appears doomed for there are Republicans also who are known to look upon it with disfavor.

When he learned of the action, Mr. Roderick said: "If congressional apportionment is beaten it will be the fault of the Chicago Democrats."

Chairman Richard J. Lyons [Rep., Mundelein] of the entire committee went farther.

"No problem before the legislature was approached with greater fairness than congressional apportionment," he said. "Lobbying congressmen are responsible for its defeat, and metropolitan Chicago is again given a setback. Downstate cannot be blamed for the situation this time."

UNCLE SAM GETS FRUGAL; SAVES SELF 180 MILLION

At That, He Faces a 900 Million Deficit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—The White House announced late today that the economy drive begun last summer and renewed this spring would result in a reduction in current expenditures during the current fiscal year of about 180 million dollars. Despite this saving, the deficit by the end of June will amount to between 900 and 950 million dollars, it was announced.

According to the White House statement the deficit is principally due to the effect of the depression upon tax receipts and other government revenues. It was pointed out also that expenditures for construction work, agricultural relief, and for veterans' services had been greatly increased during the year, with a consequent drain on the national finances. These three items—construction work, agricultural relief, and veterans' expenses—boosted the cost of operating the government by 540 millions during the current year, it was said.

180 Millions Paper Saving.

All of the 180 millions mentioned as saved due to the economy drive does not represent actual savings, as a large portion of this sum represents deferred payments, which will have to be made some time.

No estimate was made by the White House as to the effect of the current economy drive on expenditures during the next fiscal year. It was stated, however, that the department of agriculture alone expects to trim $20,000,000 off the appropriations voted by congress to finance its operations. Other government departments are expected to bring the total savings for the 1932 fiscal year up to a hundred millions.

"Present indications are that the financial transactions of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, will show an increase of about 500 millions in the national debt," the White House said. "The deficit is from about 900 to 950 millions, of which about 440 millions will be due to the statutory redemption of debt."

Revenue 840 Million Off.

"The deficit is principally due to a falling off in receipts of the treasury, from taxes and other sources caused by the depression, which will apparently be about 840 millions below the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930. Added to this is the additional burden of about a $50,000,000 fall in postal receipts.

"There have also been large increases in expenditures for construction work and agricultural relief and for veterans' services, amounting to about 540 millions above that of the last fiscal year.

"These figures alone—a reduction of 890 millions in receipts and an increase of nearly 540 millions in expenditures in the above items—would indicate that the government would be over one billion 430 million dollars worse off this year than last.

"However, deferments and reductions in expenditures in other parts of the government, largely due to the economy drive last summer, amount to about 180 millions.

Debt Further Reduced.

"During the fiscal year ended last June the debt was reduced by 305 millions in excess of the statutory amount, while this year it is held to the legal requirements. These two sums make a difference in the situation of about 485 millions and result in a final deficit of about 900 or 950 millions.

"As stated, of this deficit about 440 millions will be expended in the statutory redemption of the public debt, so that the net increase in the debt in the fiscal year will probably be about 500 millions.

"The administrator of veterans' affairs reports that the loans so far made upon bonus certificates now total $1,098,947,000 to 1,971,966 individuals, of which $254,431,000 has been furnished from insurance and other funds, about $60,000,000 from the banks, and $754,466,000 from sale of treasury obligations."

OPEN ILLINOIS RIVER BARGE SERVICE JUNE 11 WITH CELEBRATION

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—Government barge service on the Illinois river up to Peoria will be inaugurated on June 11, the war department announced today. Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley will be the principal speaker at the public celebration to be held in Peoria. The first fleet of barges bound for the Illinois city will leave St. Louis on June 11, reaching Peoria at noon June 15.

"The opening of operations on this river marks an important step toward culmination of the long dreamed of lakes to the gulf waterway, extending from Chicago to New Orleans. Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Ashburn, chairman of the board of the Inland Waterways, corporation, said today; "It has been made possible through the coördinated efforts of the federal government and the citizens of Peoria who have invested nearly a half million dollars in a modern exchange terminal between water, rail and motor facilities."

CITY WELFARE BUREAU REVIVED BY NEW HEAD

Mrs. Conkey Plans Active Term of Office.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

That civics orphan of several years' standing, the department of public welfare, is due for a change of status that may make it a favorite child of the present city administration. Mayor Cermak has ordained a renaissance of usefulness for the department, whose field of potential activities is practically boundless. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, newly appointed commissioner, whose name is almost a synonym of energy among her acquaintances, will supply the motive power.

Just where the funds to oil the wheels of this machine of service to the citizenry are to be found is another matter. They will be forthcoming somehow, somewhere, Mayor Cermak assured Commissioner Conkey at a conference yesterday in which he enthusiastically approved her outline of procedure for restoring the department to its proper sphere among the municipal bureaus.

Seeks Advisory Board.

"My plan, as submitted to Mayor Cermak and approved by him," Mrs. Conkey said, "is to secure an advisory board of experts who will meet with me to talk over the welfare service in which this department should have been operating during the years its usefulness has been so restricted, especially by lack of money. I prefer not to mention the names of the widely known social service authorities I have in mind until I know whether they can or will serve.

"Among them are authorities, for instance, on the housing situation of the city which is, frankly, terrible. Others are in touch with welfare work among jobless men, or with family social service work, or with the school administration. We need them all, their coöperation and their help.

"Good Time Charlie Fund."

"One of the first problems that confronts me, for instance, is the disposition of the 'Good Time Charlie Dawson' fund, comprising $5,000 given by THE TRIBUNE and $1,000 by Mayor Cermak personally. The pleas for aid from this fund have been turned over to me, and I am sorting the local and the out of town letters, but I have not a single investigator that I could assign to follow up any of them.

"Within the next two days I hope to have two trained social service workers as investigators. When I came into office a couple of days ago I found a staff of just four people. Isn't that a record, for a city of 3,500,000 persons? Financially we are just about on the same basis. The appropriation for the department for this year was $31,000, of which $19,000 remains.

"Of that amount, about $17,000 will be needed to pay salaries for the rest of this year, even though I am not receiving any salary until I am released by the jury commission where I was serving. But that leaves us a balance of less than $2,000 for operating expenses for the rest of 1931."

Reopen Lodging House.

Sice the tenure of office of Mary McDowell as commissioner of public welfare, under Mayor Dever, the main activity of the department has been the municipal lodging houses for homeless men.

Following a meeting of a subcommittee of the governor's commission with Mrs. Conkey yesterday, it was agreed that the city will reopen the Union avenue lodging house, which had been closed for lack of funds. Thomas W. Allinson, in charge there for years, will supervise the institution, providing sleeping space for about 125 men and bathing facilities for 300, but no food.

Expenses of keeping the lodging house open until July 1, to accommodate men who were formerly cared for by the governor's commission, will be practically nil. About $25, it is estimated, will cover the cost of the soap to be used, the main item entailed, since no rent is due.

DEDICATE WAR MEMORIAL FOR PRUSSIAN HEROES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 2.—In a simple ceremony President von Hindenburg today dedicated Prussia's memorial to her war dead, the "Neue Wache"—new guardhouse—in Unter den Linden, near the old imperial palace.

The interior of the old guardhouse has been remodeled into a permanent memorial. Near the center of the single room is a black granite shaft, the "stone of sacrifice," which is surmounted by a gilded laurel wreath whose leaves were beaten from gold war medals. Directly over the shaft is an opening through which the sun, snow or rain may enter without hindrance.

Brief addresses of dedication were made by Otto Braun, the Prussian premier, and Wilhelm Groener, minister of war.

JEFFERSON DAVIS STATUE UNVEILED IN U. S. CAPITOL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—The walls of the capitol which once echoed to the voice of Jefferson Davis defending slavery and the right of secession, which heard the dramatic speech of Jan. 21, 1861, in which he renounced his seat in the United States senate, today resounded to the orations of Mississippians dedicating the bronze statue of Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy, in Statuary hall.

SENATOR PAT HARRISON. [Pictorama.]

As the other favorite son which each state is entitled to commemorate Mississippi chose James Z. George, colonel in the confederate army, later chief justice of Mississippi's Supreme court, and finally United States senator. Both statues are the work of Augustus Lukeman.

Tells of Love and Hate.

The crowd of loyal Mississippians who crowded Statuary hall heard Pat Harrison, the state's senior senator, declare:

"The mighty figure represented in that beautiful bronze statue is today as much the idol of his people as he was their leader through the tragic days of his eventful career. No man was ever so loved and hated, exalted and excoriated, praised and condemned.

"No other name is so closely interwoven with Mississippi's history and so securely rivaled in the affections of her people. Without apology for the part she played in that tragic drama which divided the sections and tore the nation asunder, she has realized the sensitive character of the national situation and believed that in the passing of the years the scars of strife and the wounds of conflict would heal and the time would come when the tolerant spirit of a reunited people would concede to the people of both sections a conscientious discharge of duty as they saw it under the constitution and principles of our government.

Faith in Just Country.

"Mississippi has believed that the time was inevitable when a just nation would refuse to measure one citizen by one standard and all others who believed and acted as he did by another standard. She has believed that a just country would not hold one man accountable for that which all others had been forgiven."

Senator Harrison referred to the placing of general Lee's statue in Statuary hall as the beginning of a new tolerance. The Lee statue, however, was never dedicated and the suggestion that it be formally accepted by the government met with a storm of protest in congress in 1910. No law requiring it, the Davis and George statues have not been offered or accepted by the government.

Statuary hall once was the hall of the house of representatives, so that the Davis statue stands where its original once served as congressman in 1845 and 1846. Leaving congress, Davis served as colonel in the Mexican war, was wounded, and commended for gallantry in action. Between the two terms in the senate, he was secretary of war under President Pierce.

Pays Tribute to Lincoln.

Beginning his address with the salutation, "Fellow Americans," Edgar S. Wilson of Mississippi likened Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln, and Davis' farewell speech in the senate to Lincoln's address at Gettysburg.

"The bullet of a madman stilled the great heart of Abraham Lincoln, and the poisoned chalice of sectional hatred was pressed upon the lips of the prostrate south," said Mr. Wilson.

The Davis statue was unveiled by Miss Adele Hayes-Davis, great-granddaughter of the confederate president; that of Senator George by his granddaughter, Miss Katy Bond George.

U. S. Flags Hide Statues.

Both statues were hidden by the folds of large American flags, and as these were drawn away they hung behind and formed a background for the two who had fought for the stars and bars. The marine band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and later, to handclapping, "Dixie."

CORBETT DENIES HIRING THUGS TO BEAT UP FLYER

Gives Out His Version of Melee.

New York, June 2.—[Special.]—James Morgan Corbett, Boston realty man and sportsman on trial for second degree assault in Bronx County court, took the stand today and branded as false the charges that he had arranged a hideaway in the upper Bronx in April of last year for the purpose of taking James Quinn, aviation mechanic, "for a ride."

Answering firmly and coolly the battery of questions put to him by his attorney and by Assistant District Attorney Martin Frank, Corbett gave his version of the mêlée at Edgewater camp which resulted in a general beating up of the aviator Quinn, formerly employed by Corbett and named by him as co-respondent in a divorce suit, in testifying yesterday, charged the real estate man with leading the alleged attack, in which five men were said to have used a pistol, several plates, a section of lead pipe, and a milk bottle to subdue him.

Socially Prominent.

Corbett's testimony followed that of Sydney L. Brown Jr., a brother-in-law of Quinn, and Arthur Hamel of Haverhill, Mass., which substantially dovetailed with Quinn's story. Hamel was the only one of Corbett's three co-defendants who pleaded guilty on Monday to take the stand. Others were Edward Kendall of North Reading, Mass., and Edward Kline of the Bronx.

The defendant, whose name has appeared in the social register, admitted renting the bungalow in the upper Bronx and paying for its use in the name of Morrison. He also described how Quinn came to work as a mechanic for the airplane which he [Corbett] rented and kept near the cottage. His sole motive, he insisted, was to have Quinn watched in the hope that his wife, the former Philemena Silva, who was missing, would appear at the camp.

Corbett, who is 33 years old, secured the bungalow a week to ten days before the fracas took place, he said, and used Hamel, Kline, Kendall, and an unnamed man "merely as watchers and to impersonate the owner of the plane."

His Story of Fight.

As soon as Quinn saw him at the place on the night of April 1, Corbett said, he exclaimed "So it's you! I expected something of this sort all along."

"You know what I'm here for," Corbett said he replied.

Quinn leaped at him and struck him between the eyes, the defendant continued, lunged past, and dived for the door, near which Kline and the "tall dark man" were said to have been standing.

"I taught wrestling once," Corbett went on to explain, "and I got a grip on him and threw him to the floor. His teeth touched my shoulder as we went down. I held him down, and told him, 'Jimmy, I didn't come here to fight.'"

Corbett said he tried to wipe the blood from Quinn's mouth but the aviator seized two fingers in his teeth and bit. "I asked about Mrs. Corbett," he testified, "and as he struggled to get up I hit him again, but that was the last time he was struck."

Use an Iron Bar on Him? No.

Asked if he had used an iron bar on Quinn, Corbett replied, "Do I look as if I needed any help?" He said that he had once boxed for a living. He denied the earlier testimony of Hamel, who said that when told that Quinn has escaped the following morning Corbett struck and cursed him.

Hamel explained that he found the bungalow upset and Quinn unconscious and bound on the bed. Corbett left the place before Quinn revived, Hamel testified.

When he told Corbett that Quinn had disappeared, Hamel said he was berated and struck.

Brown, the brother-in-law, who said he was a stock trader, of Brooklyn, said that Corbett told him, "I got Jimmy up in the Bronx last night," showing him Quinn's mechanic's license, which, according to Corbett, had a picture of Mrs. Corbett in it. Brown asserted that Corbett introduced Kline to him as an "underworld king" who was to "take care" of Quinn.

FORMER FIANCE DENIES HARDING HEIRESS QUIT HIM TO WED ANOTHER

Toledo, O., June 2.—[Special.]—A mystery which puzzled Marion, O., Tuesday, the question of why Miss Jean de Wolfe, granddaughter of the late Mrs. Warren G. Harding and heir to a portion of the Harding estate, had married one man when she was engaged to another, was no mystery in Toledo.

Dave J. Morgan, personnel manager for a gas company here and the man whom Marion was supposed to have jilted, declared today that he and Miss De Wolfe had agreed to disagree eight weeks ago.

He added that Charles M. Weil, the man Miss De Wolfe quietly married Monday morning, is a good friend of his.

Social circles in Marion had believed that the twice postponed Morgan-De Wolfe nuptials still were on the social calendar, when word of Miss De Wolfe's marriage to Mr. Weil got about.

BRING KIRKLAND BACK TO DECIDE UPON SENTENCE

Lawyers Say Move May Give Him Freedom.

Valparaiso, Ind., June 2.—[Special.]—Virgil Kirkland was brought back to the county jail here tonight to await arraignment before Judge Grant Crumpacker, who has decided to reconsider the one to ten year sentence he imposed upon the youth for assault and battery with intent to commit a felony. Kirkland was found guilty by a jury of assault and battery with intent to commit rape upon Arlene Draves, 13 year old Gary girl.

JUDGE CRUMPACKER.

Confusion has followed the court's sentence of the youth to the reformatory instead of sending him to the penitentiary for from five to 21 years, as he might have chosen to do. Several local lawyers today declared that by his most recent move in vacating the sentence, Judge Crumpacker has paved the way for Kirkland to walk to freedom.

May Give Kirkland Freedom.

The judge ordered Kirkland brought back from the reformatory at Pendleton, Ind., before State's Attorney Robert G. Estill of Lake county had time to file his motion to vacate judgment. Attorneys declared that certain Supreme court decisions bar attempts to alter a sentence after it has been imposed and the defendant has started to serve his time. The court's action may have placed Kirkland in the position of a wronged man, entitled to immediate release, the lawyers hinted.

Kirkland may be kept in a cell here for several days before Judge Crumpacker grants him a hearing. The judge is now hearing a murder case which may take several days and he indicated he will not stop this trial for the Kirkland arraignment.

The trial of Leon Stanford, co-defendant of Kirkland, is set for June 15 before Special Judge Harry Crumpacker of Michigan City, a nephew of Judge Grant Crumpacker.

Oldham Faces New Charge.

Attorney Ronald Oldham, one of Kirkland's defense attorneys, yesterday surrendered to Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli in the South State street court on a warrant charging him with practicing law in Illinois without a license. Attorney John E. Hogan, who obtained the warrant, charged that Oldham was barred from the practice of law in Kentucky. Attorney Hogan now represents a former client of Oldham who charges that Oldham did not properly represent him. Judge Borrelli set the arraignment for June 18 and allowed the attorney his liberty on his own bond.

CERMAK URGES NEW THEFT PROOF CITY AUTO TAGS

The proposed theftproof tag is a colored sticker to be placed on windshields. Such stickers will be mailed city council to pass an ordinance before July 1 providing for a new type vehicle tag that will be theftproof. The mayor asked action after being informed by City Collector Kaindl that vehicle tag collections for the first five months of this year are to all of this year's recorded buyers of metal tags and drivers without stickers will then be forced to explain how they obtained their tags. The additional revenue to be obtained by this method is estimated at $175,000.

LEADERS WILL DISCUSS MEAT PRICE DECLINE

Meet Here to Plan Aid for Business.

The "critical situation" facing midwest and national agriculture by recent drastic decline in livestock prices is to be discussed in Chicago today. A conference to be attended by representatives of industry, banking and transportation, together with nationally prominent farm leaders will be held at the Palmer house.

More than half the total national farm income has been involved in recent reductions in livestock, according to the meat packers and farm leaders sponsoring the conference. Hogs are priced the lowest in nineteen years and cattle the lowest in twenty years. This in turn has threatened the corn and other crop farmers who depend upon meat as the chief outlet for their production.

"The conditions among livestock men are now worse than during the post-war deflation, and the situation is critical not alone to agriculture but to industry," declared Charles D. Carey of Cheyenne, Wyo., president of the national livestock and meat board.

U. S. Appeal Court Ponders Case of 5 Indiana Cops

The appeal of five Indianapolis policemen who were convicted several months ago on charges of a conspiracy to violate the federal dry laws was taken under advisement yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The defendants are Martin O'Brien, Claude Ridenbaugh, Ralph Lambert, David J. Curran and Thomas Gray. The case was tried in federal court at Indianapolis.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, June 2.—Threading its way up the highest part of the narrow Andean highway, which links the cities of Suere and Potosi, a truck left the road and plunged over a 600 foot precipice today. The driver and all four other occupants were killed. The spot where the accident occurred is 14,000 feet above sea level.

WALTER J. HILL MUST PAY $5,000 TO LAWYER FOR RECONCILIATION

Helena, Mont., June 2.—(AP)—A fee of $5,000 for effecting a reconciliation between Walter J. Hill, son of the builder of the Great Northern railway, and Mrs. Mildred Hill, former Follies girl, was upheld as reasonable today by the Montana Supreme court.

T. J. Walker, Butte attorney, filed suit for the fee following application last July for the dismissal of the divorce case which had been filed by Mrs. Hill, and a cross complaint filed by Hill. The Supreme court, affirming the finding of the District court for Silver Bow county, held that in view of the conditions and work done by Walker the fee was reasonable.

Los Angeles "Girl Mart" Trial Will Open June 18

Los Angeles, Cal., June 2.—[Special.]—Preliminary hearing of charges against John P. Mills, Olive Clark Day, and William Jobelmann, co-defendants of Alexander Pantages on morals charges now being tried in San Diego, was continued here today. Mills is charged with being patron and Miss Day and Jobelmann the operators of a school girl love market. They will go on trial here June 18. Clarice Tauber, 16 year old high school girl, is complaining witness.

THREE MORE TELL OF INVESTMENTS AT FRAUD TRIAL

Three more investors in the Hill State Bond and Mortgage company were witnesses yesterday at the trial of William N. Reynolds and his two sons, C. Doyle Reynolds and William Ross Reynolds, promoters of the investment firm who are accused of a conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses. Judge Peter M. Schwaba in Criminal court is hearing the case.

Hyman Glassner, a baker, of 4818 North Kildare avenue, testified that he purchased ten shares of stock in the Reynolds' company for $1,000 after he had been persuaded to withdraw his savings from the Hill State bank. He said he was led to believe he was dealing with the bank. Another witness, Joseph Berlinger, 4421 Bernard street, who said he had invested $3,600, told a similar story. Adolph M. Kleinman, 4713 North St. Louis street, said he invested $200 in the firm after the older Reynolds had told him it was a part of the bank.

The bank was in no way connected with the bond and mortgage firm, although the Reynolds were at one time connected with the bank.

Issues His 'Honors' List; 48 New Knights.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 2.—The big surprise in the list of King George's birthday "honors," issued tonight on the eve of his 66th birthday, was the fact that no new peerages were conferred. This is the first time in seven years that the list of honors has not included new peers.

BEN TURNER.

The omission of peers is considered somewhat of a mystery, because it was generally believed that the Labor government intended to go after large scale promotions of this nature in order to strengthen Labor's position in the house of lords. As a result political circles are abuzz tonight.

Four Baronets Created.

The last list of birthday honors not including a peerage was that of 1924 during Ramsay MacDonald's first period in the office of prime minister.

Today's honors include two privy councillorships, four baronetcies, and 48 knighthoods. The earl of Athlone, brother of Queen Mary, former governor general of South Africa, and Sir William Jowitt, attorney general, were created privy councillors. The new baronets are Sir Edward Elgar, famous composer and the king's master of music; Sir Herbert Gibson of Buenos Aires, who helped direct the British empire exhibition at Buenos Aires this year; Sir Thomas Jaffrey, consulting actuary of the Aberdeen savings bank, and Philip Henry Devitt, founder of the Nautical college at Pangborne.

The Order of Merit was conferred on Sir William Bragg, eminent scientist, for his international work on radio activity and who was recently awarded a gold medal, the highest award of the Franklin institute of America.

Union Leader Made Knight.

One of the most interesting honors was that of knight awarded to Ben Turner, veteran trade union leader and former secretary for mines in the Labor government. Turner began his career as a part time worker in the woolen mills at the age of ten, later becoming president of the national union of textile workers.

Miss Sybil Thorndike, famous Shakespearean actress, received the honor of dame commander of the Order of the British Empire. India figures largely in the list, the maharanee of Dhar also becoming a dame. Field Marshal Sir William Robertson and Sir William Llewellyn, president of the Royal academy, were awarded the grand cross of the Victorian order.

King George and the royal family tomorrow will attend the Derby at Epsom Downs, the greatest of British horse races. The king, completely recovered from his illness, tonight entertained 86 members of the Jockey club.

WHO IS HE?

A 3 year old boy waited in vain yesterday for his mother to come to the juvenile detention home to claim him. The boy was deserted by his mother in the Marshall Square theater on Monday night. She left the theater with a man. The child says his name is Homer Gerner, but does not know the location of his home. He was dressed in clothing of good quality—a tan coat, blue trousers, striped waist, black stockings and patent leather shoes. He has black hair and brown eyes.

Early yesterday morning a 10 days' old baby boy was found in the hallway of an apartment house at 7826 Lowe avenue by Cecil Winnie, a railroad clerk, and his wife, Edna, when they returned home. The child was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

BILL TO REFORM BRITISH BALLOT WINS IN COMMONS

LONDON, June 2.—(AP)—The house of commons tonight, by a vote of 278 to 228, passed on third reading the electoral reform bill, which is expected to revolutionize the British election system. The bill was sent to the house of lords.

Under its provisions voters would register their first and second preference for members of parliament in constituencies where three candidates were running. If the leading candidate then did not poll a clear majority over his two opponents the second preferences would be examined and distributed between the two leading candidates in determining the winner.

The system was designed to bring the number of members of each party into commons more in accord with the number of votes cast for each party throughout each county as a whole.

METAL SHORTAGE HOLDS UP SOVIET FIVE YEAR PLAN

MOSCOW, June 2.—(AP)—Today's newspapers devote considerable space to editorials expressing dissatisfaction with progress in the metal industries which are said to be running behind the five year plan. The central control committee of the communist party also issued an appeal for conservation of scrap iron for remelting.

The metal shortage is especially serious in the transportation industry, for hundreds of locomotives are standing idle and rusting into uselessness for lack of repair parts. The newspapers attribute the shortage to "technical inefficiency, inadequate use of equipment, lack of discipline, and lack of proper rail communications between mines and mills."

Careless workmanship in one large factory recently made it necessary to scrap about ten per cent of a whole month's production. Despite the government campaign to keep the workers on the job there has been a heavy labor turnover in the metal industries.

Japan May Grant Big Credits.

TOKIO, June 2.—(AP)—Negotiations were progressing today for the granting of a credit of 50,000,000 yen [about $25,000,000] to Russia for a period of thirty months. The soviet ambassador said the proposed credit was to be used for the purchase of electrical apparatus, ironware and steamers from Japan.

U. S. OPENS TRIAL OF TWO ON MAIL FRAUD CHARGES

Accused of using the mails to defraud, Robert L. Simons, former president and general manager of the Stone-Field Men's Manufacturing company at 3256 South La Salle street, which failed in 1928, and S. S. Elliot, former secretary of the concern, went on trial yesterday before a jury in Federal Judge John P. Barnes' court.

The two men are alleged to have used the mails in distributing a false financial statement which claimed the clothing company had assets of $402,810, against liabilities of $240,000, whereas, the government charges, the assets amounted to only $230,000.

YOUNG SLAYER IGNORES BOYS' OFFER OF HELP

Predict True Bills Friday for Police Killing.

Varner Corry, 15 years old, confessed slayer of Policeman Edward Smith in the John Marshall High school, sat sullenly in his cell in the county jail yesterday while the forces of law proceeded with the task of indicting him and two young companions for Smith's murder.

It was indicated at the state's attorney's office that the grand jury probably would return the indictments on Friday against Varner, his brother, Earl, 13 years old, and Schuyler Pearson, 18 years old. Earl and Schuyler also are prisoners in the jail. State's Attorney Swanson held there was no reason why the grand jury routine should be abandoned in the case, regardless of the youth of the three defendants.

Ignores Offers of Aid.

Varner Corry's sullenness was carried to the point of ignoring questions asked of him by persons who wished to assist him in the dilemma in which the slaying of Smith has placed him. The policeman was shot on Memorial day when he surprised the three boys in the high school swimming pool. The revolver with which he was killed had been stolen by Varner Corry during a previous invasion of the school.

At times yesterday the boy expressed grief at the death of Smith, only to swerve to a spirit of braggadocio in which he retorted to interviewers:

"Mean to kill any one? Say, what do you think I was carrying that gun for?"

After stealing the gun, he said, he obtained ammunition and held target practice in the basement of his own home, at 736 South Claremont avenue. Asked whether his parents knew he had the gun, he replied:

"Sure, they knew. They didn't say anything to me."

Boys Offer to Help Him.

Led by 15 year old Clarence Cowall, a delegation from the Boys' Brotherhood Republic called at the jail to offer their friendly services to Varner, whom none of them had known before. Corry was surly and uncommunicative when they tried to discuss the case with him.

"We're going to try to get Clarence Darrow to take over your defense," offered Cowall. Even that brought no response. Cowall's companions, Irving Singer, Philip Axelrod and Harry Vollen, had no better luck.

An official of the Boy Scouts of America said yesterday that while marksmanship is taught in some scout troops, it was not among the subjects in which Corry obtained five merit badges testifying to his work and interest in troop 262 of the Warren Avenue Congregational church. His badges were received for carpentry, firemanship, swimming, cooking and craftsmanship in wood.

ALLEGED BOOZE SELLER HELD.

CONFESSES

[Acme Photo.]

New York, June 2.—[Special.]—Philip Knox Knapp stepped into an airplane at Newark today and flew, a handcuffed prisoner, to Mineola, L. I., to face the consequences of a feverish past which for six years he had been trying to blot out with humdrum commonplaces such as he once had scorned.

He pleaded not guilty to a six year old indictment which charged him with the murder of Louis Panella Aust for the thrill of killing, but dictated a 400 page confession before he was arraigned.

For five years while the was being hunted Knapp was serving as an enlisted man in the coast guard at Stapleton, S. I., where, if government officials had taken the trouble to compare his finger prints he might have been arrested soon after the crime was committed. For the last year he had been living quietly as a garage mechanic in West Orange, N. J., with the devoted wife he married under the name of Allen Keesling Phillips.

Knapp seemed to find it more difficult to face his young wife than to admit that he was the man whose picture was posted under the caption, "Wanted for Murder." Despite the shock of her discovery, the killer's wife clutched at his explanation that the shooting of Panella was an "accident," and promised to "believe in him as long as I can." Another woman, whom Knapp married in Baltimore before the killing, reacted to the news of his capture in a hostile manner.

Boys Cleared in Killing of Woman by Stray Bullet

A coroner's jury held yesterday that Mrs. Gladys Boyd, 27 years old, who was fatally wounded on Monday by a bullet fired by one of four youths shooting at a target in Evanston, was killed accidentally. The youths involved were William Eldridge, 17 years old, 712 Washington boulevard; Ernest Witsiepe, 15 years old, and Otis Libby, 16 years old, 833 South Boulevard, and John Mabley, 17 years old, 911 Sherman street, Evanston. Eldridge and Mabley were charged with firing a gun inside the city limits. They were released on bonds supplied by their parents and will be arraigned tomororw.

BANK COLLECTOR ROBBED.

Ralph Schmidt, a collector for the American Bankers institute, 43 East Ohio street, was robbed of $26 by two Negro bandits who pushed him into a hallway at 3715 Indiana avenue last night.

MRS. SUMMERS ADMITS DEATHS OF 4 HUSBANDS

Mrs. Margaret Summers, held in the county jail on charges of murdering four persons with arsenic and suspected of having similarly poisoned fifteen others, admitted yesterday to her attorneys, Emmet F. Byrne and Harold Levy, that she had been widowed at least four times in the last 30 years.

MRS. MARGARET SUMMERS.

The 47 year old widow confirmed a statement last week of her foster mother, Mrs. William Meyers of Effingham, Ill., that she had married her first husband, James Lynch, as a girl of 16 years.

Within another two years, the widow said, she married James Fairfax, who likewise died a few years after the wedding. At this point in her recital, Mrs. Summers became vague as to dates, but recalled having afterwards married Stanley Korzen, with whom she lived about five years. He, too, died.

Her next and final husband, Mrs. Summers said, was Thomas Summers, the peddler, who died 18 months ago and whose exhumed body revealed traces of arsenic. It was because of the deaths of Summers, two of his peddler employes, Thomas Lanagan and William Reenan, and the widow's nephew, Thomas Meyers, that a coroner's jury ordered her committed to the county jail.

"GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS"

Here Are Some Samples:
Can You Make Up Better Ones?

A Good Time Charliegram is a sentence of exactly ten words which conveys a timely message of good cheer or sound advice:
"Every time you buy something you help bring back prosperity."
"The time to stock up is when prices are low."
Do you think you can make up a better Good Time Charliegram than any of these?—using only the words appearing in advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune? Try your hand at it! Read the simple rules and start now!

WHAT sentence of exactly ten words can you make up, using only the words which appear in the advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune? Last week we made up the Good Time Charliegrams and invited you to hunt for them. This week we are going to let you have all the fun. This week you are invited to make up your own Good Time Charliegrams.

ACCUSES WOLFE OF FAVORITISM IN CIVIL SERVICE

Sprague Asks Inquiry on Gayton Appointment.

Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works in the former city administration, was charged yesterday with participating in a fraudulent civil service examination by using his "official and personal influence" to gain preference for an employé in his office.

LORAN D. GAYTON.

The charges were contained in a petition submitted to the new civil service commission by Commissioner of Public Works Sprague. It requests the commission to investigate the examination by which Loran D. Gayton, city engineer now under suspension, obtained his appointment in 1929 and the activities by which Wolfe and the old commission are said to have aided him.

Charges Unfair Examination.

The examination, according to the petition prepared by Francis J. Vurpillat, assistant corporation counsel, was "irregular, illegal, dishonest, unfair, and partial." Through fraudulent marking of the papers Gayton was given the appointment instead of Myron B. Reynolds, who is acting city engineer now, according to the petition.

In the examination, the petition says, Gayton and Reynolds were given a rating of 85 each for efficiency. Later, Reynolds' rating was reduced to 80.

Then, three days after the examination was held, Wolfe wrote a letter to the commission praising Gayton for work done eighteen months previously, and asked that Gayton be rated 90 in efficiency for that work, according to the petition.

"Seniority Rights Ignored."

Reynolds was deprived also of the preferment that the law requires be shown to city employés who have military service to their credit, the petition states, and his seniority rights over Gayton, who was then engineer of waterworks design, were ignored.

WOMAN PATIENT, 80, TAKEN HOME FROM HOSPITAL IN PLANE

Detroit, Mich., June 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Barbara Weise, 80 years old, whose right hip was fractured in a fall a week ago, was brought to Detroit from a Traverse City hospital in an airplane Sunday afternoon. Throughout the trip she was completely under an anesthetic and did not know of the change until she had been taken to her home.

Mrs. Weise was accompanied by her two sons who flew to Traverse City earlier in the day. Neither of the sons nor Mrs. Weise had ever flown before.

Harry Riddle of the Knowles Flying service, piloted the ship, seats of which had been removed to make room for a hospital cot. The trip to the northern city required two hours and 35 minutes.

LUDWIG VISITS U. S. AGAIN FOR MORE MATERIAL

New York, June 2.—[Special.]—Emil Ludwig, the biographer, returned to New York today after he had sailed home from his first brief visit to the United States. When he sailed March 10, 1928, he said he would write the life of Lincoln. Soon after his return to Germany the book appeared, and in the succeeding three years half a dozen other volumes, most of them of many pages, came out under his name.

EMIL LUDWIG.

Now, less than a month after the American publication of his latest book, "Schliemann—the Story of a Gold Seeker," he has come back, both to lecture and to obtain material for one or more other volumes, as yet unannounced.

He arrived on the Bremen. As on his other trip, he indicated that he would remain but a little while. His prolific writings are the product, he has often said, not of spending much time in the places where his subjects spent their lives, but of diligent research in his library at home.

SKIPPER OF RUM BOAT SLAIN BY COAST GUARDS

San Pedro, Cal., June 2.—[Special.]—Bullets from the coastguard cutter Arrow killed William Millikin, 27, prosperous captain of the crew of the 56 foot liquor speedboat Diatome, and wounded Walter C. (Red) Moore and David L. Clark, during a six hour machine gun chase over the moonlit waters 50 miles north of here last night. Eleven bullets struck Millikin.

The coastguard report states that the cutter gunners aimed not at the fleeing boat's crew, but to disable the Diatome's three engines, two of which, besides the gasoline tank, were punctured.

Two hundred and fifty cases of liquor were taken off the boat when it was overhauled. The cutter began its chase when the craft was discovered running without lights in violation of sea law.

Millikin's death is the first fatality on the side of the rum runners in southern California's warfare between coastguardsmen and liquor runners.

Clark and Moore were turned over to customs agents here and jailed. They refused to answer questions by officers.

Boy Shot; Find Beer in Car.

Detroit, Mich., June 2.—(AP)—A 16 year old boy was shot and critically wounded by two Hamtramck policemen and his two companions were arrested today when they tried to escape after the officers had searched their car and found four barrels of beer.

The wounded boy is Joseph Kotcher of East Windsor, Ont., and his companions gave their names as Edward Wojciechowski, 19, and William Rudnicki, 17. Kotcher is in the Hamtramck Municipal hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Patrolmen William Raspberry and John Page, who arrested the youths, said their car was being driven in an erratic manner. They pursued the car and ordered the youths to halt. Patrolman Raspberry said the three youths then jumped from the car and Kotcher drew a pistol. Raspberry fired once, wounding the youth. The others surrendered.

"Oil" Turns Out to Be Liquor.

Toledo, O., June 2.—(AP)—Six barrels of linseed oil turned out to be assorted liquors valued at $5,000 when federal dry agents confiscated the shipment here after watching for the load ten days.

SENATOR BROCK LAYS BUSINESS SLUMP TO LAZY LEADERSHIP

American industry needs "less go-getters and more go-givers" in the opinion of Senator William E. Brock of Tennessee, who addressed delegates of the National Confectioners association yesterday. The association is holding its annual convention in the Stevens hotel.

"The present depression," said Senator Brock, "is largely due to lack of faith in our own leadership. We need more fact finding leaders instead of fault finding. There are two many executives, spending most of their time bawling out subordindinates instead of giving real attention to business.

"Many men who fought through to leadership have forgotten what it is all about and are spending their time taking trips and playing golf."

REPORT TO A. A. A. ASKS ELEVATED URBAN HIGHWAY

Favors Change in Plan for Financing.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

West Baden, Ind., June 2.—[Special.]—A committee of the American Automobile association headed by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, reporting today at the association's convention here on a year's survey and study, recommended that the million members of the national organization give active support to the promotion of elevated highways as urban traffic arteries.

CHARLES M. HAYES

The committee also recommended that highway administrators should change the prevailing policy in financing municipal highways, recognizing the change during the last few years in the relation between traffic and abutting real estate values. Mr. Hayes reported that modern traffic, with its noise, fumes and hazards, no longer constitues an improvement to abutting property for which special assessments should be levied.

"The improvement of through traffic lanes, such as by widening and by separation of grades at intersections," said Mr. Hayes, "is an improvement for the benefit almost solely of the vehicle operators. Therefore, these operators properly should be taxed for the improvements. They now pay this tax—the gas excise and the state license fee. This money should pay for the betterment of traffic facilities, pay all of the cost, including the expense of acquiring right of way."

Text of Report.

The committee report on elevated highways says:

"Street widening is an obsolescent form of improvement to carry high speed traffic through highly developed areas. An elevated highway, consisting of an earth fill and retaining wall paralleling and adjacent to an earth railroad embankment, can be constructed for about one-third of the cost of the conventional two level street.

"This type of elevated highway should be sponsored by the American Automobile association to the end that, in the future, through traffic may travel in safety at relatively high speeds on such arteries while a strict curb may be placed on the speed of local traffic on the streets at grade."

The report on financing pavement improvements declares:

"The streets which have been used as connections inside of municipalities for rural highways have been financed by taxes on abutting real estate. The through motor vehicle traffic on these streets has been of no benefit and, in many instances, has been detrimental to abutting property.

"These connections inside municipalities, inasmuch as the real estate owners are justly averse to bearing this heavy expense, now constitute some of the weakest links in our highway systems."

Fail to Solve Drowning of Chicago Student Girl

Unable to discover any conclusive indications of murder or motive for suicide, a coroner's jury yesterday returned an indeterminate verdict of death by drowning in the case of Miss Lena Mangini, 20 years old, 2158 North Claremont avenue, whose body was taken from the lake at 32d street Saturday. The schoolgirl had been missing since May 14.

Does Your Automobile Insurance Policy Say What You Think It Does?

If your car should be burned or stolen, will your insurance company pay you the amount stated in the policy? The amount named in the policy is a valuation used to determine the cost of the insurance, the rate for fire and theft insurance being a certain price per hundred dollars of valuation.

The policy says that in the event of a total loss you will receive an amount not to exceed the actual loss sustained, the settlement to be agreed upon by you and the adjuster for the insurance company. This is the policy known as the "non valued" form.

Then there is the "valued form" policy. Under the terms of this policy you are paid the face value of the policy, the amount on which you have paid premium.

The Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club issues a VALUED FORM POLICY, which covers you anywhere in the United States or Canada.

Other services of the club are: Free mechanical first aid and towing service, home district service, accident prevention work, travel service, and bail bond service.

KEEP KISSABLE

ALWAYS FRESH—SEALED IN CELLOPHANE

NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

...WITH OLD GOLDS

OLD GOLDS were created to give you THROAT-EASE . . . as well as a more delightful tasting cigarette. But the makers also considered your breath, your lips, your teeth, as well as your THROAT.

They created a pure-tobacco cigarette . . . free of coriander and other greasy artificial flavorings* that burn into clinging, staining, breath-tainting vapors.

To avoid unpleasant aftermaths, smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. Their clean, sun-ripened, natural-flavored tobaccos will be like honey to your THROAT. And they leave no objectionable odors either on your breath or clothing, or in the room.

HERE'S THE PROOF*

Open up a pack of OLD GOLDS and smell the tobacco. Do the same with any other cigarette. Judge for yourself which has the natural, pleasant, all-tobacco aroma. It's a favor to your family and friends, as well as to yourself, to smoke NATURAL-FLAVORED, pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS.

Nashville, Tenn., June 2.—[Special.] Tennessee is in the midst of the greatest political turmoil since reconstruction days with the state legislature on the eve of voting on the great question of the impeachment of Gov. Henry H. Horton.

The scene today at the old state capitol, one of the landmarks of the south, still dominated by Jacksonian traditions, reflected struggle and confusion and tense excitement.

In the gloomy hall of representatives, before weary legislators and crowded galleries the reading of the articles of impeachment went grimly ahead with much oratory in sight about the iniquities of the state machine and the stain which such an action would cast on the grand old state of Jackson and Polk.

Governor Seems Undaunted.

In the hallways, particularly around the governor's office, the more practical work of lobbying was going on and the governor, smiling and undaunted by all these months of investigation and the grave charges against him, was shaking hands with all who wandered his way, and holding whispered conversations with his lieutenants and scouts.

The outcome of this battle is in doubt, although the legislative committee which reported on the case said that "there are abundant, sufficient facts to justify impeachment proceedings," and pointed out that the house had no power to pass on the guilt or innocence of the governor but was merely to act as a grand jury on prima facie evidence.

Nevertheless during all this delay about the matter, the governor and his friends have worked up a powerful defense sentiment throughout the state and have brought pressure to bear from many quarters and in many ways upon the legislators.

He is to be tried in the senate, if impeached, with Chief Justice Grafton Green of the State Supreme court presiding. Attorney K. T. McConnico of Nashville is said to have been selected as the prosecutor for the house.

The impeachment strategy is being directed from hotel rooms by Congressman Ed H. Crump of Memphis, who has won all his battles so far in this legislature.

The Memphis political boss is not popular, however, in the rural districts of the state, and he has found it necessary to keep in the background and disclaim all direct interest in the outcome. It is all for "the salvation of the state," he says.

The resignation of Senator Scott Fitzhugh, one of the Crump faction, from the speakership last Friday, and the election of Senator A. B. Broadbent of Clarksville to fill his place took much of the thunder away from the defense, for Senator Broadbent is an independent, an anti-Crump man, and he will be the next governor if Mr. Horton is forced out.

Based on Bank Failures.

All this situation dates back to the bank failures of last November and the discovery that $7,775,918 of state funds was tied up or lost in banks controlled by the political allies of the governor, Col. Luke Lea and Rogers Caldwell. Both men are under indictment now in various courts, and one of the Caldwell cases has begun in Nashville. Col. Lea is fighting hard to emerge from the political and financial clouds and is credited with much of the strategy back of the Horton forces. The Tennessee papers, with the exception of two still controlled by Col. Lea, are fighting for the impeachment.

The legislature has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in discovering what went on during the early part of the Horton regime, which led up to the loss of this money, but its methods have evoked criticism as being unfair.

Eight articles of impeachment have been submitted to the legislature. Seven of these were reported today by Chairman John H. Tipton. All but two of these seven relate to the main charge of conspiracy and took up details of the alleged plots between Gov. Horton and the two bankers to get control of state money for their pecuniary and his political benefit.

Of the new charges article 5 is the most interesting and contains a charge never made before.

One W. M. ["Billy"] Wilkerson, was arrested on March 24, 1927 in Shelby county charged with the felony of operating a gambling house. He was indicted and convicted by a jury on April 20, and was given a fine of $350 and eight months in the workhouse. He appealed but the Supreme court affirmed the judgment. Wilkerson then fled the state and became a fugitive from justice. He was located in Arkansas and on Feb. 16, 1928, a requisition was made on the governor of Arkansas by Gov. Horton for the surrender of Wilkerson.

While Wilkerson was still a fugitive and following the requisition, Wilkerson's wife came to Nashville and had a conference with Gov. Horton, it is stated in the charges. This was in March, 1928, preceding the primary election. Wilkerson it seems has considerable political strength in Shelby county. Mrs. Wilkerson was told to get a petition and letters and return. She did so and Gov. Horton, it is charged, told her he would give her husband a pardon on April 18.

Refuses to Implicate Others.

Wilkerson and his wife appeared in Nashville on this date and went to the governor's office. Horton, it is said, requested Wilkerson to give him a statement telling that he had been paying protection money in Shelby county, but Wilkerson declined to do so.

The governor then said he could not issue the pardon. Gov. Horton took up the pardon question with Attorney General W. T. McLain and a letter is submitted showing McLain's attitude as against dealing with any man who was still a fugitive and referring to Wilkerson as a well known gambler.

A former member of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce next appeared on the scene for Wilkerson and the good offices of Col. Lea were solicited. Col. Lea is said to have insisted that Wilkerson make a statement first. The governor was held to his promise, however, that he would give the pardon, and in August, 1928, after the primary signed it.

Calls Governor Accessory.

"By the long, well settled law in this state," the committee reports, "and Gov. Horton is an experienced lawyer, an accessory after the fact is one who, knowing a felony has been committed, receives, relieves, comforts or assists the felon." Much is made of the charge that the fugitive spent two hours in the governor's office and was allowed to go free. The defense is referring to this as one of "Ed Crump's frame-ups."

Another charge in today's batch of articles is what is called the glaringly improper expenditure of $2,850 for a grand piano by the governor in 1929. It is said that the governor had made an express reservation that this money would not be spent and broke his pledge.

Other charges relate to the method in which subordinate state officials were removed by Gov. Horton because it is charged, they would not lend themselves to the conspiracy to put state money in the pockets of Caldwell and Lea.

ALCOCK TO SUSPEND TWO COPS CONVICTED ON U. S. DOPE CHARGE

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock announced last evening that he would immediately suspend Detective Sergeant W-e-l-l-ington Britton and his colored partner, Detective Jesse Howland, who were convicted yesterday of conspiracy to violate the federal narcotic laws.

WELLINGTON BRITTON.

Alcock also said he would file charges against the policemen before the civil service commission as soon as the evidence is received from the government. The federal conviction carries a maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

Britton and Howland, who have been on the police force for more than nine years, were found guilty by a jury in Federal Judge Barnes' court. According to the evidence presented by Assistant United States Attorney Mary D. Bailey, they hijacked 18 ounces of morphine from two colored dope peddlers. Jackie Reynolds and James Claibourne, alleged co-conspirators, pleaded guilty and testified for the government.

Arguments on Defense Attorney Leo Klein's motion for a new trial were set for Friday.

Widower Reweds Girl Who Nursed His Wife

Three years ago Philip Hanus, then 65 years old, 1766 Leland avenue, obtained a license to marry Herta Tatz, who was 18 years old. She was a house maid and had attended his wife during the year of illness preceding her death. Apparently the first marriage went awry, because yesterday Hanus appeared at the county building, accompanied by Miss Tatz. They obtained a license to remarry.

Perjury Case Against Alterie Is Continued

Charges of perjury against Louis Alterie, former Dean O'Banion gangster and later said to have been allied with Al Capone, were continued to July 2 by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday. Alterie, who has been running a dude ranch in Colorado, is alleged to have testified falsely before a grand jury investigating Al Capone's income tax affairs.

Four Armed Bandits Rob Auto Parts Store of $662

Four armed men yesterday held up and robbed the Douglas Auto Parts company, 20 West 70th street, of $662. Paul Weissman, 1645 East 50th street, the manager, was robbed of $185 and then ordered to open the safe from which the men took $355.

300 UNPAID POLLS OFFICIALS GIVEN HOPE IN CICERO

Representatives of nearly 300 clerks and judges of election in Cicero, who have failed to collect from the city more than $33,000 due them for work done at elections since Jan. 1, 1930, were still angry yesterday when they met with the finance committee of the Cicero council. They had stormed the council meeting the evening before with demands for their money.

The town clerk, James Pelikan, advanced hopes that he would be able to sell enough 1930 tax anticipation warrants before next Monday to pay the judges and clerks $17,000 on account. When he explained that it was impossible to transfer money from any other funds to pay these obligations, he was greeted with cries of "hooey" and "baloney."

One woman cried: "Why don't you sell your warrants to Al Capone. If you don't pay us we'll see that there is a cleaning out in the city hall."

During the morning a committee from the informal organization of election officials conferred with County Judge Jarecki and former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, attorney for the county board of election commissioners, who told them they were entitled to pay and advised them not to take tax anticipation warrants.

WOMAN, 98, DIES OF FALL.

Mrs. Catherine Blair, 98 years old, died at the county hospital yesterday of injuries suffered on April 25, when she fell in the kitchen of her home at 1927 South Racine avenue. She was a native of Ireland, but had lived in the United States for 74 years.

THE BACKGROUND OF THE GAG LAW.

The full force of the decision in the Minnesota press suppression law is not likely to be realized without reference to the conditions from which this remarkable piece of lawmaking sprang. The dissenting opinion leaves the impression that the issue involved merely the proper method of suppressing a business regularly producing malicious, scandalous and defamatory matter. The actual situation in which the legal controversy has risen is not disposed of on such easy terms. The gag law is but an incident in the political, economic and social history of Minnesota and its full significance cannot be grasped without reference to that history. It is the history of a long struggle for domination by powerful and ruthless private interests over law and government in that commonwealth.

In its earliest stages the state was ruled by the lumber and iron barons, who were bent upon an unrestrained exploitation of the great natural resources of Minnesota. The control of the politics and machinery of government was essential to their freedom to exploit, and the profits of this exploitation gave ample means to purchase the control. But control for their own predatory freedom necessarily involved the allowance of freedom to political and official allies. This is a rule without exception in the strategy of corrupt power. The interests which sought freedom to exploit on a large scale could not afford to fight other less "respectable" forms of exploitation. Doubtless they would have indulged in an inexpensive civic morality, "compounding for sins they were inclined to by damning those they had no mind to." But this is not practicable.

The result was, and always is, that the great powers controlling through their wealth and unscrupulous ability were enforced allies of the lesser grafters in local government and police who fattened in comparatively modest proportion upon the illicit appetites and desires of people, on the wages of sin, on commercial vice, on gambling and the political grafts of public administration. Read the chapter on Minneapolis in Lincoln Steffens' "The Shame of the Cities," if you would have a concrete picture of this phase of the problem of good government in Minnesota.

In due time came a moral reaction in the body politic against this situation, but not unnaturally it struck at the central and greater evil, the domination of the great interests which possessed the real power over the state and directed its control. Unhappily this revolt took the form of political and economic radicalism and fell into the hands of demagogues and self-seeking individuals who borrow idealistic formulas to disguise their own personal ends and utilize the force of public indignation to acquire power and place. The Minneapolis police under the radicals was as vile as if not more vile than it had been under the Big Money Rule.

With both factions devoted to corruption in its varying forms, the only great and persistent danger to either party was and is publicity and plenty of it. Thus while the reactionaries devised and enacted the gag law it was the radicals, come into power, that used it to suppress the Saturday Press for exposing the corruption of the police under radical rule and forcing the dismissal of the chief of police.

No inkling of this background of the gag law will be found in the dissenting opinion. On the contrary, its implication is, as we have said, that there was involved only the suppression of an abuse of press freedom. But the Saturday Press was not suppressed for the lies it told. It was suppressed for the true stories it printed of official perfidy. It was not suppressed because it was scurrilous, recklessly defamatory, abusive, and incendiary, but because, whatever the character or motives of its editor, it was giving publicity to conditions which political profiteers and corruptionists could not afford to permit the public to realize.

This is no novel development. The whole history of censorship gives it meaning. Every effort to restrain and suppress utterance by political censorship, save in time of national peril, has been on behalf of a political tyranny which dared not submit its cause to the conscience of men.

We may say on behalf of Justice Butler, a Minnesota man, and on behalf of the Minnesota judges who upheld the gag law, that living in and through the economic and political conditions we have referred to they have some reason, though we trust not a conclusive one, to give way to a feeling that conditions in Minnesota are inevitable and that unqualified defense of American principles by violent or vigorous journalism was damaging to the fundamental interests of that commonwealth. We think such an attitude is mistaken and mischievous. It could have been pleaded in extenuation of every reactionary judge in our history from Jeffreys to Taney.

THE TRIBUNE'S intervention in the Minnesota cause was prompted by its own recent experience of an attempt to suppress public disclosure through another piece of legalistic sophistry—"the municipal libel suit"—by an equally corrupt and demoralizing city government. That attempt was defeated in the Illinois Supreme court, whose opinion, delivered by former Chief Justice Thompson, is a landmark in the law of free press. The notable opinion of Mr. Chief Justice Hughes in the Minnesota case is still another of even wider authority, and it should arrest, if it does not end, the efforts to cripple the guarantee of a free press, which have of late been an ominous resort of unscrupulous power disguised in the guise of almost every fad, faction, and schism known to politics.

As for the community directly concerned, the people of Minnesota, it is to be hoped the severe reproof administered to their legislature and to their Supreme court will not only instruct them in the nature of free government, but will awaken them to the character of the political forces which govern them.

YES, PROHIBITION IS NOT.

George W. Wickersham, the chairman of the celebrated yes and no law enforcement commission, views with hope and alarm. Things are very bad, but not so very bad, and whatever is the cause of them isn't the cause of them, particularly if the cause be assumed to be prohibition, which is and which is not. New York and Chicago are distressing exhibits and local governments are bad, but the trouble is that good cities are concerned only with their own affairs. "They are not interested in aiding weaker communities."

As for instance, Mr. Wickersham? Effingham—spotting one at random on the map—may be a good little city or a bad little city. Its potency in the reformation of Chicago as a weaker community is one of the bits of star dust which persons of the larger luminosity, of the cosmic cerebration, offer in prescriptions. There may be a moral reserve in Caxsackie or Saugerties which would be stimulating to New York City if it could be made available in a gush of community sympathy, but more likely the idea is only a moral emanation from an eminent emanatist. Just a gaseous product.

Mr. Wickersham's most distinguished public service of recent years was to give the country a false idea of what the commission of which he is chairman had found regarding the working of the Volstead act. A majority opinion that prohibition was injurious and should be stopped became a finding that it was a blessing and should be continued. That was indeed an emanation.

POLITICAL FARMING.

Senator Searcy of the Springfield district undertook to reduce the pretensions, and the appropriations, of the Illinois Farmers' institute as one way of trimming down state expenses and some curious rural statesmanship. The institute was founded to promote farm knowledge. At its Decatur meeting, earlier in the year, the scope of its agricultural activities was indicated in resolutions opposing the repeal of the Illinois prohibition act, advocating a state income tax and a law to prohibit the use of women's pictures in billboard cigaret ads.

The state, in effect, is subsidizing a political action group which evidently defines agriculture as anything which happens to be thought of at the moment or to be an enthusiasm of any of the members. The connection between agronomy and cigaret billboard ads is, of course, obvious. The billboards may be put up on pasture lands. Prohibition is a farm measure because it kills a great market for farm produce. The income tax is a levy approved by agriculture as a means of bringing more grief to the city people. What is not clear is the obligation of the state to provide public money for the incubation and promotion of these or any other similar ideas.

STUDENT OFFICERS.

The annual review and inspection of the University of Illinois officers' reserve corps has been held. J. E. Lattan, the new student colonel, has been installed in command. No less than 3,000 of the young men of the university took part in the ceremonies.

Similar reviews are being held at other universities throughout the country. They serve to emphasize the worth which these student corps have attained, a worth which is constantly being undermined by pacifists in and out of the colleges.

The fact is that the young men being trained in the student corps are the main reliance of this country in any future war which it will be called upon to fight. The regular army could not provide nearly enough officers of the line even if none of the West Pointers were assigned to the safer staff positions far from the battle. The task of training soldiers and leading them in battle must fall in the next war, as it did in the last one, to the young men from the colleges. This would be true if war were to be declared tomorrow, for the men of military experience in the last war are now approaching, if they have not already passed, the age limit of effective service.

There is little in our country's military situation which is reassuring. The numbers enlisted in the regular service and the militia are so small as to be almost negligible. We are inadequately supplied with weapons and other material. The situation would be little short of desperate were it not for the nucleus of trained men which the colleges are maintaining.

BEER IN MICHIGAN.

[The Baltimore Sun.]

Despite the bitter opposition of the Anti-Saloon league, the Michigan legislature has overridden Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker's veto and reinstated a malt tax law. Under the new act a levy of 5 cents a pound is placed on malt extract and 5 cents a gallon on wort or liquid malt. The new law also provides a $5 license fee, to be paid by all manufacturers and dealers, with a $5 fee for each vehicle used in the transportation of malt products. Receipts of the measure, it is the conservative estimate, will total $2,250,000 annually.

If $250,000 covers the tax paid by the makers of and dealers in malt extract, a fair assumption, there remains $2,000,000 to be collected for the malt itself. We are told 2 pounds of malt makes 5 gallons of beer, on which the tax should be 10 cents, or 2 cents per gallon. Two million dollars, therefore, represents 100 million gallons, or 800 million pints of beer. With the average beer bottle holding two-thirds of a pint, the $2,000,000 tax covers 12 hundred million bottles.

Michigan's population at the last census was 4,842,325. The state legislature, then, is anticipating that the average family of five will consume during a year two bottles of beer daily, with ten bottles per family for each Sunday and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, George Washington's Birthday, and Fourth of July holidays. It will be interesting to note, when the first year's malt tax receipts are in, whether the Michigan folk are as hearty beer drinkers as their legislature believes.

DIETS FOR GOOD TEETH.

DRS. DRAIN AND BOYD of Iowa City have worked for years on diets for children, especially in relation to the prevention of tooth decay. They recommend the following for an average child three to five years of age:

BREAKFAST: Prune or apple sauce, or orange; 1 egg; cooked cereal with milk and small amount of sugar; ½ slice buttered toast; 8 ounces milk.

9 a. m.: One teaspoonful cod liver oil, followed by orange or tomato juice.

NOON: Tender meat, fish, chicken, or liver; 2 tablespoons mashed or baked potato; 3 ounces buttered vegetable; 2 small leaves lettuce or other raw food: simple pudding; ½ slice bread and butter; 8 ounces milk.

SUPPER: Milk soup; egg, cottage cheese, custard, or sieved liver; 3 ounces buttered vegetable; ½ slice buttered toast; 2 or 3 ounces fruit sauce; 8 ounces milk.

In addition, 4 to 6 ounces of milk should be given in an afternoon or at bedtime.

An average child should get from these meals: One quart of milk, at least one egg, one medium serving of meat, two vegetables, one orange or tomato, one fruit; from the additional, 1 teaspoon cod liver oil, 6 teaspoons butter. Sugar should be used sparingly. Cereal should be served but once a day.

Children should be encouraged to eat large quantities of fruits and vegetables. The authors divide vegetables into three classes. In the first class they place lettuce, spinach, tomato, celery, cauliflower, string beans, asparagus, and chard. In the second, peas, carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips, onions, egg plant, and squash. A child eating two vegetables may choose two from class one, or one from that class and the other from the second group. Potatoes, lima beans, and corn they put in a third class, saying they are so rich in starch that they should be counted as bread or cereal, rather than as a vegetable.

Children should never eat anything between meals except milk or a fruit.

Jelly, peanut butter, candies, butter cakes, cookies, and ice creams may be given as desserts at meals. They are not to be eaten between meals.

The foods that children should not eat are: Spices, coffee, tea, pop, pickles, rich pastries, wieners, dried meats, dried beans, and fried foods.

The writer does not agree with Drs. Drain and Boyd as to prohibition of fried foods, dried beans, and dried meats.

The trend of opinion is now slightly toward proper feeding as the most effective method of protecting the teeth and of building up the vigor of the child.

MAY NOT AFFECT CHILD.

Mrs. N. H. writes:

1. I have a husband who stutters. I am expecting a child. Will he also stammer?

2. My husband, 23 years old, would like to get rid of the habit, but has no money to go to a doctor. Do you know of a remedy?

REPLY.

1. Probably not. Certainly not at first. If your baby should inherit nervous instability begin early in training him to be quiet and calm. By doing so you ward off stammering.

2. A man who is set in his ways is not easily cured of stammering. The only cure is training. There is no medicine for it.

WARTS ON THE FEET.

Mrs. J. A. S. writes: What is good for warts on the bottom of the feet? Doctors have tried castor oil and also burning with acid. Another wants to burn them off with electricity.

1. Is this a common disease?
2. How can it be cured?
3. Is it liable to lead to cancer?

REPLY.

1. It is—very.
2. Plantar warts are not cured by simple wart remedies. As a rule, burning them with a spark or with other forms of electricity is best.
3. No.

ASHEIM-ZONDEK TEST.

P. S. writes: What are the first symptoms by which a woman can tell that a baby is to be born?

REPLY.

ASSESSED ON PRESENT VALUE.

Blue Island, Ill., May 16. — [Legal Friend of the People.]—Owing to the hard times I have not completely finished building a house. Can they assess this at full value? The house remains vacant and cannot be tenanted in its unfinished state. E. A. W.

We see no reason why it should not be assessed according to its present value.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES.

Chicago, May 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On or about Feb. 17 I answered an ad concerning employment. I went to the employment agency and they sent me to the place they had listed for work after I had deposited $15 for the job, the understanding being that the money was to be returned to me should I not get the job. I was not accepted for the position and returned to the agency for my money. They gave me a check for $15 and after a week or so the check came back marked "account closed." Up to this time have not been able to get my money. Please advise how I can get this money back. J. B.

Section 4 of the act relating to private employment agencies is, in part, as follows: "A registration fee not to exceed two dollars may be charged by such licensed agency when such agency shall be at actual expense in advertising such individual applicant, or in looking up the reference of said applicant. No licensed person or persons shall, as a condition to registering or obtaining employment for such applicant, require such applicant to subscribe to any publication or exact any other fees, compensation or reward, other than the registration fee aforesaid, and a further fee, the amount of which shall be agreed upon between such applicant and such licensed person to be payable at a time such as may be agreed upon in writing, but the further fee aforesaid shall not be received by such licensed person before the applicant has been tendered a position by said licensed persons." Violations should be reported to the chief inspector of private employment agencies, Transportation building, Chicago. We advise you to continue to follow the matter up through the inspector.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WE ARE USING UP OUR ZEROS! HEL-LUP! HEL-LUP!

And now the tidings roll in from Washington that the U. S. treasury deficit in June a year from now will be over $1,500,000,000. And Spain frantically announced yesterday that the bank note circulation would be kept below 6,000,000,000 pesetas. And the financial news yesterday said that the shrinkage of stock values from the 1929 peak is equal to $60,000,000,000. And also there was the statement that because of the reduced national income caused by the stock market, the value of $300,000,000,000 of real estate has declined 10%, or $30,000,000,000. And the total shrinkage is declared to be $100,000,000,000. Looking these cold, hard facts in the face we see that we are threatened by an awful scarcity of zeros.

How can we keep enough 0's on hand when financiers fling 'em around like that? There isn't a newspaper that isn't going to run clear out of 0's if these reports are not discontinued. Andy Mellon is mostly to blame; every time he opens his mouth the papers have to run enough 0's to fill a column. Only last Monday he offered for sale government bonds to the amount of $800,000,000. The way the zeros are being used up nowadays is something awful. Something's got to be done about it. All we see is a figure or two and then 000000000000000000000000000000000000000, and so on, and so on. Oh! Oh! Oh! Where is the Society for the Protection of the Overworked Zero? Write to your congressman today!

SWALLOWS.

Not as dark divers plunging down the sea
To prise the shell from shallows hung with weed,
Not as lithe hunters slipped from tree to tree
Along the spoor that marks the tiger's speed,
But rather like the birds, flung wantonly
Across an airy lane where summer's been,
Sliding along invisibility,
Riding the windy violence, serene
These thoughts return and lift, lift and return,
From what a diver's knife had gutted out
Back in the jungle for the beater's shout,
To fly with swallows, where about the earth

TEX GUINAN and her gels are thrown out of France without being allowed to leave the port where they landed. And our comic mayors are permitted to roam at large all over sunny France making speeches every minute and gedunking their bread in the wine sauces. Is there no justice?

THA DUKE'S BOY FREN GETS HIM INTA TRUBBLE WHICH BOY FRENS GENURELLIE DO.

Dick: Some women get a real kick outa tha bridle path, tha B. and C. gets hers bein on tha war path. Lass week Norman, tha boy fren, bothers me with another one of his inventions. His first one was called "The Daniels Cockroach Disappearer." The idea was to utilize used razor blades. You smeared tha blades with syrup an' laid 'em under tha sink, tha roaches would then lick 'em an' thereby cut their tongues off. When I tells him crippling them wooden kill 'em, he tells me that when other roaches noticed a lotta their frens without tongues they wood get suspishus an' figure there was something hay-wire with tha dump an' wood go down to the desk an' check out. Ennyway, his new wrinkle is what cost me plenty of trubble from tha Mama. Some egg sells him a lotta junk an' a 10 gal keg an a hose fer 20 bucks. By following direction tha finished product makes 10 gals of 20 yr. old Bourbon in 60 days. His folks won't let him smear up their kitchen, so if I furnish tha room an' act as liftee, which is tha bird what lifts things aroun', Norman will perform as mixee an' split with me on the finished product. Well, tha directions had words like syphun, filtration, denatured an' 6 others neither one of us ever heard before, so we get out tha dictionery. This wasted so much time I suggests droppin' tha book in tha keg an' let it pick out tha words that wood do it tha most good. Tha last direction says "When thoroughly mixed keep keg on belly for a week." Right then an' there I quit cause how tha hell cood a guy sleep, without figuring it might roll off in tha middle of tha night an' squash tha Mama (no such luck). After we finish it seems tha keg was leaking an' ate a hole 3 foot square in tha linoleum. Of course it coodn' affect one's stomach that way cause nobody's got one that big. After tha B. and C. sees what we done to tha floor we got tole that if tha dam hootch ain't thrun in tha alley in 2 minutes she wood call tha police, so I gave her 65c to go to tha nickel show which squared everything. Three o'clock this morning a explosion wrecked everything in our place. When tha police came they said it was a bomb an 'wanted to know if I had any enemys an' I gave 'em Norman's name and address.

"PRISON POPULATION Highest in New York State Records."—The Trib. And things like that always remind us when we were a trustful little soul and believed the loud mouthed orators who said in the years gone by: "Close the saloons by an act of congress and then tear down your jails, sell the poorhouses, abolish the divorce courts; they won't be needed." There's a moral in this somewhere. Roll your own.

A CHICAGO GIRL writes home from Paris: "The king of Spain has the room right over mine in the hotel and I can hear his valet drawing the royal bath just as plainly as if it were my own tub." But Alfonso is just plain Señor Bourbon now and we can't imagine how any one can get much of a kick out of hearing the valet draw his bath. But we Americans are an odd lot.

TRYING TO SLEEP IN HIS LIFE PRESERVER

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 3, 1915.

CHIASSO.—The first Italian shells have fallen in Trieste and the capital of Istria tonight is under an intermittent bombardment from a point near the mouth of the Isonzo, less than 12 miles away across the Gulf of Trieste.

BERLIN. — The German government, it is reported, is willing to pay the owners of the American steamships Gulflight and Cushing whatever damages may be asked as a result of the German attacks on these vessels. The German foreign office confirms the recent announcement that the Gulflight was torpedoed by error, the submarine mistaking it for a British ship.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson issued his ultimatum to the warring factions in Mexico. The President told them that they must cease their strife and set up a government in Mexico City which the powers of the world can recognize and deal with. If they do not do these things, the President said, the United States "will be constrained to decide what means are to be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico save itself and serve its people."

PARIS. — Continued gains by the allies on the western front are described by the war ministry. "In Belgium," it says, "British troops have carried at the point of the bayonet the Chateau Hooge, near Zonnebeke. To the southwest of Neuville St. Vaast we have repulsed the German counter attack in the 'labyrinth'."

CLEVELAND, O.—Gen. William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, and his son, Ballington Booth, of the Volunteers, are nearing the point of a reconciliation. The consolidation of the two great organizations will follow speedily on the healing of the breach formed five years ago. Gen. Booth has just announced his purpose of coming to America next fall. The quarrel arose over Gen. Booth's decision that Commander Booth-Tucker and his wife should head the Army in the United States and that Ballington should take charge of the Army in Canada, which he refused to do.

CHICAGO.—President Hanberg of the county board announced that he will appoint Edwin W. Sims county attorney to succeed J. A. Johnson.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—W. H. Klusmire, whose wife was found murdered near their home at Holton, Kas., buried in a shallow trench, was arrested in Kansas City, Kas. He declares that his wife killed herself on May 12 by hanging herself in the barn. He said he was afraid of the disgrace and buried her, telling his children that she had gone to Texas.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Two ballots were taken in the legislature in a fruitless effort to elect two United States senators to succeed Conkling and Platt, who resigned as a result of their row with President Garfield over appointments. On the first ballot Conkling had 34 votes and Platt 28, a loss of one each. On the second ballot Conkling's vote dropped to 33 while Platt's remained at 28. Gov. Cornell received 22 votes, a gain of 11, for the Conkling term and Chauncey M. Depew received 30 for the Platt term.

CHICAGO.—The funeral of Edward H. Hadduck took place from his late residence, 2976 Michigan avenue. The services were conducted by the Rev. Jeremiah Porter. There was a large attendance of business and professional men.

EDITORIAL.—Whenever the nominal proprietor of the Chicago Times—that is to say, the person who has the equity of redemption—will prove under oath, or have it proven by some one who respects the sanctity of an oath, that the Times "has by far the largest circulation of all the newspapers of Chicago—by far the largest," it will be time for THE TRIBUNE to give attention to his idle and idiotic trothing. The truth is the Times has no respectable city circulation. It does not go regularly into the homes of Chicago, and if it gets in by accident it is taken out with the tongs. What does Mr. Storey expect to accomplish by all his hard lying?

ACREAGE REDUCTION.

Ottumwa, Ia., May 23.—May 23.—In various newspapers we see the outcome of the wheat parley and we also note the surprising recommendations of the United States representatives that acreage be cut down.

Why will respectable papers print such nonsense, no matter who supplies it? Any thinking man must certainly know that American farmers will never cut down their acreage at a time when it is necessary to produce a maximum, seeing as the prices are so low, and with Russia and China producing a normal amount under a controlled marketing system, the only thing this idea of cutting down American acreage could mean will be to place our farmers in a still more helpless condition. And besides that, no matter what they say in this direction, there is no sane method, nor indeed any method at all suggested whereby the farmers can be compelled to quit farming, and why should they quit farming when things are still not cheap enough so that people are able to buy enough of what they need for an existence?

Would you kindly think up some sort of method whereby we can crowd the silly arguments out of the American press? G. P. OLSON.

THE COST OF TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Chicago, May 27.—I wonder if A. G. D. realizes that, comparatively speaking, the electric company can supply service with the use of only a few pairs of wires, the gas company with the use of only one main, but the telephone company requires millions of pairs of wires and intricate equipment to enable communication between subscribers.

A. G. D. stated they have a radio, vacuum cleaner, and an iron, in all probability bought from the electric company; also a gas stove from the gas company. The telephone company sells no by-products and therefore derives its revenue solely from the use of the telephone. If the gas and electric companies had to depend exclusively on the sale of gas and electric service I believe these consumers would find their bills much larger.

A TELEPHONE EMPLOYEE.

RATES AND WAGES.

Chicago, May 27.—The telephone company has not lowered its grade of service. On the contrary, it is among the leaders in striving to keep wages and living standards high in America, and this absolutely cannot be done by lowering rates and consequently salaries.

A NOTE FROM MR. JUSTICE FARMER.

Vandalia, Ill., May 23.—I wish to express my sincere thanks to you for the editorial concerning my service on the Supreme court. Whether I deserve the compliment or not, it is comforting to have the approval of such a newspaper as yours. WILLIAM M. FARMER.

TOSCANINI AND MUCK.

Chicago, May 28.—I have read about the treatment of Toscanini by the Fascists of Bologna. I presume you don't remember about Dr. Karl Muck in 1917 and what as director of the Boston orchestra he got for saying the "Star Spangled Banner" was not music fit for the orchestra to play.

KARL SEFELL.

OBSCURING THE LINCOLN MONUMENT.

Chicago, May 27.—Imagine if you can my dismay at learning a few days ago that the ugly excavation that mars the entrance to Lincoln park is in preparations for a great public building. Of all spots in Chicago that should be kept forever free from exploitation the south end of Lincoln park is that spot.

In my judgment, no building within the possible conception of man could justify the breaking of the view of the simple memorial to the immortal Lincoln. Chicago is poor enough at best in points of historic and patriotic interest. To think that the Lincoln park board, the custodian of the most noted and most highly esteemed point of public interest in our city, could agree to a plan that must for all time place the monument in a secondary position is beyond belief.

In its simple majesty, until now, the monument has dominated the south end of the park. Could not these few acres have remained so appropriately dedicated? Is Chicago so lacking in space that we must mar the beauty and effectiveness and symmetry of our most noted memorial?

Is it not true that in the hundreds of acres in Lincoln park there are scores of points that could have accommodated the proposed building? When the board voted to allow this desecration where was patriotic sentiment? Where was memory of Lincoln? Where was regard for the thousands of common people who pass on Clark street every day of every year? I impugn nobody's motives. I mourn that the evident absence of the greater vision for the greater value when this unfortunate decision was made.

I permit no citizen to surpass me in loyalty to the Chicago Historical society. I wish I had a million dollars to contribute toward a new building for this great and worthy institution. I submit, however, that willingness to erect the new building at such a point as must for all time subordinate the Lincoln monument is a glaring example of overzeal and bad taste. The thing is done. It is to weep. JOSEPH B. ROGERS.
Pastor La Salle Avenue Baptist church.

CORRECTING A 50 YEAR OLD ERROR.

Chicago, May 28.—On May 20 you had an article under the head of 50 years ago, stating that a monument to George B. Armstrong, the originator of the railway postal service, was unveiled at the northwest corner of Custom House block. I wish to say that I saw the monument unveiled and wish to state that at the time there was no Custom House block; it was either 3d or 4th avenue, anything but desirable streets, and the monument was unveiled at the southwest corner of Clark and Adams streets, where it remained for many years before being placed in the Adams street entrance to the present postoffice where it now stands.

There is also a fine monument to the same man in Rosehill cemetery not far from my own lot.

U. S. NO SHYLOCK OVER WAR DEBTS, GERMAN INSISTS

Fascist Leader Assails "Whining" Europe.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 2.—"That America as the world's Shylock and responsible for the world's failure to reestablish real peace and sound living conditions is a deliberate falsehood which is being spread systematically throughout Europe by politicians who hope to reap fat profits out of international hatred against America."

This was the statement made tonight by Count Ernst von Reventlow, one of the leaders of the Fascist party, who is scheduled to become Germany's foreign minister, should Adolf Hitler's National Socialists win control of the German government from their vantage point as the second strongest party in the republic.

Masses Take Up Cue.

As members of the German government are packing their bags for their trip to Chequers to confer with British ministers of state on what can be done to improve living conditions and clear the European political atmosphere, reparations have come into the limelight and "the American Shylock" is getting the widest publicity in the bourgeois and Socialist press. The masses are taking their cue from these attacks.

Many Germans, when asked about political or business conditions, will insist that "nothing can improve until the reparations payments are reduced or canceled, and naturally that cannot be done until America reduces her allies' debts."

Hans-Erdmann von Lindeiner-Wildau, one of the chiefs of the Conservative People's party; August Abel, a reichstag member of the younger German order, and Count von Reventlow and a score of others, when interviewed on reparations, pointed out that Germany is paying 1,729,000,000 gold marks this year ($432,250,000).

"Most of this is passed on to America immediately," supporters of the "Shylock theory" explain.

But that is not true, others insist, declaring that France, England, Italy, Jugo-Slavia, Belgium, Portugal, Roumania, and Greece made payments on their war debts to America out of the reparations from Germany, but only 1,027,000,000 gold marks ($256,750,000). They assert that the balance, an annual sum of $175,500,000, remains in the pockets of the European allies and Japan, with the exception of England, Rumania, and Greece, who, they say, are not profiteering on reparations payments.

"The French and others complain that they must refund the money they borrowed," Count von Reventlow said. "They are pretending to forget completely the stupendous war booty they are sharing. The vast territories of Germany, the bulk of the German ships, German state property in ceded lands, German concessions, and German colonies all went to the allies, while America, who took no booty, has a hard time getting back part of the cash she gave the allies to carry on their conquests."

HISTORIANS REFUSE TO BLAME GERMANY IN WAR GUILT QUIZ

BERLIN, June 2.—(AP)—The Berliner Montasheftер publishes in its June issue what it says is the result of a questionnaire on Germany's war guilt sent to 70 prominent historians and jurists of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and European neutral countries.

Three questions were asked. In answer to the first, "Did Germany, in your opinion, purposely plan and bring about the world war?" the vote was 53 no, 13 indefinite, and 5 yes. The second question was: "Do you believe that Germany forced the war on the allied and associated powers?" Forty-nine answered no; 13 answers were indefinite and eight answered yes.

In answer to the third question: "Do you believe the Versailles verdict was based upon incomplete, biased and partly falsified evidence?" 51 yes, 13 were indefinite and one voted no. Americans who returned answers favorable to Germany included, among others, Kurt Laues of Chicago. Bernadotte Schmitt of Chicago and Preston W. Slosson returned adverse verdicts.

MINERS' STRIKES IN PITTSBURGH AREA SPREADING

Employes at fourteen mines in southwestern Pennsylvania have quit work, and the United Mine Workers of America said that 300 miners employed by the River Seam Coal company in Monongalia county, West Virginia, struck today. More than a score of northern West Virginia mines are affected by strikes.

Patrick T. Fagan, Pittsburgh district president of the United Mine Workers, said the U. M. W. called the strike in his district "because the operators are paying only 30 cents a ton for loading coal, and with company check weighmen, the men actually get 15 cents a ton."

He said 4,000 miners in the district had quit work.

REDS UPSET AN EVICTION, BUT LANDLORD WINS

New York, June 2.—(AP)—Eviction of a family in a lower east side tenement for nonpayment of rent today caused a demonstration by approximately 100 communists and the arrest of 44 persons.

The communists, who had been attending a meeting near by, marched to the house singing the "Internationale," and carried the furnishings back to the apartment.

Police, summoned by the janitor, found a crowd of 1,000 persons about the house.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARMELO, Uruguay, June 2.—Alberto Wolkoff, a young sportsman, claims he was in a state of somnambulism today when he walked into an airdrome, stepped into an airplane and started on a solo flight. After taxiing for some distance he smashed the machine against a wall but escaped any injury. Wolkoff said he has no recollections of his actions before the smash.

THOMPSON, NEW MEMBER, TALKS OF FARM BOARD

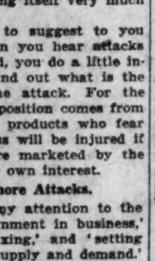
Quincy, Ill., June 2.—[Special.]—Samuel H. Thompson, recently appointed member of the federal farm board to succeed Alexander Legge, was tendered a banquet here tonight by his home town people and delivered his first address since his appointment by President Hoover.



S. H. THOMPSON.

"I believe the farm board program is sound and will produce beneficial effects," Mr. Thompson told his hearers.

"I would like to suggest to you farmers that when you hear attacks on the farm board, you do a little investigating and find out what is the motive behind the attack. For the most part this opposition comes from handlers of farm products who fear that their business will be injured if these products are marketed by the producers in their own interest.

Says to Ignore Attacks.

"Do not pay any attention to the talk about 'government in business,' 'artificial price fixing,' and 'setting aside the law of supply and demand.' The facts are—it is the farmers who are going into the business of marketing their own products and not the government. In coöperative marketing there is no desire or power to fix prices artificially, but, instead, the purpose is to market the products of farmer members in such a way as to reflect back to those members the full price paid by the consumer, less, of course, the necessary marketing cost, and if any profits are made they belong to the farmer members.

For Fairness to Both Sides.

"The purpose is to make the law of supply and demand operate for both sides in the transaction and not against the producer, as happens so much of the time under the old system of marketing farm products."

Judge Frees Frank Lake; Scores Police for Arrest

Frankie Lake, beer baron and erstwhile fireman, was freed yesterday when arraigned before Judge Francis Borrelli on a vagrancy charge. Lake testified that he is now in the ice business in Detroit but sells no beer to go with his ice. Judge Borrelli criticized the police and prosecutors, accusing them of arresting a man and then looking for evidence.

CARDINAL TO ATTEND MUNDELEIN COLLEGE DEDICATION TODAY

Cardinal Mundelein will officiate today at the formal dedication of the new Mundelein college for girls on the Loyola university campus. The college, a fifteen story structure in gray stone, has been in use since September, 1930, and has about 400 students.

The exercises will begin at 10 a. m. with a processional played on the pipe organ which was the cardinal's gift to the college. Miss Helen O'Gara, of the class of 1932, will deliver an address of welcome and the cardinal will then leave the auditorium for an inspection of the whole building. The ceremonies will end with a solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Members of the clergy and the religious orders have been invited to attend. The college is conducted by the Sisters of Charity, B. V. M.

Detroit Plans to Pension Its Aged Poor Citizens

The system, it was explained, would be less expensive for the city than would care of the eligibles in the infirmary.

Head of Defunct Asheville Bank Sentenced Today

Asheville, N. C., June 2.—(AP)—Judge M. V. Barnhill this afternoon adjourned Superior court until tomorrow morning without sentencing Wallace B. Davis, former bank president, who has been convicted of making a false report of the condition of the now defunct Central Bank and Trust company of Asheville.

BRITAIN ACCUSES SHIP MAGNATE OF NEW FRAUD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 2.—A new accusation was made today against Lord Kylsant, chairman of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company, when he appeared in the police court for a review of the charges against him for causing the publication of false balance sheets of his company in 1926 and 1927. The prosecution charged that Lord Kylsant had issued a false prospectus of his company's position in June, 1928. The new charge does not apply to Harold J. Morland, an accountant for Price Waterhouse & Co., who is accused of signing Kylsant's balance sheets for 1926 and 1927 knowing they were false.

Lord Kylsant, as Sir Owen Phillips, rose to power in shipping circles and became the head of the Royal Mail company, which controls several subsidiary companies, including the White Star line.

It is alleged that Lord Kylsant sought to show that his company had made large trading profits, whereas it had incurred serious losses during 1926 and 1927. The prosecution today declared that the company's statement for 1926 erred by about $5,800,000, and for 1927 by about $5,600,000. It is alleged these sums were taken from large hidden reserves not disclosed to the stockholders.

WILL STOP CONTEST ON OLSON-SONSTEBY VOTE, JARECKI SAYS

The recount of the votes cast at the election last November for Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court and Harry Olson, former chief ustice, who was defeated for reelection, will be stopped, County Judge Jarecki indicated yesterday, and Judge Sonsteby will be officially declared the winner. The final decision in the case was postponed until next Tuesday.

In a recount of ballots in 275 precincts, Olson, who lost by 16,401 votes, showed a net gain of only 342 votes, or an average of one and one-quarter votes per precinct. To overtake Sonsteby in the recount Olson should have gained five and a half votes in each precinct.

At the same time Judge Jarecki announced that the recount of the votes given to Judge George V. McIntyre will be continued. His election is being contested by former Judge Charles F. McKinley, who lost by only 2,381 votes. In 275 precincts McKinley has gained 1,094 votes and lacks only 1,288 votes to be declared the winner.

• Discouraged? • Clear Away Poisons • To Restore Pep •

If that's the way you feel, cheer up! It's easy to locate the cause of those draggy, pepless days. And it's equally simple to correct it.

Now, any doctor will tell you that unnatural tiredness is one of the very first symptoms of intestinal poisoning and fatigue.

The reason is this. When intestines grow sluggish, waste matter accumulates and stagnates there. Poisons seep through your system. Headaches, bad breath, coated tongue and loss of energy ensue.

Any doctor will tell you! Your body is poisoning itself

This trouble must be corrected, of course. But be very careful how you go about it. Don't weaken your system further with strong cathartics, laxatives and pills.

Just eat yeast—Fleischmann's Yeast—regularly, like any other food. The clogging waste matter in your body will be softened—intestines "toned up"—normal elimination restored.

And in addition, fresh yeast stimulates secretion of digestive juices ... enables you to derive the utmost nourishment from your food.

So don't deprive yourself of top-notch health! Start eating Fleischmann's Yeast today. Each cake is rich in vitamins B, G and D. At grocers', restaurants, soda fountains. Directions on the label.

Always ask for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label) ... the only yeast "irradiated" to give it the Sunshine Vitamin D! Rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

GANDHI EXPLAINS WHY HE GAVE UP WEARING CLOTHES

He Seeks to Emphasize Poverty of His People.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AHMADABAD, India, June 2.—How the plight of millions of his fellow countrymen, living half naked because they had no clothes and half starved because they had no food, led to his adopting the loin cloth as his only garb was explained today by Mahatma Gandhi.

The ascetic leader of 350,000,000 brown men said he had no apologies to offer for either walking up the steps of the magnificent vice regal lodge in Delhi "half naked," as Winston Churchill complained, nor would he don any other clothes were he invited to Buckingham palace to see the king of England.

Sets Mr. Churchill Right.

"A critic has fallen foul of my remark that Indian civilization must not be allowed to be wiped out by the inroads from the west," he says. "The critic has confused Indian civilization with the loin cloth and then condemned it.

"Mr. Churchill has been kind enough gratuitously to advertise my loin cloth to the whole world. It has, therefore, become the fashion to laugh at it as the said critic has done. Let me then explain what it means.

"In 1921 Maulan Mahomed Ali (who died in London during the round table conference) was arrested at Waltair while he and I were going on a tour to the south. He was torn from his wife, Begum Mahomed Ali, who was traveling with us. I was deeply moved. She bore the separation bravely and attended meetings in Madras. I left her at Madras and went as far as Madura. On the way I saw in our compartment crowds that were wholly unconcerned with what had happened. Almost without exception they were bedecked in foreign fineries."

Points to Naked Millions.

Gandhi says he asked them why they didn't wear khadi (homespun cloth) and they replied they were too poor.

"I realized the substratum of truth behind that remark. I had my vest, cap, and full dhoti (Hindu trousers) on. When these uttered only partial truth, the millions of compulsorily naked men, save for their langoti (loin cloth) 6 inches wide and nearly as many feet long, gave their bare limbs the naked truth. What effective answer could I give them if it was not to divest myself of every inch of clothing I decently could and thus to a still greater extent bring myself in line with the ill clad masses?" And this I did the very next morning after the Madura meeting.

"Here, then, is no question of loin cloth civilization. The adoption of loin cloth was for me a sheer necessity. But insofar as the loin cloth spells simplicity, let it represent civilization.

Rape European Civilization.

"European civilization is no doubt suited for the Europeans, but it will mean ruin for India, if we endeavor to copy it. The incessant search for material comforts and their multiplication is an evil, and I make bold to say that the Europeans themselves will have to remodel their outlook if they are not to perish under the weight of the comforts to which they are becoming slaves."

"Let us engrave on our hearts the motto of a western philosopher: 'Plain living and high thinking.' Today it is certain that the millions cannot have high living and we, the few who profess to do the thinking for the masses, run the risk, in a vain search after high living, of missing high thinking."

WOMEN OF INDIA DEMAND RIGHT TO DIVORCE, REWED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CALCUTTA, June 2.—Angry Indian women, whose place a generation ago was in the home and nowhere else, stood up at the final sitting of the All Bengal Women's congress here and sternly demanded:

1. The immediate abolition of polygamy among Indian males.

2. The strict enforcement of the Sarda act with a view to putting a stop to child marriage. [The Sarda act prohibits marriage of girls under 14 years of age. Previous to its enactment Hindus often married their daughters at the age of 6.]

Want Right to Divorce.

3. The right of Hindu women to divorce.

4. The right of Hindu widows to remarry.

5. The abolition of the system of purdah. [About ten million Indian women, mostly Mohammedan, still are imprisoned in purdah. That is, they must pass their lives shut off in certain sections of their homes, where they are never seen except by their husbands, brothers and fathers. When, occasionally, in the case of the poorer ones especially, they are permitted to go out they must hide their faces behind thick veils and cover their limbs to the ground.]

6. Equal facilities with men in the sphere of trade, commerce and the professions.

Revolt at Divorce.

This meeting of Bengali women, which would have been impossible a few years ago, so limited was a woman's sphere in life, passed the above resolutions unanimously except for No. 3.

On this the inherest conservatism of Indian womanhood revolted and a warm battle ensued.

"What will happen to the chastity of our women if we permit divorce?" cried Mrs. Anuraupa Devi, a Hindu.

This is a particularly sore point with Hindus, for a great part of their strict and complicated social system is designed to protect the chastity of womanhood. It is the reason usually advanced for child marriage, the orthodox Hindu maintaining that a girl married at 6 or 10 or even 12 is sure to be pure for her husband.

Fears Disruption of Society.

Mrs. Anuraupa Devi said she feared that the right to divorce meant the disruption of Hindu society, "owing to the loosening of the standard of chastity and morality among Hindu women which has so long been their most priceless heritage."

She was supported by several delegates.

Mrs. Sarala Devi sprang up to refute such talk. American and European women divorce when necessary and it would not be fair to say that their standard of chastity and morality had fallen, she maintained.

Resolution Is Passed.

Most of the women thought so, too. The resolution giving the Hindu women the right to divorce was carried by a large majority.

The women's movement in India has made tremendous strides since the war. Mahatma Gandhi and the British officials agree that it was the participation of thousands of Indian women of all classes and castes which made the recent civil disobedience movement so successful.

GIRL'S IMPORTERS HELD AFTER SHE KILLS COMPANION

The police yesterday held Ambrose Rozakies, 32 years old, and his brother, George, 30, for prosecution by the government on Mann act charges following the slaying of Nicholas Colantonio by a girl whom the Rozakies brothers brought here from Hot Springs, Ark.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. The girl, Helen Deal, 18 years old, who left her home in Sidney, Ohio, on Jan. 1 to join a circus, told how the Rozakies brothers induced her to follow them from Fort Wayne, Ind., to Hot Springs, and then to Chicago.

She said they arranged for her to live with Colantonio at 169 West Locust street, and become an inmate of a vice resort disguised as a massage parlor. The shooting occurred after a quarrel with another girl over the affections of Colantonio.

Woman, 65, Gets Year in Prison for Dry Violations

Beatrice, Neb., June 2.—(AP)—Minnie Forden, 65, was sentenced by District Judge Fred Mesmore yesterday to a year in the penitentiary for a third violation of the prohibition laws. She might have been committed to the women's reformatory at York, but she expressed a preference for the penitentiary.

ENGLISH BEAUTY COMES TO RENO FOR A DIVORCE

Reno, Nev., June 2.—(AP)—Lady June Inverclyde, beautiful blond wife of John Alan Burns, wealthy official of the Cunard Steamship company, said today she expects to file suit for divorce here either tomorrow or Thursday and leave immediately thereafter for Beverly Hills, Cal.

She said she would remain in the southern California city for several weeks, returning to Reno in August for the divorce trial.

Lady Inverclyde expressed the hope her titled husband would likewise get a divorce in England, because that would leave her free to marry again without violating Britain's bigamy laws. Should Lord Inverclyde not do so, she said she probably would return to the London stage, where Julian Wylie, producer, has an option on her services.

The name of Lothar Mendes, Paramount motion picture director, has been frequently linked with that of Lady Inverclyde, but today she refused to admit they were other than friends.

Only this coffee

HILLS BROS COFFEE WOULD NEVER HAVE THE FLAVOR THAT MAKES IT SO WELCOME IF IT WERE ROASTED BY ORDINARY METHODS. . . . THE SECRET IS HILLS BROS' PATENTED, CONTINUOUS PROCESS—CONTROLLED ROASTING

COFFEE drinking became a new joy when Hills Bros. discovered the perfect way to roast their famous blend. For by their continuous process of roasting a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk, rare aroma and delicious flavor are developed, such as no other coffee has.

As a cook, you can see the value of Hills Bros.' patented process. It is in harmony with your rule of preparing your choicest food. When you handle small quantities you can keep everything under control—mixing, seasoning, cooking. Likewise, Hills Bros. can control the roasting of every berry.

When you open a can of Hills Bros. Coffee it is as rich in aroma and flavor as when it came from the roasters. The vacuum can in which it is packed excludes air, which destroys the flavor of coffee. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, will not keep coffee fresh. Remember this!

Try Hills Bros. Coffee. It is sold everywhere. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

GEN. MacARTHUR LASHES PACIFISM OF CLERGYMEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 2.—[Special.]—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff, today roundly assailed those pacifist clergymen who go on record as announcing they would refuse to bear arms for their country in event of war. He asserted that such an attitude on the part of clergymen was unchristian, a menace to law and order and an unauthorized invasion of the political field by the church.

The MacArthur denunciation of the clergymen-pacifists was prompted by a letter he received from Kirby Page, editor of the World Tomorrow, in which it was stated that a majority of 19,000 clergymen polled by the magazine had stated they would refuse to bear arms for their country. The views of the chief of staff were included in a letter sent in response to a request by Mr. Page for an expression of opinion on the results of the poll.

In his communication, Gen. MacArthur charged that by refusing to bear arms, clergymen stampede themselves as exponents of law violation at individual pleasure. He added further that such clergymen "in effect proclaim their willingness to see this nation perish rather than participate in its defense."

Stirs Official Washington.

The bitterness of the attack on the pacifist clergymen caused a mild sensation in official Washington as soon as it became public. In many quarters it was interpreted as an indication that the war department, aroused by recent pacifist attacks against national defense, had decided to carry the fight to their opponents. Inquiry at the White House brought forth the response that President Hoover had no previous knowledge of the letter prior to its publication.

"My predominant feeling with reference to the majority of the replies received by your paper from 19,372 clergymen is that of surprise," Gen. MacArthur said.

"The question of war and peace is one that rests under our form of government, in congress. In exercising this authority congress voices the will of the majority, whose right to rule is the cornerstone upon which our governmental edifice is built. Under the constitution its pronouncement on suc ha question is final, and is obligatory upon every citizen of the United States. That men who wear the cloth of the church should openly defend repudiation of the laws of the land seems almost unbelievable. It will certainly hearten every potential or actual criminal who either has or contemplates breaking some other law. Anomalous as it seems, it apparently stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure.

Right to Seek Change in Law.

"I am mindful of the right accorded every American citizen to endeavor by lawful means to secure such changes in the constitution of statutes as he may desire. But to concede to him the right to defy existing law is to recognize a state of anarchy and the collapse of properly constituted authority.

"It also surprises me that while apparently entering a plea for freedom of conscience, these clergymen are attempting to dictate to the conscience of those who honestly differ om them over questions of national defense. Their sentiments and implied efforts are injecting the church into the affairs of state and endangering the very principle t at they claim to uphold.

"May I also express surprise that some have lost sight of the fact that in none of our past wars have clergymen been required to bear arms.

Asks a Few Questions.

"A few questions occur to me that could be appropriately asked the clergymen who replied to your questionnaire. In stating that they were in favor of the United States taking the lead in reducing armament did they know the existing total of our land forces, including regular army, National Guard and organized reserves is about one-third of one per cent of our population? Did they know that in other great countries this ratio is from 3 to 45 times as great? Did they know our total forces in actual aise are exceeded by those of at least 15 other nations, although in population we are exceeded only by Russia, China and India?

"Have not those who oppose our modest and reasonable efforts for national defense miscalculated the temper and innate spirt of patriotism in the average American? The fact that our citizens' military training camps are oversubscribed long before the opening of the camps comforts me that patiotism is still a dominant power in our land."

HONORED

LIEUT. HYMAN G. RICKOVER.

Lieut. Hyman G. Rickover, U. S. N., of Chicago, attached to the submarine S-48, has been commended in a special order by Secretary of the Navy Adams for unusual heroism in saving the life of an enlisted man. The action occurred on May 7 in the Canal Zone. Augustin Pasis, a mess attendant, fell overboard at the Coco Solo submarine base and was drowning when the lieutenant went overboard after him and held his head above water until help arrived. Lieut. Rickover's home is at 1455 South Hamlin avenue. He is 27 years old.

NAME OF MAYOR USED IN FAKE; TWO ARRESTED

Complaint of south side merchants led yesterday to the arrest of Elton La Pook, 6828 Parnell avenue, and Harry Desser, 7455 Merrill avenue, who were charged with selling worthless advertising for a "victory edition" of the "South Town Democrat," said to be a ficticious publication. The "victory edition" was to have been published in honor of Mayor Cermak who was to have been tendered a banquet in a loop hotel, according to the representation of La Pook and Desser.

After the two had sold advertising space in the edition to some 30 bakers, butchers and grocers on the south side, police of the east side district arrested them in the bakery shop of Roy Linn, 10500 Ewing avenue.

MRS. CHANNELL, JUST DIVORCED, WEDS I. L. WISE

Mrs. Amelia P. Channell, divorced wife of Charles A. Channell, millionaire former head of the O'Cedar Mop company, was married to Irwin L. Wise, an engineer for the Insull interests, at Waukegan yesterday. Mrs. Channell was granted a divorce on May 26 and is reported to have received a settlement of $290,000.

Mrs. Channell has lived in an apartment at 180 East Delaware place. Mr. Wise lived in another apartment in that building with his mother. Neither could be reached last night. They were married by Justice Wallenwein.

Pardon Board Hears Plea They Free Wounded Bandit

A committee of the state board of pardons and paroles yesterday heard a plea for parole on behalf of Stanley Marowski, 32 years old, who was sent to the Joliet penitentiary in 1925 to serve 10 years to life for robbery. Marowski's health is bad, due to a wound suffered when he was shot by a guard while attempting to escape two years ago. His attorney, informed the board could not release him until he had served ten years, said an effort will be made to have Gov. Emmerson pardon him. The committee members, A. V. Essington, Thomas Cannon, and the Rev. R. Keene Ryan, will continue their hearings today.

PERSONALLY ESCORTED

Sailings June to September

CRUISE to the heart of Old French-Canada. We take you by rail to Toronto, Queen City of Canada, where your foreign adventure begins. You set sail on a luxurious steamer, one of the world's largest fresh water fleet. You will visit, en route, Montreal—the metropolis, and the fortress city of Quebec, Gibraltar of North America.

You will cruise among the Thousand Islands—set like a thousand jewels in azure blue waters, experience the thrills of shooting the great St. Lawrence Rapids. Near Quebec you will pay your respects at the miracle shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupré and hear the thunder of Montmorency Falls, higher than Niagara.

Beyond Quebec the high Laurentians follow the St. Lawrence and you cruise in the shadow of these ancient mountains. The steamer puts in at fashionable Murray Bay, and quaint and lovely Tadoussac, Canada's oldest settlement. The glory of the Saguenay River, seen at sunset and again at dawn, is a spectacle to impress the most widely travelled. The wild grandeur of Trinity Bay, guarded by the tremendous capes, Trinity and Eternity—the ship's siren reverberating like giant laughter among the eternal hills—gives you a touch of the loneliness, austerity and beauty of the silent places.

A spirit of gaiety prevails for the entire journey, and there is not a dull moment on ship or shore. You dance every evening to the music of a lively orchestra. Delicious meals satisfy ravenous appetites. You will vote this the best vacation ever.

Remember, every expense on this enjoyable cruise has been foreseen and included in the figure quoted above, as well as stop-overs at important hotels en route. A courteous escort relieves you of every travel worry.

GERMANY-U. S. IN 24 MINUTES BY MAIL ROCKET

Builders Confident It Can Be Done.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 2.—Thrilling experiments are being carried out daily at Berlin's "rocket airdrome" by Germany's Interplanetary society, which is confident that in a very few years no new mail rockets will reach America in 24 minutes.

The "rocket airdrome," a half hour's auto ride from Berlin, lies in a twenty acre plot. It is a former army ammunition reserve dump. Several buildings that were once powder magazines are still surrounded by high mud walls used to dim any possible explosion. In a wooden hut four experts, Rudolph Nebel, Klaus Riedel, Ralph Engel, and Knut Heinisch, all men of science and under 30 years, are struggling to do for the rocket plane, and the mail rocket, what the Wright brothers did for the airplane and Marconi did for wireless.

Working on Rocket Motor.

"We are at the present primarily interested in the rocket motor," Klaus Riedel said. "Most people wonder how we will steer the mail rocket after we have started it. We will do it by radio, and finally through a photocell that will react to a light at the goal the rocket is to reach. A parachute will open and let the rocket sink slowly to the ground at almost the exact spot we wish it to reach. Then radio signals in the rocket will make it possible to find it.

"What is annoying us is the motor. We must get the rocket up into the stratosphere. Our model, called the "minimum rocket," is getting to the point where we are almost satisfied with it."

In another building the actual manufacture of rockets is under way. The engineers borrowed machinery to work with metal and gas. Pointing to an odd looking device, equipped with two tubes, Riedel said:

How Rocket Works.

"One of these tubes contains gasoline, the other liquid oxygen. The cup is the motor. Here the combustion of the two takes place. The reaction is such a fierce one that the pressure of it shoots this whole frame upward."

The contraption was taken to the edge of the field and the spectators ordered behind a hill.

Liquid oxygen was poured into the second tube, which is about three feet long. Then the device was put into a frame standing in front of the low window of a shed. The window was covered with sand bags. The engineers got behind the sacks in the building and with a long electric connection ignited the motor. There was a hissing sound, a glaring flame, and, at first slowly, then faster, the whole mechanism lifted itself into the air. It soared several hundred feet, and when the fuel was exhausted, fell back and landed in a tree.

"Had there been more fuel the rocket would have kept going for a long time," an engineer explained. "We will soon have a rocket large enough to hold sufficient fuel for a journey to any part of the world."

FALLS IN LAKE; DIES OF SHOCK.

John Piotrowski, 41 years old, 1452 Tell place, a butcher, died of heart disease yesterday after falling into the lake while fishing from the pier at Illinois street. The shock caused a heart attack which was followed by death.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 2.—Government parties, united with the Liberals and German minorities, won 275 out of the 387 seats in the parliamentary elections today.

Not more than 50 per cent of the voters went to the polls. Outstanding features were that the government party was supported by the Liberals, who but a year and a half ago were the arch enemies of King Carol and opposed his return from exile, and that the communists and Socialists in Transylvania and other provinces, who cast only 500 votes at the last election, today polled more than 40,000.

The National Peasants' party secured 43 seats against their 349 in the 1928 elections. George Bratianu's party won 14 seats, the Hungarians 10, Socialists 6, and the communists 4. The minority parties obtained 35 seats. Prof. Nicolas Jorga's cabinet, approved by King Carol in April, now has sufficient majority to continue in office.

WEST SIDE GIVES FETE FOR CERMAK TOMORROW NIGHT

A public reception for Mayor Cermak, sponsored by a joint committee of west side civic organizations, is to be held in Garfield park tomorrow evening. William Druley, president of the Garfield Park Business Men's association, is chairman of the committee whose membership includes Gen. R. E. Wood, president of Sears Roebuck & Co.; Edward N. Hurley Jr., president of the Hurley Machine company; C. L. Rice, vice president of the Western Electric company; George P. Madigan of Madigan Brothers, and Col. George Gaw, president of the Gaw-O'Hara Envelope company.

Mayor Cermak, W. R. James, president of the west parks board, and Ald. John S. Clark, chairman of the council finance committee, will speak.

A reception parade will escort the mayor to the Garfield park band stand where the program will take place.

COMPANION HELD IN SLAYING OF CABARET SINGER

Harry Monahan, 1507 West Marquette road, was arrested yesterday by Lieut. Edward Webber of the county highway police as a suspect in the slaying of John Keane, 7806 South Paulina street, a cabaret singer who was found dead on a cinder path near 103d street and Oxford avenue in Chicago Ridge last Sunday.

A bank book and other papers bearing Monahan's name were found near Keane's body. Lieut. Webber said Monahan admitted having been with Keane last Saturday night in a tour of south side cabarets, but denied knowing anything about Keane's death.

Deputy Coroner Roy Conerty determined that death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage apparently caused by a blow. The police believe Keane was killed in a road house brawl and his body taken to the sequestered spot where it was found.

Two Boys will Go Adventuring this Summer

HOW TWO FAR-SEEING PARENTS WILL HELP THEIR SONS TO KNOW MORE ABOUT THE PRACTICAL THINGS OF LIFE

ON a bright clear morning this month, two boys will step eagerly into a Ford roadster and start on a motor trip that will last the whole summer through.

Theirs will be a trip never to be forgotten . . . long to be remembered.

Regular school will have closed for them, but their practical education will be but beginning. They will learn many things not found in books. Two far-seeing parents have attended to that.

Pressed by the boys to give them an automobile as reward for passing with high grades, the parents consented on one condition . . . that the trip must serve a useful purpose. So this plan was decided on.

Each day the boys will arise at seven o'clock and follow a carefully arranged route and schedule. This calls for their visiting principal points of interest in this country and spending time in leading industrial plants. They will get back to the sources of raw materials—see how things are mined and grown—and follow them through the various stages of manufacture. They will see how they are used by millions of people.

Bustling factories will teach of the work of men and machines. The village farms and wide, rolling prairies will reveal the magic of nature and the treasures that lie beneath the soil. Everywhere—through first-hand contact—they will learn more about the great country in which they live.

Thrown a great deal on their own resources—yet not too much—they will develop a poise and self-relianee they could get in no other way. The theory of books will become the actuality of fact.

Each night they will sit down and write a letter telling what they have seen and what they have done in that particular day. And two proud parents at home will read and envy and prepare perbaps to set forth on a similar adventure.

It seems altogether natural and logical that the Ford was selected for an extended trip of this kind. Always it has been associated with dependable, economical useful transportation. For more than a quarter of a century it has been both pioneer and leader.

Years ago it was the first automobile ever seen in many of the sections the boys will visit. Today it is a part of the lives and activities of millions of men and women. So universal is its service that people everywhere look upon it not only as an automobile but a national institution. It is the symbol and the expression of high value at low price, unique manufacturing methods, and higher wages for American workmen.

Many thousands of miles of use will confirm your first impression of quality and give you a feeling of pride and satisfaction in the performance of the Ford. You will come back from the long trip convinced that it is "a great car."

MEDICAL PLANK WOULD CUT HIGH COST OF ILLNESS

Draft Platform in Warm Election Campaign.

The spirited election campaign of the Chicago Medican society will be marked today by the mailing of a statement to the 4,500 members in behalf of the ticket headed by Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer, candidate for president elect. This slate is known by its sponsors as the "anti-gag" ticket. It is placed in nomination by petition of the members of the society in opposition to the regular ticket, headed by Dr. Edward H. Ochsner, which was chosen by the council of the society.

The appeal for Dr. Kretschmer is in the form of a creed, and it contains a clause urging that means by found to reduce the cost of illness. This is regarded as unusual from a group of organized physicians.

Liberty of Expression.

"We, the candidates of the anti-gag rule ticket," says the appeal for the Kretschmer ticket, "hereby take upon ourselves the liberty of self-expression. He honor the men of our guild who stand for idealism in medicine and zeal for the common welfare. We believe in equal opportunity for all members of the medical society.

"We acknowledge our responsibilities in the care of the children and we express our earnest desire to co-operate with all other associations in the treatment of the 430,000 children of Chicago who are afflicted with defects that can be relieved or cured.

"We conscientiously accept our civic obligation to spread the knowledge of preventive medicine and particularly in regard to the diseases of the heart, kidneys, and with cancer that are now exhibiting the highest mortality.

Appeal for Lower Costs.

"We aim to protect the docter in the practice of his profession and at the same time find a means whereby the cost of illness, for which the physician is only 20 per cent responsible, can be reduced.

"We stand for a constructive service which will guard the health of the individual and of the community not only now but under the greater stress of the approaching World's Fair."

The election is to be held on June 16.

KIEFER ON HIS 3D HONEYMOON WITH BRIDE ON HER 2D

Edwin Kiefer, 30 years old, son of a wealthy Highland Park plastering contractor, and his first wife, Mrs. Norma Kiefer, were married late Monday night at Waukegan by Justice of the Peace Henry J. Wallenstein. They departed on a honeymoon trip.

The bride divorced Kiefer in 1927. He was later married to a second wife, who obtained a divorce on charges of cruelty last Friday.

The second wife, Marie, named the first Mrs. Kiefer as co-respondent, and Kiefer admitted in court that he planned to remarry his first wife. Mrs. Marie Kiefer received the custody of her 3 months old son and was given a $35,000 home in Highland Park in lieu of alimony. It was announced that she would make her home with the parents of her ex-husband.

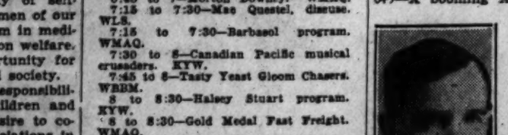
YANKEE MAYORS VISIT HOME OF 'MARSEILLAISE'

Hoan Responds to Toasts in Strasbourg.

STRASBOURG, France, June 2.—(AP)—A booming Alsatian band, here in the town where the Marseillaise was created during the French revolution, greeted the visiting American mayors with that anthem and the "Star Spangled Banner" on their arrival from Nancy tonight.



MAYOR D. W. HOAN.

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, Wis., responding to toasts in behalf of the party, said: "France sent us Pere Marquette, La Salle, Champlain, and helped us with the revolution. She gave us Louisiana at a low price and sent us pioneers to establish our American cities. She sent over her engineers, her artists and musicians, her literary men, and finally Coste and Bellonte.

"Therefore we come here with a great deal of gratitude. We know the United States is looking for peace and we hope and pray that this will be the spirit of our journey."

Reds Not Invited.

Because Strasbourg has a communist mayor and municipal council they were not invited. Vice President de la Pre of the National Touring council presided instead, while on his right sat Mme. Fernand Herrenschmidt, vice president of the Franco-American committee, and on his left Mayor Baker of Portland, Ore.

Many of the mayors' party were so tired with the long day of receptions at Nancy that they begged to be excused from tonight's banquet.

The entire delegation expressed themselves as sorry to leave Nancy. The students of the university there, where Poincare and other famous Frenchmen studied, came to the train in quaint costumes and serenaded the mayors.

Mayor Distributes Dimes.

Marshal Lyautey, who is a native of Lorraine, sent a telegram expressing his regret that he was unable to welcome them there and containing a message for Betty Smith, 15 year old daughter of the mayor of Kansas City.

Mayor Richard L. Metcalfe of Omaha, after a stirring speech on the subject of the battlefields of France, which brought tears to all eyes, delighted the youngsters of Nancy by distributing silver dimes among them. The youngsters were under the impression that he was John D. Rockefeller Sr. until some grown-ups disillusioned them. The party will leave Strasbourg at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Mayors Given Medals.

Mayor Malval of Nancy addressed the mayors, recalling Lorraine's friendship and gratitude to the United States. Mayor Franklin D. Lane of Phoenix, Ariz., replied.

UNION OFFICIAL REFUSES TO SHOW RECORDS TO JURY

The grand jury investigation of the Motion Picture Operators' union was halted yesterday when Thomas F. Reynolds, president of the union, appeared before the jury without the records of his organization, ignoring a subpœna duces tecum which had been issued for them. Reynolds, accompanied by Attorney Michael Ahern, counsel for the union, asserted he would not produce the records.

As a result Charles Lounsbury, assistant state's attorney, went before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court, who ordered Reynolds to show cause on Friday why he should not be cited for contempt of court for refusal to comply with the subpœna.

The attorneys said they would make a test case of this action, to determine the authority of a subpœna duces tecum.

The investigation of the union was begun after charges of unfair and improper management of the organization had been made by certain motion picture house proprietors.

FATHER AND SON FEUD STARTED BY BLOW IS ENDED

A father and son feud which began two years ago when the son in anger struck his father in the face was ended in Municipal court yesterday when Judge Thomas A. Green succeeded in reconciling the two.

The father, Frank Spachman, 55 years old, 3216 North Cicero avenue, had sued the son, Francis Spachman, 23 years old, 1928 Lockwood avenue, for $950 damages as a result of the blow.

Judge Green, when the case came up called the two into his chambers, lectured them on the sanctity of the home and blood relationships, and ended the conference by watching the father and son shake hands and walk from the court room arm in arm. The son apologized for striking his father and was quickly forgiven.

Miss Frances Harrod Downes, representing the Washington, D. C. League for the Hard of Hearing, last night won for her organization the national lip-reading championship for 1931. The contest was held at the Congress hotel where the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing opened a four day conference on Monday.

The balloon room was filled with delegates who heard perfectly the replies of the five contestants to the oral tests. The tests comprised six questions, the names of three persons determined by descriptions given contestants through lip speech and repetition of the theme of two humorous anecdotes.

The other four competing in the finals were Marion C. Ross, Rochester league; Mrs. Cora C. Weston, Philadelphia league; Anna J. Loos, Philadelphia Speech reading club; and Miss Florence Linnell, Chicago league. These survived the elimination contest among twenty-two champions from all over the country on Monday night.

VETERAN POLICE SERGEANT KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Sergt. John Cronin, 65 years old, 4926 West Adams street, on the Chicago police force for 40 years, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by an automobile while inspecting another car parked near the Fillmore street police station. The car which struck Cronin was driven by Leo Goldstein, 4731 Grenshaw street, an auto salesman. Sergt. Cronin was taken to the Garfield Park hospital, where he died.

Frank Ruskis, 43 years old, of 5815 West 64th street, was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile at 63d street and Austin avenue. The driver of the car, C. P. Cantwell, 6038 South Lincoln street, took Ruskis to the Clearing hospital, where he died. Cantwell was held pending an inquest. These deaths raised Cook county's 1931 auto toll to 483.

A coroner's jury investigating the death of Eugene Brew, 9 years old, 4213 75th court, Elmwood Park, who was killed by a hit and run motorist last Wednesday, returned a verdict of manslaughter by an unidentified driver. Dominic Sperandeo, 2104 75th court, Elmwood Park, who had been arrested as a suspect, was exonerated.

THIRD GUNMAN PLEADS GUILTY IN MURDER TRIAL

Frank Zeman, one of three gunmen accused of slaying two pay roll guards in an attempted holdup of Hillman's grocery store last January, unexpectedly pleaded guilty of murder yesterday before Judge Joseph Sabath in Criminal court. His two companions, Charles Wollard and Samuel Goldstein, previously had pleaded guilty, but Zeman had pleaded not guilty and his trial had started before he decided to change his plea.

Judge Sabath will hear testimony next Monday before sentencing the three young gunmen. Since there was no eyewitness to the slaying, the assistant state's attorneys in charge of the case, Ross Lee Laird and Walker Butler, said they would not demand the death penalty, but would seek to have the men sentenced to two life terms, to run consecutively, which would prevent their parole.

Their victims were Eugene Toro and Max Axelrod.

STUDENT KILLED AND CHUM SHOT IN DORMITORY

Berea, Ky., June 2.—(AP)—Leonard Martin, 21, who was graduated from Berea academy yesterday, was killed in Prospect hall, a dormitory, today by the discharge of his pistol that wounded another student.

Willard O. Bowman, 22, a member of the 1931 senior class of Berea college, said he was unloading Martin's pistol when it was discharged. He was wounded in the hand. "It was perfectly accidental," he said.

Martin was packing to go home and Bowman said Martin showed him his pistol. The youth had just obtained it at the dean's office, as it is against the college rules for students to have pistols in their rooms during the school term.

Bowman called for aid, but Martin was dead when Dr. Allison Baker arrived. After his wound was dressed Bowman went to Richmond, the county seat, and gave $500 bond pending an examining trial here Friday.

It is smooth, soft, white and glowing with health. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. Powdered Saxolite removes wrinkles and other age lines. French Writer Makes Bitter Attack on U. S.

"America the Menace" Hits Our Faults.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"AMERICA THE MENACE" by Georges Duhamel [Houghton Mifflin] is a picture of our land through the eyes of one of the most important writers of France, the author of two books which have been hailed as the finest French books of the war, "Civilization" and "Life of the Martyrs," and as observer trained through his work as a physician in the intricacies of the human mind and the human body. What he has to say about anything is listened to with respect and interest by the world.

DR. DUHAMEL.

Two years ago I was in Paris and I met Dr. Duhamel. He was charming to me. He remembered a visit which he had made to Chicago the winter before in the midst of a ferocious blizzard. He had also had at that time a heart attack which nearly killed him. So it was all a nightmare to him. He wrote in a copy of "Vie de Martyrs" (Life of the Martyrs) for me, "A Miss Butcher, gracieuse visage de l'affreure Amerique" (to Miss Butcher, a pleasant face from that dreadful America). There was a twinkle in his eye when he showed me what he had written.

I had no idea that America was so frightful to him in memory as he sets down in "America the Menace." He said nothing at that time about writing this book. Perhaps he was not even planning it then. Last summer there appeared in French the indictment of America which has just been published here in a translation by Charles Miner Thompson. Nothing Oh! I remember reading for some time has been so bitter as "America the Menace," probably for the obvious reason that of all the indicters of our civilization Dr. Duhamel is perhaps the keenest observer and the best writer. The picture which he paints of America is of something inhuman, not only in size and its machine-like standardization, but inhuman in the sense of its inhabitants having lost their individual entities.

About Chicago Dr. Duhamel is especially violent. He describes, poignantly and unforgettably, a trip to the stockyards. That is what makes his pages so powerful, that skill of expressing what he has seen. It is, perhaps, the fact that he doesn't see America in the round, only in the fact of the rapid traveler, that makes the picture one that is at once a portrait and yet not at all a likeness. Or perhaps he is only writing of standardization as a menace to mankind and using America as an example.

Vivid as his trip to the stockyards and his description of it, and characteristic as he seems to think the stockyards are of Chicago, America, the new menace of civilization, he becomes more specific about Chicago as a city. He calls it "the tumor, the cancer among cities." The thing which we feel gives us our greatest claim to beauty and distinction, our geographical situation on the lake front, makes him write: "This urban monster is, nevertheless, but half a city. It radiates from a point on the shore of the lake; its heart is on the border of empty space. It is like half an apple. You are astonished to find so much noise and activity on the edge of nothing. For the lake, which is as big as a sea, is not the sea. It has not the breath or the tumult, or the life, or the soul of the sea. With its marshy smell which you meet everywhere, even in the bathroom and in the ice water from the special tap, with its gloomy horizon, and its great, livid, shimmering surface, reflecting a dull sky with smoky clouds in it, the color of pewter, it lies there an enormous piece of absence, like the warning of death, like a symbol of non-existence. Chicago comes howling to a standstill on the edge of eternity. Certain fishing villages are said to lie 'in peril of the waves'; I greet with a solemn hymn Chicago, the proud, lying in peril of nothingness."

That little describes the Chicago of most of us. The whole major premise of Dr. Duhamel's observation seems to me to be wrong in that case. But surely is it so wrong. He is a tremendously keen observer. His pictures of the American motion picture palace you won't forget soon, and you won't disagree with it. And here is his description of the part that the automobile plays in the life of America: "The automobile is a lever that increases all our vices, and that does not exalt our virtues. It reveals and emphasizes the least noble lineaments of our natures. It makes a sensitive man irritable, an irritable one insane. It makes a strong man a brute, it makes a brute a beast. It offers chances beyond the reach of imagination for churlishness, for perfidy, for cowardice."

He finds a menace of gigantic proportions in "the extravagances" of American advertising. The American football game he sees the meeting place of "the mob in all its colorless horror." And he says, "After all, what did that sport amount to in which twenty-two stout fellows struggled breathlessly, while forty thousand persons sat immobile, caught cold, smoked cigarets, and exercised nothing except their vocal cords?"

Prohibition he makes even more laughable and incredible than it is, and America's disembarkation welcome to foreign visitors the farcical gesture that every one knows it to be. Dr. Duhamel has not missed one of America's weak points, and he digs into them with skilled probing. He has painted a portrait that will enrage many Americans. And that, say what you will, is an excellent thing to have happen. Most of the "others" who see us find us not a menace but a thrilling experiment. Dr. Duhamel gives us a more cathartic dose. "America the Menace" was not the original French title. "Scenes from Life of the Future" it was less specifically called there.

Presbyterians Will Remain in Federal Council

Resolutions of Rebuke Passed Unanimously.

Montreat, N. C., June 2.—(AP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States tonight voted 135 to 105 to drop all negotiations for "organic union" with other Presbyterian and Reformed Presbyterian groups in the United States.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 2.—[Special.]—The Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. will remain in the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. This was decided today in the 143d general assembly of that church by the tabling of a minority report of the committee on bills and overtures which called for severance of relations. But resolutions rebuking the council for its birth control utterance, demanding gag on future pronouncements bearing on morals and urging reorganization of the federal council were unanimously passed.

The victory of the proponents of the federal council was almost entirely of a parliamentary nature. The debate on the subject had twice been postponed in order that support for the council could be amassed in the reports of various boards and commissions.

Direct consideration of Presbyterian membership in the federal council finally was docketed for the last 30 minutes of this morning's sessions. Several hours of the morning session had been given over to a fully printed and circulated report of the committee of national missions which was read aloud—the only longer report so handled. Discussion, debate, or questions on that report could not be offered. After the reading of the majority report on the federal council, the minority report demanding severance of relations with the council was held up until a lengthy defense of the federal council had been read by former Moderator Hugh T. Kerr, who spoke for the Presbyterian general council.

The Rev. Jones Earl Corwin of Pana, Ill., led the attack on the federal council as leader of the minority group in the committees on bills and overtures. He declared the majority report simply recommended "that after chastising this obstreperous and unruly child, the assembly take no further action.

"This will simply mean," the Rev. Mr. Corwin continued, "that we go as we have been, waiting in fear and with trembling for the federal council's next act, deliverance or pronouncement which again will plunge us into new difficulty, and subject us to further humiliation and disgrace. We of the minority recommend that after administering this merited rebuke we withdraw and devote all our energy to constructive work instead of this repeated administering of the rod."

The Rev. Mr. Corwin admitted that the federal council was of some value, but argued that the damage done by that agency outweighed its good work. He declared no sane person would eat a potato in order to get a drink of water even though the potato is 80 per cent water.

"The question before us is, shall we continue to eat the federal council potato or seek streams of pure water?" said the Rev. Mr. Corwin. "Every commissioner should admit the presence of questionable, sinister and evil in the federal council, just as he admits the presence of the good.

"Because the federal council has superior publicity facilities it is impossible ever to overtake its pronouncements which it spreads through the press of the land. We cannot successfully contradict or controvert the council's deliverances, and the only word so far given in defense of the federal council is contained in an apologetic 'expediency.' The church has a higher obligation than any call of expediency resting upon it."

The applause given to the Rev. Mr. Corwin's appeal which closed with the announcement that the southern Presbyterian church voted yesterday to withdraw from the council threw the session into uproar. Commissioners in all parts of the hall sought the floor, but Moderator Lewis S. Mudge heard a call through the confusion to table the minority report. The shout "aye" of those who favored the federal council was echoed by the roar of the "noes" of federal council opponents.

Moderator Mudge then declared the minority report tabled without calling for a rising vote.

The Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews then demanded a study of the federal council with a view to its reorganization. He declared that the general assembly of 1925 at Baltimore demanded a pledge from the federal council that it would issue no statements bearing on moral questions until those questions had been referred to the council's constituent denominations. This arrangement, Dr. Matthews asserted, had repeatedly been violated by the council.

The statement of the Presbyterian general council read by Dr. Kerr bearing on relationship with the federal council which was injected into the debate argued that the Presbyterian church had largely been responsible for the founding of the federal council. The statement pointed that the Presbyterian church "is unwilling to provide the comfort and satisfaction which our withdrawal from the federal council would give those forces which are hostile to the Protestant churches in the evangelical faith."

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 2.—[Special.]—Charley Mack, of the black face team of Moran and Mack, and Charley's two comedian friends, George Moran and W. F. Fields, completely wore out a reporter who was trying to get Mack to answer some questions.

It was this way:

Pleasing Voice—Not Mack's. So sorry. Mr. Mack is in the bath right now. I am his secretary. Call back in 20 minutes.

Reporter—Hello, Mr. Mack in now?

Twin children, a boy and girl, each weighing 5½ pounds, were born to George Fitzmaurice, director, and his actress wife, Diana Kane, at Hollywood hospital last night. The twins are to be named Patricia and Michael. Lois Wilson, Mrs. Fitzmaurice's sister, will be godmother.

Whether Clara Bow will get her wish to give up her Paramount contract and retire from pictures, temporarily, will be determined as soon as she gets well enough to confer with B. P. Schulberg, Paramount production executive, who said on his return from Denver:

"Clara is in no condition to talk business at this time, so we don't know what the studio will plan for her future. "While Paramount is debating, it was cautiously advanced in another quarter that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer would look forward happily to the possibility of landing Clara as an actress if Paramount should drop her and thus satisfy the interstudio agreement that no film plant dicker with a star already under contract to another.

Anna May Wong, daughter of Los Angeles' Chinatown, and a Los Angeles high school graduate, returned today from stage triumphs in New York and London to resume a film career which began when she was a shy, slant eyed little extra ten years ago. She is to resume film work in a thriller, "Daughter of the Dragon," which marks the screen comeback of the Japanese actor, Sessue Hayakawa.

THE STAGE

THE Illinois theater will close for the summer when "He" reaches the end of its allotted three weeks there Saturday night, June 13. Warm weather playgoing will then focus upon the five shows that are determined to stay as long as the thermometer permits.

They are: "The Rap," now in its first week at the Studebaker; "Meet My Sister," in its second week at the Grand Opera house; "Fine and Dandy," in its fourth week at the Erlanger; "Apron Strings," in its eighth week at the Playhouse, and "Stepping Sisters," which will move from the Cort to the Blackstone next Sunday night to start its twelfth week. Most of these productions have demonstrated their stamina for long runs. Thus it is altogether likely that the doldrums of 1931 will not be as empty of stage entertainment as those of 1930.

Half a dozen other amusements have been mentioned as prospects for the Chicago summer, but only one can be counted upon at present. That is Gregory Ratoff's revue, which is scheduled for a première, probably at the Harris theater, June 28. Mr. Ratoff has engaged a promising group of principals and is busy with his final arrangements. Rehearsals are likely to begin any minute.

Tracy C. Drake of the Blackstone and George Wintz of the Playhouse regard themselves as comfortably seated for the summer, with "Stepping Sisters" and "Apron Strings." Their success as Chicago impresarios, operating theaters that the New York magnates shunned, has given a metropolitan tinge to the dramatic life of the town. Both of them, moreover, are simmering with other plans.

The return of Mrs. Fiske to the Blackstone theater next season under Mr. Drake's management in a "new and sparkling modern comedy," has already been announced. It has not been told, however, that the author of this play, which Mrs. Fiske accepted with enthusiasm, is Carlos Drake, son of Tracy.

"The Wonder Bar" has ended its New York run because of Al Jolson's affliction with laryngitis, but that does not close the history of this musical frolic. It will begin a tour in September, with Jolson as star, visiting Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Kansas City. This will be Jolson's first tour in the "legitimate" since he deserted the stage to put the talking pictures on the national map.

Thursday, June 11, is the date now scheduled for the first performance of the new Ziegfeld "Follies" in Pittsburgh. The show will remain there until June 20, and will begin its Broadway engagement a few days later.

Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, as authors of "Once In a Lifetime," have been awarded the Roi Cooper Megrue prize of $500. This honorarium is given annually by the Dramatists' guild, from a fund established by the late playwright and his mother, in recognition of the most amusing play of the season. Previous winners were Thomas Mitchell and Floyd Dell, with "Little Accident," and Preston Sturges, with "Strictly Dishonorable."

State Encampment Opens at Aurora.

A LITTLE group of 200 or more white-haired veterans of the civil war, 66 years after the close of that long conflict, met last night in Aurora for their annual campfire program, part of the annual encampment of the Illinois department of the Grand Army of the Republic.

When inaugurated this campfire meant the swapping of stories, humorous and grim, of battle experiences—or long winters when they waited to go into battle. Last night, however, the old soldiers sat in the audience and listened to others make speeches about them.

When "America" was sung they all arose, some of them supported by daughters or sons or grandchildren, some leaning on canes.

Even through the last stanza, "Long may our land be bright with freedom's holy light," the soldiers' querulous trebles could be heard faintly in the chorus.

Rodney H. Brandon, director of the state department of public welfare, was introduced as chairman of the program by Gerry R. Walker, commander of Aurora post 20. Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorney general of Illinois and past national commander of the Spanish-American war veterans, made a plea for national defense.

A. C. Best, commander of the Illinois department of the G. A. R., spoke.

Throughout the day the veterans gathered in the sun before Memorial hall and recounted their experiences of more than 66 years ago. Most of them enlisted in their 'teens. Many served throughout the war.

Battles of the civil war were "fit" over again and the "rebels" were walloped in a spirit as fiery as that of 1861.

The blue coated veterans, wearing their black campaign hats, which roll up a little on the sides and dip down in front, came from all over the state.

True, one or two old soldiers were seen to wipe a tear or two away with furtive gesture when a children's band from the Holy Angel's school played the strains of "Tenting On The Old Campground," preparatory to the unveiling of a monument by the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War.

But the prevailing spirit was typified by Comrades Fred Buy of post 77, Danville, who has attended every state and national encampment in the last 50 years, and W. M. Sampson of post 298, Waynesville, who related stories of their getting a ration of rum as members of Abe Lincoln's army. Sampson said he always gave his rum to "the best fighter in the company," a little Irishman. Comrade Buy did not so dispose of his, he indicated.

Although only 5 feet 4 inches at the time, A. B. Feery, 84 years old, of 419 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park, ran away from his daddy and enlisted in Kenosha when he was barely 16. He's the baby of the Phil Sheridan post. "Chasin' Ole John Morgan and his bunch of bushwackers was about all I did," said E. E. Taylor, Elgin, 85 years old, commander of post 49. He enlisted when he was 16 years old.

Maj. John A. Mallory, 3325 West Adams street, Chicago, past commander of the Farragut post, No. 602, who received his commission in the Spanish-American war after fighting as a private in 51 engagements in the civil war, was not wounded until one of the last battles of the civil war, that of Bentonville, N. C., he said.

A veteran of Gettysburg, George W. Benson, 87 years old, Danville, of Kenesaw post 77, a little stooped man with a flowing white beard and a sprightly manner, declared that he "had a pair of legs which carried him away from Gettysburg and out of the whole war." He enlisted at 16, serving three and a half years. Of his company of 106, company C of the 56th Indiana infantry, 18 came home from the war and he's the only one living.

"Meade is blamed for not following the rebs after Gettysburg," he said. "But we were just as much as whipped as the Johnnies and it wasn't Meade's fault."

The corner stone of the new Lane Technical High school at the southwest corner of Addison street and Western avenue was placed yesterday afternoon during ceremonies in which the Lane R. O. T. C. band and school and city officials participated. City Controller M. S. Szymczak, representing Mayor Cermak, addressed a large audience of parents and Lane students, who were led from the old building at Sedgwick and Division streets to the new site by their principal, Grant Beebe.

THE CLICK OF THE GATE

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

Clare, fifteen year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously from her home in a remote section of Paris. Iris has been separated for years from her husband, Marcel, a man of great charm but no moral sense. They are cousins and the possible heirs of their tyrannical Aunt Victoire, the Comtesse de Castelmaurou.

Iris planned to divorce her husband and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood. Charnwood, about to depart for Africa, has postponed his trip to search for Clare, assisted by Tommy Bouteiller, a journalist.

Iris moves to her aunt's home and learns that her husband is already domiciled there. He seems to have changed in character, and has taken charge of the search for Clare. Iris and Alan plan to meet at Helen Roderick's, the American woman for whom Iris has been working. Alan meets Marcel at Helen's and learns that they are friends, unknown to Iris. He recalls having seen Marcel at Le Touquet, gambling heavily and hobnobbing with a coarse looking couple. That night Alan sees Marcel entering the home of Susanne Marly, an actress. Alan receives a wire giving him an extra fortnight's leave in Paris.

A letter is sent to Iris, stating that Clare is being held for ransom. Her aunt offers to pay the sum asked if Marcel and Iris promise to become reconciled. Marcel meets Iris and Alan at Helen's and drives them home. He accompanies Alan to his hotel room. Alan receives a faked message recalling him immediately to Africa. That night an attempt is made to asphyxiate him.

INSTALLMENT XXXIX.

A DANGER TO THE ENEMY.

It required several minutes before Charwood was equal to plunging back to throw open the door and switch on the light. Now, with the draft sucking the long curtains out into the room, he breathed again and looked around for the source of trouble. It was not far to seek.

Against the wall beside the fireplace was a short, disused bracket, the end of the pipe unprotected. There must have been a metal cap screwed on, but it was missing, nothing whatever to check the gas pouring through. Yet the cap could not have come away by itself. On the contrary, the rust round the opening showed that some instrument like a spanner must have been used to dislodge it. Quickly Charnwood fetched his cake of moist soap and stuck it firmly over the tube. This done, he rang his bell violently and went into the corridor.

"Glass! Whadda you think I care 'bout a smashed water bottle? Let the girl that does the room pick up the pieces. Give her something to do."

A broken water bottle? So it was to this and the heaven-sent inebriety of two tourists that he owed his life! Charnwood felt a rush of affectionate gratitude towards his benefactors. He would have liked to shake them by the hand and tell them what good fellows they were.

Up came the lift at a snail's pace, and from it emerged the stolid, spectacled concierge, on night duty.

"But I tell you there is gas," shouted Charnwood. "A very little more and I'd have been a dead man. Can't you smell it?"

"Nine chances out of ten your death would have been reported as suicide."

"Some one's tried to murder me; some one came into this room, not half an hour ago, closed the window and loosened that cap."

As this statement evoked only a stare of incredible stupidity, Charnwood seized the old man by the arm.

"See here! At least you can tell me whether any one left the hotel during the last hour. Think! Have you seen a person go out?"

The image came to life. But yes, assuredly, a strange gentleman went past to the street about twenty minutes before. Some one paying a late call on one of the guests, by the look of him.

"A strange gentleman? Did he speak to you? What was he like?"

However, the concierge's descriptive powers were considerably below par. The person was of medium height, neither young nor old, neither light nor dark. Clean shaven? Perhaps—or he might have had a small mustache. All that stood out was the fact that he wore a tweed cap and a light overcoat, rather similar to the one monsieur had hanging on the door there.

"An Englishman, was it?" Charnwood demanded with a start. Into the foreground of his mind leaped the comtesse's chauffeur.

"Englishman? Well, yes, now monsieur mentioned it, he might have been English."

All Iris had said regarding the chauffeur rushed into Charnwood's brain. He had worked in London, had the air of being "almost a gentleman." His head reeled. How on earth had the fellow got in here?

Leaving the old man to paw about the carpet on hands and knees, he strode through the corridor and into the adjacent bath. The bath was a public one, but had a door connecting with his own apartment, the same which De Bertincourt had mistaken for the exit.

A glance confirmed his surmise. There was the key in the lock, a ready invitation to the first miscreant who caught sight of it. O, the casualness of these small hotels!

"So that's how it was done!" he muttered grimly.

It was childishly simple. The person hidden here had only to wait till his victim's breathing assured him all was safe, then steal into the bedroom, shut the window, and give the metal cap a couple of turns.

The remnant of the night he spent in preparing for an early departure, at the same time making an exhaustive search to satisfy himself that whoever had attempted to kill him was no common thief. His watch, his wallet remained untouched. That clinched it.

By nature not easily moved, he was for once severely shaken—unfrightened, but quivering with violent rage. At bottom lurked a humiliating sense of his own folly, for Tommy had warned him; the faked orders ought to have put him on his guard, but in spite of all he had stupidly invited the attack.

But who were his enemies? The comtesse might conceivably have adopted peaceful means to remove him, but that her villainy could reach to cold blooded murder took some swallowing. He could only conclude that the actual assassin was some tool of hers who, possibly, had exceeded his instructions. The chauffeur—it must be he who had telephoned—having watched till he saw his prey leave the hotel at seven o'clock; yes, and the same person, speaking English, must have rung up earlier in the day to ascertain whether or not he had gone. Simple enough to find out, again by spying, that Charnwood had stayed on, and to slip through the doors, go upstairs, and take refuge in the bathroom till the propitious moment.

The motive, of course, did not leap to the eye. If the comtesse was doing this to protect herself from discovery, how in heaven's name had she got wind of his suspicions? It began to look as though she, or some one, possessed powers of thought reading.

At eight o'clock, suffering from a raging headache, he held a short interview with the horrified manager, saw his effects piled onto a cab, and, for the benefit of doubtful loiterers, gave his destination as the Gare de Lyons.

Similarly, he carried his strategy to the point of purchasing a ticket to a distant suburb, some half hour later regaining the city by Metro, having checked his luggage, with the exception of one bag, at the station cloak room. Speedily now he drove to Tommy's flat and dodged with lowered head into the entrance. No one had seen him, of that he felt sure; but he was secretly ashamed, recalling certain humorous allusions to the obscure Times reporter who turned up his coat collar and crossed Piccadilly Circus under an assumed name. Yet there was danger—last night proved it. He had to keep repeating this to preserve his self respect.

"What! Not already?" came the astounded reply.

Charnwood looked nettled. "So you expected something of the sort?"

"Not a gas attack, certainly! And I didn't anticipate such quick service. But, remember, I did beg you to sleep here."

"I freely admit my idiocy. But—probably because of this infernal head—I'm still fumbling in the dark as to why I'm considered important enough to kill. Putting it baldly, who the devil am I? What have I done to cause terror in the opposite camp?"

"Fiendishly clever idea, that," remarked the latter thoughtfully. "Nine chances out of ten your death would have been reported as suicide. Do you realize that? . . . Hold on—where are you off to?"

Charnwood was already at the door.

"Yesterday I neglected your advice and got into hot water," he replied shortly. "This time I've got better sense. I'm going now to that florist, before——" he paused to give emphasis to his words, "—before anything sidetracks me!" With which pointed remark he made his exit.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mother Needs Clothing.

"I have seven small children and cannot go out of doors during the day because of my clothing. I wear size 42 or 44 in a dress, and shoes size 7. If you can get me something to wear perhaps I'll be able to find work.

"MRS. M. J."

In a family of seven children there's usually no place in the budget for new clothing for mother. Can you supply the deficiency here by giving Mrs. M. J. any garments in her size which you may be ready to discard?

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Poor Comfort Rebuked.

I take my school studies quite seriously. Usually, at home, I take off my tie and shoes for comfort while I am deeply absorbed in my work. Going through a reference book at the public library recently, I unconsciously kicked off both of my shoes. The sudden laughing and tittering in the library brought me to my senses. I quickly slipped on my shoes and felt my face turn a deep crimson. It really was the most embarrassing moment of my life.

Best Cure for Forlorn Widower Is Another Wife, Doris Believes

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"May a mere man ask what makes widowers so unpopular, especially after they get up in years?"

But "John J." says a year of widowerhood leaves him a desperately lonely man. He doesn't enjoy a show alone. He doesn't enjoy going to church alone. He is a home loving man who spent all his spare time with his wife. So when left to entertain himself he is at a dead loss to know how to go about it.

Just as an insight into the life of a man who loses a lifelong companion, I quote "John J.": "I go out for a walk to cure myself of the blues, and the smiling couples I meet remind me that not long ago I was among those enjoying life to its fullest. I come home to an empty house and can't think.

"If I attempt to read I make no sense of what I'm reading. What do you think the best method of handling my case? Strolling out into the lake until my hat floats? If I keep on like this my next address will be a private sanitarium for mental cases."

The best method of handling a desperately lonely widower's case would be to advise him to keep on walking, once he starts out, and end up at some charming widow's door, or at the door of some woman not too young to understand the very real heartache he suffers.

There's only one known cure for a bereaved mate, and it is to take on another mate. I never could understand the criticism that has been given widowers who remarry early. There isn't anything else they can logically do to keep from being drenched in the blues continuously. There's no one much more helpless in the world than a man who is deprived of the company and helping hand of a devoted wife.

A bachelor learns to stand on his own, but a widower has been trained in depending upon a woman for all the little administrations that go to make life comfortable. From the matrimonial point of view widowers are popular, providing they are desirable citizens and bear a record of having been good to No. 1.

Final Historical Society Lecture to Be Saturday

The final historical lecture of the season will be given on Saturday morning at the Chicago Historical society. Dr. William H. Johnson will talk on "Three Historic Sites and What They Mean in Chicago's History." He will refer to the site of the Fort Dearborn massacre, the Sauganash hotel, and the water tower.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Be More Reasonable.

"Dear Miss Blake: When my girl and I are on the outs for two and three weeks at a time, usually it's her fault, and she calls me up first, but says that it is I who should call her. Others say the same. Why should I do the calling when she is at fault? Am I right or wrong? "JACK."

You should both be impressed with the necessity of exercising reasoning power and avoid disagreements in the future.

It's His Decision.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow who loves another girl. He thinks she loves him. I was his former sweetheart. With whom should he go out? HELENE."

He'll want to go out with the girl he loves and hopes to win.

Antoinette Predicts Short Skirts 'n' Bobs Due to Return Soon

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you ask me, I'll put up a fair sized wager that before another year is out women will be through with the long skirt experiment—and long hair. The novelty of each will have worn off, and the good old comfort looked to again. After all, we're not such a nutty sex as we are sometimes painted—not for long periods, anyway. We do recover from our extreme doings, given the freedom to go ahead and enjoy them for a time.

Already bona fide reports on Paris dressmakers' mid-season collections indicate that the appearance of short skirts will not be postponed my wagered year. They're showing them already in the sleeveless, summer things. The young things have had their fling now and have shown Mom up every day her age in the floor length skirt and the long, knotted hair.

Anyway, it looks to me as if the tide had turned for both. And I don't think many of us not-so-youngsters will regret the shorter skirt length and the feeling that our bob isn't an antiquated version of several season's ago style.

Now, this is going to mean, among other things, a return of legs as slim, elegant features. If you've been hiding yours under the proverbial bushel of lace and chiffon—you'd better tell 'em they are due for another exposé. Lacking the symmetrical beauty of a prize winner's underpinnings, you'd better line 'em up—and down, and all around with a swell symmetrical line.

If you haven't taken the bathing suit out of the cedar chest yet, better get it out and fit it on. And make your swimming declarations early, for you can shake off a few pounds from the overweighted calf if you'll make those legs of yours work in the water. That kicking movement is fine.

Also, if there are any extras resting around on any other part of your frame, you just get this swimming bee early enough to start in the moment the water's warm and keep at it during the entire bathing season. Swimming's better than golf, tennis, boating, or hiking for trimming down the silhouette from shoulder to ankle.

In the meantime, you might "warm up" on a little kicking around the home. [Not on dad or the kids.] Just stand up anywhere around the house and give the leg a good kick forward, to the side and away back.

Say Movie Camera Takes 2,000 Photographs a Second

PARIS, June 2.—(AP)—Petit Parisien said today that a motion picture camera capable of taking more than 2,000 photographs a second was demonstrated yesterday before the Academy of Sciences. The camera was perfected by Prof. A. Magnan of the College of France, and Director Hugenard of the Scientific school. The previous limit of speed was said to be 250 photos a second.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

ELSIE C.: A GIRL OF 15, 5 FEET 1 inch, should weigh 109 pounds. Your three meals a day may not contain the necessary fat producing foods. Take extra pats of butter, extra cream on your cereal and desserts, and drink milk between meals. My weight gaining instructions may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

R. C. C.: WHITE SPOTS, IT IS believed, indicate glandular trouble and sometimes goiter. It would be advisable to see your doctor and let him prescribe.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER.

CLUBS EXHIBIT FLOWERS.

Garden club flower shows are in season in the Chicago region. Today marks the opening of the first iris show of the Garden Club of Oak Park and River Forest at the conservatory of the park district in Oak Park. The exhibit will be open this evening.

Yesterday an iris display was arranged by the Iris chapter of the Glen Ellyn Garden club as the setting for a tea at the home of Mrs. W. G. Kaiser, 468 Hill avenue. Specimen blooms from Freeport gardens were among the attractions, as well as bouquets grown by amateur gardeners of the community.

Farther away, but promising to attract visitors from Chicago and many other cities, is the Wisconsin state garden and flower show at State Fair park, West Allis, Wis. This show will be open June 5, 6 and 7, with competition in various classes, including cut flowers, rock gardens and small gardens.

Villa Park garden enthusiasts have announced a show to be held in the village hall Friday and Saturday of this week under the auspices of the Civic Garden club of that village. The annual iris show in Freeport will be open to the public Saturday and Sunday, June 6 and 7. This is termed the leading exposition of its kind in the middle west and attracts exhibitors from the Pacific coast as well as those of nearby states. The competition is sponsored by the Freeport Garden club.

Two other shows are scheduled for next week. The Men's Garden club of the Chicago region will hold its annual spring show in the Garfield park conservatory June 12 and 14. The La Grange Garden club is planning a spring show to be held in the town hall at La Grange Saturday, June 13.

ALL-BRAN BROUGHT WELCOME RELIEF

THOUSANDS of letters attest to the efficiency of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in overcoming constipation. For instance, Mr. James D. McEnery, Alto, Texas, relates his experience:

"For fifteen years I was constantly bothered with constipation. . . . Some eighteen months ago, I began using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. From the first meal to this good day, I have never had to take a dose of laxative medicine of any description."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the largest-selling all-bran cereal in the world. Two tablespoonfuls daily are guaranteed to give relief. How much safer than using habit-forming laxatives.

ALL-BRAN also adds needed iron to build the blood. In the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Miss Whitcomb to Be Bride of Byron Harvey

BY THALIA

ANOTHER interesting and important betrothal is added this morning to the long list of announcements that have been made this spring. Mr. and Mrs. William Card Whitcomb of 1500 Lake Shore drive are making known the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to Byron S. Harvey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey of Lake Forest. The wedding is to take place in the near future.

Miss Whitcomb attended Miss Walker's school at Simsbury, Conn., Smith college, and has had extensive education and travel in Europe. She studied for a year at Les Fougeres at Lausanne, Switzerland, and had a summer course at the Conservatoire de Musique at Fontainebleau, France. Her education has also included the study of dramatics, both in Europe and for two years at the Goodman theater. She made her debut two years ago and appeared professionally as a member of the cast of the Theater Guild's "Garrick Gayeties" during the last winter. Her sister, the former Georgianna Whitcomb, was married recently to Latham Castle and now resides in Sycamore, Ill. Mr. Harvey is a graduate of Leland Stanford university, and is associated in business with his father.

Announces Attendants for Reagan Wedding.

Miss Ethel MacArthur Reagan, daughter of Mrs. Herbert Everett Reagan of Riverside, whose marriage to George Maclean Hellyer, son of Mrs. Thomas Ripley of Santa Barbara, Cal., is to take place on Saturday afternoon, June 20, is to have her sister, Miss Barbara Reagan, as her maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be two other sisters, Miss Ruth Reagan and Miss Jaquelin Goddard, Miss Florence Story of Salt Lake City, a cousin, and Miss Ruth Trimr of Riverside. Mr. Hellyer's groomsmen, John Silverthorne, will be his best man, and Arthur B. Hellyer, Thomas W. Hellyer, Philip Hellyer, George and Henry Silverthorne are to ushers. The ceremony is to take place at 4:30 o'clock at St. Paul's church, with the Rev. R. B. Grobb officiating, and the wedding reception is to be at Mrs. Reagan's residence at 32 Nuttal road. After July 15 Mr. Hellyer and his bride are to be at home at the same address. Mr. Hellyer is a grandson of Col. and Mrs. Robert Rutchish.

Mrs. Gerhardt F. Meyne entertained at luncheon yesterday for the board of directors of the Cook County League of Women Voters and the directors of the Forum of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. R. Arthur Wood of Highland Park has invited the Chicago Smith College club for a picnic in her garden on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. After the picnic luncheon officers will be elected for the year. The nominating committee is to present Mrs. L. Sherman Aldrich for president, Mrs. Sherwood K. Platt for second vice president, and Miss Ruth De Young for secretary. Mrs. Ward Cutts is to continue as first vice president, and Mrs. William Zimmerman as treasurer.

Summer Home Opening; Country Club Rebuilding.

The Homer L. Dixon summer place at Mackinac Island is about to be opened for the summer. The Dixons' daughters, Mrs. Woodberry Stearns Agar Jr., Betty Dixon, and Narcissa Swift, took the boat last night for the island, taking the Agar youngster, "Woody," with them, and Mrs. Dixon is departing today with Lucia and Jean Dixon. They're to make a fortnight stay and will return to Chicago before getting settled for the summer.

The dedication of the Belle Barrett Hughitt center of the Frontier Nursing service that Mrs. Charles S. Frost and her brother, Marvin Hughitt, are planning to attend has been postponed because Mrs. Mary Breckinridge, director [who was to be at the tea at Mrs. Martin Insull's in Highland Park yesterday afternoon], is away, and the date hasn't been definitely set again.

Barrington Country club members are being provided for very nicely while the clubhouse, which was burned down last year, is being rebuilt. The old clubhouse, which was turned into quarters for the golf pros when the new one was put up, and the old service buildings have been renovated and redecorated and are being used for temporary locker rooms and restaurant. The roof framing is up for the new clubhouse and it should be ready for opening sometime before Labor Day. It's to be most attractive, I hear—in French country style with whitewashed brick exterior. There's a decorating committee to plan the interior details.

Visitors and whereabouts—the Hubbard Carpenters, recently returned from San Diego, opened their Lake Geneva house for the summer on Memorial day. On their return trip from the coast they stopped to visit their son, George Carpenter, in San Francisco . . . the Russell Matthews have returned east after a visit here, and are to be at Bar Harbor, Me., for most of the summer months . . . Mrs. Albert B. Dewey Jr. is now recuperating from a serious illness and she and Mr. Dewey have motored to Ohio for a visit [according to the Washington, D. C., paper] . . . the next-to-the-last White Elephant rummage sale for the year is to be one of bathing suits, white shoes, children's clothes, and parasols, and will be conducted by the Junior auxiliary on Friday. . . .

Poiret Will Design Two-Skirt Dress; Is 'Sick of Pajama Talk'

PARIS, June 2.—(AP)—Paul Poiret, veteran dress designer, is "sick of all this talk of pajamas," and has plans for drastic alterations in the styles of women's clothes.

In the new establishment which he will open this month after three years of retirement, he aims to create "individual modes for individual women." One of his features is to be dresses with two skirts, one for each leg and as full as an ordinary skirt, made to drape the figure.

"I'm sick of seeing women going around in the pillow case dresses," he said. "My fingers have been itching to get back in the game.

"Women may be afraid of wearing a skirt on each leg at first. The Americans will, because they are the greatest clothes cowards in the world—they'll have to wait until somebody tries it first. But they will come to it."

Visit to Four Exhibits Finds Them Lacking

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There are four little exhibits which in a morning will give you an inaccurate view of Chicago art, because of what they omit. Also, in a way, of what they commit. The most forbidding of the four is that of paintings by Milton Douthat in the Palmolive Walden Book Shop. If the greatest crime is to sin against good taste, this exhibit is guilty. The paintings are blatant, vulgar and without beauty.

Mr. Powell has a decided flair for likenesses and many of these small canvases are charming. His work is unpretentious and intimate. The young people and children whom he paints are not dressed up, not formal, nor stiff. They are natural and unaffected

Particularly in the painting of the little lad in overalls, his thumbs in the suspenders, is the artist forunate in pinning character down upon canvas. For those who may be interested, Mr. Powell's prices are not high and his work is liked by those who have sampled it. Among his child sitters are the daughters and sons of many of our well known Chicagoans, for instance the ten year old daughter of Dudley Crafts Watson, little Nancy Van Bergen, little Jane Wolcott, Suzanne Boynton, Dicky Randall, Happy Hansell, and Buddy Mast.

The third exhibit is that of the work of the students of the National Academy of Art, 230 East Ohio street, where Hubert Ropp has evolved a most interesting show. Painting, sculpture, fashion designing, interior decorating, a number of various divisions of art work are shown in a masterly way.

The last exhibit of the morning will take you to the Fine Arts building where in the Vanderhoogt gallery are the portraits by John Nielson. Of these the profile in pastel of Mrs. Forsythe Johnston is the most fascinating. The large oil of Mrs. Charles R. Richter, in white, is simple, effective and lovely. A hint of stiffness lurks about some of the others.

Behavior Troubles Arise When Parents Nag and Harass Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

If you "kept at" your husband all the time and were incurably in the throes of the habit, and he was a man of any spirit he'd either tell you what he thought of you, [the language varying according to his social status] or he'd do that infinitely worse thing, that is, worse for the wife—he'd put on his hat and go out out the house, saying not when he would return to you, his "lawful wedded wife." In either case he would be justified.

But if you are a mother with that habit [or a father, either] and "kept at" your children—they have no redress. They cannot tell you what they think of you and they cannot walk out of the house. In fact, very often, especially if they're little, they are not conscious what it is about you that drives them to distraction. So, they do nothing direct as a result of your keeping at them. But they do something indirect.

And that something that they do is either to ignore your keeping at them—or go contrary to it. Or, to put it another way, their response is to become disobedient, sulky, contrary, or defiant or to balk like little mules and become stubborn.

When I use the expression "kept at" your children, I don't mean only saying things that are obviously unpleasant. I mean giving them a dozen directions where one would do, interrupting their play when it isn't necessary, ordering them about, commanding instead of asking, reminding them of things they need to do, reproaching them for things they haven't done, and officiously reinforcing requests that some one else has given them.

That seems like a long list of offenses, but if you had ever had a chance to watch several different people with the same child you would realize how easily certain people fall into the way of "keeping at" a child and what a bad effect it has. Others, instinctively it seems, permit a child to pursue his way of life in peace—suggesting, directing and sparingly admonishing only when necessary.

Mrs. A. M. H. wants to know in what condition the green walnuts are in the green walnut catsup recipe that is given in the "White House Cook Book," on page 189.

The green walnuts referred to in that recipe are immature, so much so that they can be easily pierced all the way through with a darning needle. The whole nut is used—husk, shell, meat, and all. In this immature state the outer shell or husk is not hard and there is not a definite line of demarcation between the outer green husk or shuck and the inside shell.

Walnut catsup is highly prized for its fine flavor. It is a condiment as is tomato catsup and is used in the preparation of salads, salad dressings, and hors d'œvres. A more common product is the pickled whole walnut. These are very fine flavored and are particularly prized for making deliciously flavored salads and salad dressings. The liquid in which the pickled walnuts come is almost as good for flavoring purposes as is the walnut itself. Both the pickle and the liquid are a blackish color. This is a distinctive quality, however, because good flavored black foods are few in number.

The pickled walnut may be used as a garnish or as one of the important constituents of the salad. One of the best Waldorf salads is one that is composed of the ordinary ingredients—diced or julienned celery, fine flavored apple and walnut meats—served with a French dressing that contains a little of the liquid from pickled walnuts. Pickled walnuts are much more common on the market than walnut catsup. They may be obtained at fancy groceries, especially those that carry a full line of both domestic and imported foodstuffs.

LOVE FLOWER SALAD.

On a bed of lettuce place a thick slice of a large, ripe, peeled tomato. On the top of the tomato arrange the white of an egg cut in fine strips in petal fashion. Pipe a rosette of cream cheese in the center to hold the petals together and place a slice of egg yolk on top of the cheese. Sprinkle the yolk with chopped red and green peppers and garnish between the white petals with short strips of green peppers. Serve with French dressing.

Black and White Still Favorites

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—In spite of the great vogue for vivid color schemes, the smartest women in Paris still cling to black and white. And this is just as I have prophesied; the distinctive charm of black and white will keep this combination from ever fading out of the sartorial picture.

And when one's eyes have become completely dazzled by the bright multicolored flowers of modern prints, it's most refreshing to lay them on a simple black and white printed evening ensemble, like the one sketched here.

The frock is worn with Molyneux's hip length cape, which is one of the season's most successful evening wraps. It is completely collarless, droops a bit in back, and is edged with white fox, a fur that has been revived this summer by Molyneux, Lanvin, and others. The cape should be worn as you see above, held in about the figure so that the fox stands out in a shelf peplum effect on the hips.

DOROTHY BULLIN PARIS

Bright Sayings of the Children

One night before retiring I washed several pairs of my silk hose and put them out on the back porch to dry.

My daughter, Mimi, 4 years old, asked me why I was putting them out on the porch. I answered that I wanted them to dry.

May look the same . . . but how were they made? Where? By whom?

THE words "just like Kotex" should be a danger signal to every purchaser of sanitary protection! They cannot be true.

A pad, to be like Kotex, would have to be made in the Kotex factory. Unique, patented machinery makes Kotex from start to finish. Hands never touch it. Rigid cleanliness prevails. Materials used are superior, made especially for Kotex. The only way to make a pad like Kotex is to make Kotex.

ROBINS NOSE OUT CUBS, 7 TO 6, IN NINTH

MAC SMITH WINS BRITISH OPEN GOLF TRIALS

TURNS IN 141 FOR 36 HOLES; 2 BRITONS SECOND

Horton Smith Next Best of Yanks.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 2.—MacDonald Smith fed the blazing naive hope that he will win the British open golf championship a lot of color today. The American by adoption played his home town course in a record 71 and with a 70 yesterday easily led the field at the end of the two day qualifying round.

Carnoustie natives on the Angus coast never have forgotten that Smith is a home towner. The adulation is all deserved, for he played only one bad hole, dragged another one out of the fire and was always putting for possible threes at par four holes. Smith leads the nearest qualifiers by two strokes.

One hundred entrants were dropped tonight as the penalty for high scores. The first hundred and ties for the hundredth place, let in 109 hopefuls, all of whom did 160 or better for their first 36 holes.

Eight Yanks Qualify.

Smith was one of the eight American professionals who qualified. Horton Smith, the lanky 23 year old New Yorker, was next among the Americans with 143. Johnny Farrell and Tony Manero both had 149s. Gene Sarazen came next with 151. Joe Turnesa had 152 and Joe Kirkwood 154. Tommy Armour got 159.

The wintry weather of north Scotland was more severe than yesterday. It was cloudy and cold this morning and rain came down again this afternoon. Caretakers manned the pumps this morning and drained the water from yesterday's rains into the Firth of Tay, but the grounds were saturated by this afternoon's rains. The greens are punctured with fresh holes because of puddles, and the grounds are logged. Nothing will be gained on rolls and run-ups tomorrow.

British Pair Second.

Archie Compston, British pro, equaled Smith's Carnoustie record today with a 71 and established himself second among the qualifiers with 143. E. A. Whitcombe had a 71 at Panmure today which with his card of 72 at Carnoustie yesterday gave him a total of 143.

All nine of the British Ryder cup team got in except Herbert Jolly, the selection of whom has thrown Great Britain into a golfing turmoil. He took an 84 yesterday at Carnoustie and a 78 at Panmure today for 162.

Among the Americans washed out old Joshua Crane had the worst time of any of the championships he has entered in the last quarter-century. He had 85 yesterday and his string of sixes and sevens at Carnoustie today was too much, so he tore up his card.

Title Round Today.

Tom Maguire and Johnny De Paolo finished with 171 and 163, respectively, and Arthur Straub, American pro, added an 80 to his 91 yesterday and was around in 171.

The next phase of the championship, 36 holes, will be played at Carnoustie tomorrow and Thursday. The first 60 and ties for the sixtieth place will be picked for Friday's final 36 holes. A 72 hole total of 300 is expected to be good enough to win.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

A whopping big ninth inning rally, good for three runs, enabled the Brooklyn Robins to whip our Cubs in the opener yesterday—a tragic stroke which turned an imminent 6 to 4 victory into a 7 to 6 reversal.

The visitors' accomplishment was especially cruel because it swept away all manner of heroics performed by the Chicago fellows. The Robins were leading 2 to 0 in the first half of the first inning, but in the second the Cubs had 'em tied. The Robbins were leading 4 to 2 the first half of the fourth, but when the inning was over the score was 4 to 4.

That 4 to 4 tie prevailed until the eighth when the boys made four hits in most spirited fashion to take a 6 to 4 lead. Jakie May, in four and one-third innings, after relieving the exploded Percy Lay Malone in the fourth, had held the enemy to two scratch infield singles. Why, they even were packing up the bats and old Doc Latshaw was uncorking the arnica bottle after those two Cub runs in the eighth.

Triple Ruins Day for May.

Then, with the first of the ninth coming up, things started to happen. Bressler batted for Day, walked, and went to third on Frederick's single. Up came Mr. Gilbert with a devastating triple to tie the score, 6 to 6. Then Gilbert came home with the laurel wreath on a fly by Herman.

The Cubs had a chance against old Jack Quinn in the ninth, but all it turned out to be was a rousing cheer for Hack Wilson, who walked for May.

Pea Ridge Day, who was the winning pitcher when the Robins came from behind to lick the Cubs in their one previous game of the season on May 15, was the winning pitcher yesterday. As on the previous occasion, he was relief for Babe Phelps, but the other time the champion hog caller had to pitch almost a full game. Yesterday he won by pitching a strike and two balls to one batsman, Jurges, who hit into the fourth double play executed by the Robins during the afternoon.

In taking the sad verdict, Charley Grimm got further inspiration for the banjo ballad he is writing entitled, "O, Reds and Pirates, will we love you in September as we did in May?" The theme, you know, is based on the fact that except on three occasions the Cubs have been unable to beat any team except the Cincinnatis and the Pittsburghs.

Sweetland will go against Dazzy Vance this afternoon in an effort to crack the Robin victory slate. Les, with a tail end club last year, was able to take four games from the Robins.

Malone Wilts Early.

The first two Robin batsmen of the game were easy infield outs, but a walk to Herman touched off a fuse. Bissonette bounced a single past Hornsby and the Babe stopped at second. Lopez shot a duplicate of Bissonette's single to right. Cuyler made the play for Herman at the plate, but Herman scored before Hartnett got the ball. Lopez started for second as Bissonette pulled up at third, thus drawing a throw from Hartnett. Gabby made a bad toss to English and Bissonette scored. Hornsby threw out O'Doul to end the inning.

The Cubs scored one in the first inning and one in the second, despite the fact that old double play curse was upon them in each inning. Moore started the Chicago offensive by beating out a slow roller toward first and he ran to third when English singled

Yale Club Plans Banquet Before Maroon-Eli Game

The largest gathering of Yale alumni ever assembled in Chicago is planned for Friday, Oct. 16. The occasion, the eve of the Chicago-Yale football game at Stagg field, will be marked by a banquet at the Stevens hotel. The affair will be sponsored by the Yale club of Chicago.

A number of prominent Yale men are being arranged as speakers, and the Yale band will provide Yale songs and marching music throughout the evening. Following the football game on Saturday the Yale club will be host to the Eli football team at a musical show in a loop theater. The audience will consist entirely of Yale alumni, the players and a few guests.

All England Awaits 149th Derby Today

EPSOM, England, June 2.—(AP)—Their training work finished, 27 bundles of precious horseflesh were bedded down tonight, awaiting the bugle sending them off tomorrow in the 148th renewal of England's historic Derby with the king, queen, princes and commoners looking on.

As post time approached, J. A. Dewar's Cameronian held the position of the favorite at 4 to 1 odds, with the Aga Kahn's Pomme D'Api and A. F. Bassett's Dr. Dolittle second choices at 10 to 1. Sir John Rutherford's Orpen was held at 12 to 1, with the American contingent of Marshall Field's Jacopo and William Woodward's Sir Andrew quoted at the respective odds to 20 to 1 and 25 to 1.

Unfavorable Weather Forecast.

The weather forecast is unfavorable but the sun shone spasmodically this afternoon and if the rain holds off, the mile and one-half course will be in fair condition by post time. The Derby is run uphill the first mile, down hill the next quarter, and finishes on a slight upgrade.

Scratches, because the thoroughbreds failed to round into form, cut the original nominations of 404 to the present field. The rigors of training played no favorites, for Ashbridge, King George's entry, fell by the wayside.

WYKOFF TO HAVE NO EASY TIME IN COLLEGIATE DASH

Eleven Stars Will Seek His Title.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Frank Wykoff, Southern California sprinter, who holds the American 100 yard dash record of 9 4-10 seconds, won't have George Simpson at his heels Saturday in the national collegiate meet at Stagg field to spur him on. But there are eleven other top notch sprinters entered in the dash, and half of them are fast enough to win from the Trojan if he falters.

Wykoff won last year in 9 4-10 seconds, equaling the mark he had set earlier in 1930 in the California intercollegiate meet. His record has been recognized by the Amateur Athletic union, and undoubtedly when the international federation meets it also will give approval. In that event Eddie Tolan's world record of 9 5-10 seconds will be wiped away.

Tolan, Toppino to Return.

Tolan, finishing his competition on Saturday for Michigan, is one of Wykoff's most dangerous competitors. Last year Tolan was fourth. Ed Toppino of Loyola university, New Orleans, finished third. Simpson, then a senior at Ohio State, was second. Toppino will return this week for another race with Wykoff.

Wykoff did not compete in the National A. A. U. meet last summer at Pittsburgh, in which Tolan won the title. Since starting training this year Wykoff has won nine races and is undefeated. Twice he has run the hundred in 9 5-10 seconds, four times in 9 6-10 seconds, winning the eastern intercollegiates last week in this time, twice in 9 7-10 seconds, and once in 9 8-10 seconds.

Others in the field who have been timed this year in 9 8-10 seconds or less are Medley, Southwestern Teachers, Oklahoma; Hass, Minnesota; Conway, Iowa; Tierney, Marquette, and Baker, Oklahoma.

Sentman Hurdle Favorite.

The thrill of watching the nation's greatest sprinters is but one reason for attending the tenth national collegiates. The hurdle races, 220 yard and 120 yard sprints over the wooden barriers, will be run in near world's record time, if indeed the record is not surpassed.

Lee Sentman of Illinois, who tied the world mark of 14.4 seconds in the Western conference meet, is the favorite. Jack Keller, Ohio State sophomore, who ran in 14.3 seconds in the Ohio relays in May, and Bob Hager of Iowa State, who defeated Sentman in the Drake relays in 14.6 seconds, are outstanding. Hager has run in 14.5. This was his time in the Big Six track meet. One stride behind these hurdlers is James Hatfield of Indiana. His best time in competition is 14.8 seconds in the preliminaries at Kansas.

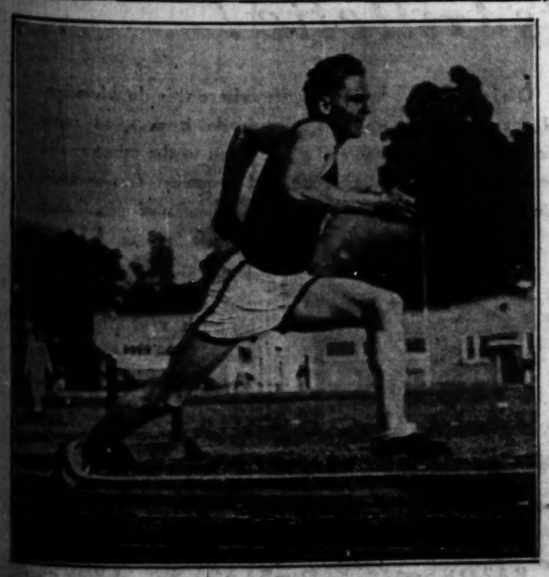
Keller's record in the Ohio relays will not be submitted for approval because he knocked over two hurdles.

Trojan Hurdler Will Run.

The low hurdle race also will be contested by these men with added competition from Ernie Payne, Southern California eastern intercollegiate winner, and Bill Carls, another Trojan, who placed fifth at Pennsylvania last Saturday.

Sentman is defending champion. Last year he won in 23 2-10 seconds, tying Cuhel's national collegiate record established in 1928. Since then Sentman has not done so well in the longer hurdle race. He lost the Big Ten title to Keller last month. Keller's time was 23 5-10 seconds. Payne won at Pennsylvania in 23 6-10 seconds, but his best record this year was 23 4-10 in the California intercollegiate track meet.

DASH TITLE AT STAKE



Frank Wykoff, University of Southern California sprinter, holds the American record of 9.4 seconds in the hundred yard dash. He is the national collegiate champion in the event and will be present on Saturday at Stagg field to defend his crown against the country's best sprinters.

Sound Mind in Sound Body, Slogan of U. S. Turnerbund

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The thousands of playgrounds and gymnasiums wherein American school children play the year around trace their origin to the American Turnerbund, one of the world's greatest physical culture organizations. When Friedrich Ludwig Jahn, the founder of the turners, organized the first turnverein in Berlin in 1811, he probably had no idea that this fledgling group would one day form the basis of another country's system of physical education.

Chicago members of the American Turnerbund, all of them practical exponents of Jahn's teachings, will play an important rôle in the Chicagoland Sports Congress to be sponsored by THE TRIBUNE at Soldiers' field on Sunday afternoon, June 21. The congress will be the greatest demonstration of mass athletics ever staged in the United States. Approximately 5,000 men, women and children athletes of Chicagoland will participate in a program of events which include calisthenics, marching drills, exhibitions by champion gymnasts, fencers and dancers.

Speed, Muscular Exhibitions.

The schedule of events calls for a tug of war, in which hundreds of men, instead of the usual score, will engage. Relay races, with dozens of teams competing, will provide the element of speed as a contrast to the muscular exhibition in the tug of war. And as a climax, all of the actors in this great sports play will assemble on the field for a mass drill, in which nearly 5,000 are expected to take part.

The cast of the Sports Congress will not be confined to the Turners alone. They will be joined by hundreds of members of other gymnastic organizations, such as the Czechoslovakian Sokol societies, the Polish Falcons, the Scandinavian athletic associations, and the public high schools.

Included in the various drills will be hundreds of school children, whose ability in gymnastics is founded in the gyms and playgrounds which the disciples of Jahn brought to this country.

Inception of Playground System.

The use of gymnasiums and the application of turner principles as a method of building growing bodies was first demonstrated in 1826 when Carl Beck, a pupil of Jahn, founded the Round Hill Boys' school at Northampton, Mass. From this beginning has grown the playground system of America. Today the work of Beck and others, together with that of subsequent generations of turners, finds itself borne out in the fact that schools throughout the United States are equipped with modern gymnastic apparatus and playing fields for students of all ages.

The introduction of gymnastics into this country was not accomplished without difficulties. A government report of national education at the close of the nineteenth century comments on the fact that while a notable work was being done in the direction of physical training in elementary and secondary schools, it had yet to become an integral part of the American educational system. The turners now point with pride to the fact that their fight to install a standard system of training in the schools has been won with overwhelming success.

An American Organization.

There is a popular misunderstanding among average Americans that the turners are distinctly a German organization. Although this is true in so far as the ancestry of the majority of the members is concerned, any one can enter the organization. One of the principles of the American Turnerbund is that it is an American organization. Its part in the introduction of physical education in United States schools is the outstanding testimonial to this assertion.

The turners established the first normal college of physical education in the United States in New York in 1866. The school, known as the Normal college of the American Gymnastic Union, is now located at Indianapolis and annually produces instructors in the public high schools. August Pritzlaff, supervisor of physical education in Chicago's schools, is a graduate.

The turners' curriculum is not confined to physical education. The motto of the organization is "A sound mind in a sound body," one that is justified by dramatic and debating societies, singing, music, and manual arts. The athletic side of the program includes calisthenics, marching tactics, apparatus work, track and field, fencing, swimming, sharpshooting, and all simple and highly organized games.

Chicagoan Wins at Turnfest.

George Seibel of Philadelphia is president of the American Turnerbund, while Leopold Saltiel is head of the Illinois district. The organization holds national turnfests at intervals of three or four years, and at longer periods journeys to Germany to compete in the international turnfest. Thousands competed in the last one, held at Cologne in 1928, and for the first time in history American turners won a share of the individual championship when Emil Preiss of Chicago, now a teacher of physical education at the University of Pennsylvania, tied for the title.

Carnera's Foe Has to Be a Palooka.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 2.—Well, now, here is the strange case of the prizefight promoter who finds himself compelled to advertise one of the artists in his main event as a bum beneath insult.

You may have been reading of the recent lawing back and forth in the courts between the Garden corporation on one side and James J. Johnston, the free lance prizefight promoter, on the other, over the right to present Primo Carnera in some kind of public unveiling in New York this summer. Carnera pledged himself to the Garden firm, then pledged himself to Mr. Johnston for a prior date with Jack Sharkey, then found himself restrained by a court injunction from fighting any major opponent before he should fight the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling incident in Cleveland, for the Garden. Mr. Carnera, however, might be permitted to fight some indubitable bum.

Enter a Big Stranger.

So, Mr. Johnston canceled Sharkey and came prancing back into the scene the other day leading a big stranger by a nosering and announcing that he had discovered a bum of the utmost indubitability to be fought by Primo.

"His name is Pat Redmond," Mr. Johnston stated, "and I can assure the honorable court that he is strictly a bum, although how can I help it if people get a look at him and take a curious notion that he is actually a ripping, tearing maneater and just the size and type to reach out and pat Carnera two or three socks on the beard and kick him prostrate on the floor? I wish to assure the honorable court that I do not belive he will give Carnera any trouble whatever and you may be sure that I will be among the first to write the Garden corporation a postcard expressing my deepest sympathy if he should betray my trust in him and interrupt Primo, thus depreciating the cash value of the Garden's contract or the other contest next fall.

Poor Fellow, He's So Frail.

"Personally, I do not believe this Redmond has a chance. Look at the poor fellow, noting his diminutive height of 6 feet 3½ inches, his emaciated condition—he is down to 248 pounds—and the delicate size of his hands, which are no bigger than sofa pillows, and you are bound to agree with me that it is almost vicious to go on with the unequal contest. In fact, in my conscientious desire to comply with the letter and the spirit of the honorable court's decision and to observe the sacred property rights of the Garden firm, I may be exposing myself to prosecution from some society for the prevention of something.

"Redmond is little better than a novice as he has been fighting only four years or so in Ireland, Australia and Brooklyn, and, for all I have been able to learn, he hasn't had more than 75 or 80 contests all told. He has won numerous victories but all his opponents have been beginners, like himself, and all small types of from 215 to 235 pounds, such as Roberto Roberti and Ricardo Bertazolla.

May Be Bolstering Confidence.

"It has been argued that our bum has knocked out several of his sparring partners in practice contests in the gymnasium, but I need not remind the sophisticated element that very often an intelligent sparring partner will pretend to be knocked out momentarily in order to bolster his employer's self-confidence.

"Now, I realize, of course, that a journalist does not like to write articles of a destructive or pessimistic tone, especially at a time like the present when it is the duty of all of us to revive confidence and face the future with a smiling optimism.

Macks Beat Sox, 3 to 2, on Miller's Homer

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 2.—Mr. Pat Caraway, the long fellow from Texas, southpawed in brilliant fashion this afternoon but wasn't quite brilliant enough. His mates gave him a lead at the start but eventually Pat erred by throwing a home run ball to Bing Miller with a man on and this hit permitted the crippled world champion Athletics to win the opener of the series from the White Sox, 3 to 2.

The Sox not only showed the title holders some excellent southpawing but were forced to look at some themselves. The phlegmatic Rube Walberg, as far as hits were concerned, did better in nine innings than Caraway in seven. Altogether the Chicagoans were the authors of only four safeties, three of which were clustered in the first inning to give the visitors their day's total of runs.

Score After Double Play.

A double play put a crimp in the Sox before they actually started the business of scoring their two runs in

The failure of Ashbridge to get into condition deprived his majesty of a chance for a double celebration, for tomorrow is his sixty-sixth birthday. Weather permitting, he expects to see the Derby again this year, as last, with Queen Marie, the prince of Wales, and Prince George.

World Wide Interest.

Interest in the race, traditionally great, is greater this year because of the world-wide focus on the gigantic sweepstakes. The Irish sweepstakes alone will distribute close to $10,000,000, while the Calcutta sweepstakes and smaller organizations will boost the total above the fifteen million mark.

The vanguard of the expected crowd of 750,000 to 1,000,000 moved in on this quaint little village early this morning. By trains, special buses, bicycles and on foot they thronged the highways leading to the picturesque course. Numerous organizations transported blind veterans of the world war to the track, each group having interpreters to describe the progress of the race.

CLERK WINS $500 IN SWEEPSTAKES; BOSS FIRES HIM

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 2.—Harry Wheeler, who had been employed by a grocer named G. R. Standing for 42 years, lost his job today as a result of drawing a cash prize of $500 in the Irish sweepstakes.

Standing, not only as magistrate but as a local preacher, had been condemning the sweepstakes from the pulpit. Wheeler disguised himself under the pseudonym of Jumbo, but thoughtlessly gave his business address. Standing immediately became the butt of his friends, who jokingly accused him of gambling under an assumed name, and finding that Wheeler was the owner of the ticket he fired him.

IRISH FOOTBALL CHAMPS TO PLAY IN CHICAGO AGAIN

The Irish championship Gaelic football team has accepted the challenge of the Chicago team to play a return game in White Sox park next Sunday.

Chicago's team is selected from the best players of the nine football clubs affiliated under the Mid-West Gaelic Athletic association. The members of the team are undergoing an intensive course of training and are expected to give the Irish champions one of the stiffest games they have had since their arrival in this country.

With a view to popularizing the game in this country, children accompanied by their parents or school teachers will be admitted to the game in White Sox park.

TOM CONNOLLY HEADS AMERICAN LEAGUE UMPIRES

Thomas H. Connolly, dean of American league umpires, has been appointed chief of staff by President Will Harridge and will be relieved of active duty on the diamond after officiating in a game at Boston June 17. At that time he will report immediately to President Harridge at the league offices in Chicago.

Connolly's new duties will be scouting the minor leagues for possible new umpiring material, serving in an advisory capacity to President Harridge in matters regarding the playing rules and supervisor of umpires.

Wall-Eyed Pike Desert Drys; Hang Around the Bars

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Planting Ground Lake, Wis., June 2.—After being classed as "dry" all winter and spring, the wall-eyed pike up here have gone "wet." We found them today loafing around the bars in this lake.

It took us about three-quarters of an hour to locate a school of these accommodating fish, which provide just the right kind of sport with rod and line when a fellow has spring fever and wants to sprawl in a boat and troll on a sunflecked lake while the grosbeaks sing from the forest nearby.

Although the muskies in these lakes, which are not far from the village of Three Lakes, apparently haven't yet donned their fighting togs, there was no need to leave the party and a lovely spring, because the wall-eyes, all pepped up by their gay life around the Planting Ground bars, were as accommodating as usual. When other fish won't hit, the old pike perch usually will.

Ordinarily, we prefer to fish for wall-eyes along toward evening. The big-eyed pike perch is primarily an evening feeder and around dusk he is busy gobbling up the minnows that form his food. But this morning the giddy pike on the bars reversed all the rules and struck best between 10:30 and 12:30.

When's Boxer a Bum? When There's a Writ

Therefore, you will hear no protest from me if you describe this bum as a gladiator of startling immensity, gigantic strength and the most shocking fury.

"A journalist is entitled to his own opinions and I am no censor, so if you were to express the belief that Carnera is about to be exposed at last and knocked bowlegged by Pat Redmond, the greatest young heavyweight since Dempsey's early days, I should reserve comment and attribute your enthusiasm either to an honest difference of opinion or a laudable desire to stimulate business, beginning on the evening of June 10, at Ebbets field, Brooklyn.

Says He Might Be Wrong.

"It may even be that I am wrong and have underestimated Pat Redmond, taking him to be a bum and no menace to Primo Carnera, when I should recognize him as a savage puncher with a tremendous store of courage and power concealed within a shaggy, lumpy, and, to some people, altogether brutish exterior which impresses me, however, as something too delicate and gentle for the ring and better suited to interior decorating.

"But if I thought otherwise I could not honorably go through with my production which is to take place—did I say at Ebbets field on the night of June 10?—and may result as some people insist, in the exercise of their right to free opinion, in Primo Carnera's being belted all over the ring. If I conscientiously believed that this bum, Pat Redmond, might cause Carnera any inconvenience in their contest and jeopardize the property interests of the Garden firm, it would be my duty to withdraw from the affair abruptly, paying all losses out of my own pocket because the greatest need of this country at the present time, next to a good heavyweight champion, is a respect for the rights and property of others.

"Carnera should lick our bum, or our slashing tiger as you wish to regard him, in one punch, barring accidents. But with the accident rate what it is I cannot give any guarantees, of course, but merely hope for the worst."

SOLONS OVERRIDE VETO OF FLORIDA RACING MEASURE

Tallahassee, Fla., June 2.—(AP)—The state senate today overrode Gov. Doyle E. Carlton's veto of a legislative bill to permit racing with pari-mutuel betting in Florida, and responsibility of determining whether the measure shall become law now rests with the house of representatives.

The senate vote to override the veto was 26 to 12. If the house can likewise muster a two-thirds majority, the measure will become law despite the governor's disapproval. The measure originally passed the senate, 20 to 15, and was adopted in the house, 55 to 38.

Proposed as a means of settling the long controversy over horse and dog racing in this state, the bill provided that the state should receive 3 per cent of the gross wagerings and 15 per cent of the admissions.

PAUL STAGG IS NAMED CHICAGO TENNIS CAPTAIN

Stagg Jr., was captain of the team in 1923, and member of the conference doubles championship pair. Paul, a junior, is quarter back on the Maroon football team. Capt. Scott Rexinger, conference singles champion the last two years, and also on the winning doubles team the last two years; his doubles teammate of this season, Herbert Heyman, and Stanley Kaplan, No. 4 man on the team, will be lost by graduation.

Cousin Jo Proves She's a Great 3 Year Old Filly

BY FRENCH LANE.

Cousin Jo is a great 3 year old filly, maybe the best of her age in many seasons. Charley Fisher's Sweep All, second to Twenty Grand in the Kentucky Derby, may not be such a fine horse after all.

Cousin Jo at odds on did her stuff against Lady Fingers, one of the fleetest mares in the country, at six furlongs, and won by two lengths and a half in the Lilies of the Valley purse at Washington Park yesterday. A gallant dash in the stretch brought her victory.

Sweep All gets trimmed too often by Pittsburgher and other in and out horses to be rated very highly. He was walloped by Pittsburgher and the eastern filly Sunny Lassie in the Jackson Park purse yesterday.

Sweep All was at shorter odds than Cousin Jo. He had no excuses to offer. He was away winging. Jockey Pool kept him in front by two lengths as the field skimmed around the lowes bend and headed into the stretch.

Then Pittsburgher began to run and Sweep All started to quit. He did a better job of quitting than Pittsburgher did of running. In the last dozen strides Sweep All quit so badly that Sunny Lassie raced past him for second money.

Trainer Clyde Van Dusen made no secret of the fact that Sweep All's feet were a bit sore when he brought the son of Sweep-Nettie Hastings to Chicago. But Sweep All stepped out in his first engagement here and won so handily he had the whole Chicago gathering thinking he was unbeatable. So naturally he went to the post yesterday at very short odds.

Claims have been made that Sweep All will beat every 3 year old in the country except Twenty Grand. After watching him get trimmed yesterday I wouldn't want a ticket on him to beat Jamestown, Mate, Cousin Jo, Epithet or any of the other leaders in his division.

Van Dusen had Sweep All in marvelous condition for the Kentucky Derby and it took a record breaker like Twenty Grand to beat him.

The crowd was a bit sorrowful when Gala Flight failed to get any part of the money in the Springtime purse. For this daughter of Sir Galahad III.-Star Flight had brought $30,000 in the Saratoga auctions last August from Griffin Watkins of Illinois. Princess Camella, Jalie, and Usual Time led her home.

Gala Flight is a full sister to Insco and had outworked every horse in Kentucky during the spring. She had been burning up the track since coming to Chicago. There's only one alibi. Jockey L. McDermott gave her one of his worst rides. Now, if you know how bad McDermott can ride on occasions you will appreciate the filly's handicap, but even at that Gala Flight looked more like a $3,000 filly than one that is worth $30,000.

* Last season there was a colt in Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney's barn named Scapegoat which did most of his training work with Twenty Grand. And, according to the boys in the stable, Scapegoat could outrun Twenty Grand most any time they stepped out on the track for a half mile or five furlongs.

Scapegoat got into the mile second race at Washington Park, an affair for maidens, yesterday and how the folks plunged on him. Stories of the way he outgalloped Twenty Grand went grapevining all through the crowd. And you should have heard the crowd shout as Scapegoat wheeled into the stretch running 12 lengths in front of his field. They started running for the cashier's side of the mutuel pavilion. Then when they looked up at the finish board they discovered Scapegoat had wound up in third place. Lucky Carter beat him, and so did Dick Porter. Scapegoat was so badly beaten he likely would have fallen down if he had been asked to go another furlong.

the first inning. Blue led off with a pass and was doubled on Cissell's grounder to short. Then Reynolds singled and immediately removed himself from action because of a reappearance of his charley horse.

Fonseca crashed a liner against the score board in right center and Watwood, who ran for Reynolds, tore over the plate. Fonseca, who also has shaky underpinnings, went as far as second. He scored on Fothergill's single to left, after which Eichrodt bounced into a force play.

The luck usually enjoyed by the Macks assisted them to one run off Caraway in their portion of the opening inning. Bishop started off with a legitimate single through short. Haas bunted a slow one toward third and nobody could get it. Williams rolled a bunt in the opposite direction and this, too, went for a hit, filling the bases. The walloping Simmons was set down on a pop fly. Foxx flied to Eichrodt and Bishop scored after the catch. Fothergill smothered Miller's lofter to conclude the inning.

Infielders Display Ability.

For the next three or four innings there was a large order of good pitching and dashing fielding displayed. Jeffries and Cissell turned in a few neat stops to prevent base hits and Williams, at short, did the same in a bigger and better way to aid Walberg. This sort of defense let the veteran southpaw reel off four hitless innings. In the same four sessions Caraway gave up only one safety. This was a double past third by Williams with two gone in the third. This gave Simmons another chance to do some damage but he grounded to Fonseca.

The first hit off Walberg after the first frame was a scratch single by Blue to open the sixth, but the Sox couldn't promote it into a run. Blue whacked the ball to Williams in deep short and the young fellow had to make such a hurried throw that he missed his target. The ball sailed to the grandstand and Blue took second. The next three batters were overwhelmed by feebleness. Cissell fanned, Watwood flied to right and Williams tossed out Fonseca.

Mr. Miller Hits for Circuit.

The next hits off Caraway were in the sixth and they produced the two runs that put the champions in the lead. Caraway disposed of both Williams and Simmons. Then Foxx lined a single to right and Miller, with one strike against him, pushed his homer into the none too distant left field pavilion, making a count of 3 to 2. Just after this incident Watwood made a two base muff of a fly out about where Wilson staged his memorable miscue in the fall of 1929. Caraway then passed Heving and tossed out Walberg to end the inning.

After Blue's single in the sixth the Sox didn't get another glimpse of first base until the eighth when, with one out, Appling batted for Caraway and walked. Nothing came of this because Blue lifted to center and Chapman poked into a force out. Another offensive opening appeared in the ninth, after Kerr, batting for Watwood, and Fonseca had failed to start anything. Fothergill survived at first on a wild throw by Williamson. The ex-Cub came a moment later when Eichrodt neglected to give his attention to a third strike which wafted over.

Tomorrow Ted Lyons will have the unenviable task of tryi[ng] to win a decision from the rubber armed Grove.

Tough Luck, Pat

Fields Fights Cuban in Mills Ring June 11

Two welterweights, Jackie Fields, Chicago born boxer, and Kid Chocolate Saguero, Sagua Lagrande, Cuba, will meet in the eight round main event of Promoter Jim Mullen's opening outdoor boxing show at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, on June 11. Four other eight round bouts will round out the card.

Fields, who has not shown before Chicago fight fans since he won a ten round decision over Vince Dundee at the Coliseum a year ago last winter, has scored a number of victories subsequent to losing his newly acquired 147 pound title to Young Jack Thompson on May 19, 1930, at Detroit, Mich.

Saguero has compiled 48 victories in 52 matches, and 34 of those were knockouts. Saguero has lost only two contests. The other bouts were drawn.

Mullen will resume the middleweight elimination tournament he started last winter, when Clyde Chastian, Spring field, Mo., and Cary Leach, Gary, Ind., met in an eight round combat.

Robins' Rally in Ninth Beats Cubs by 7 to 6

Grimm's Hit Helps.

In the second inning Hartnett walked, moved to second on Jurges' sacrifice and scored on the first of Grimm's run producing hits, a single to left center. Malone then hit into a double play.

The fourth inning marked the demise of Malone, who displayed striking inefficiency during the period just before he went away. First off he walked Bissonette, then Lopez beat out a bunt towards third. O'Doul popped to Jurges, after which Malone cast a wild pitch, advancing Bissonette and Lopez. Pat hit Slade with a pitched ball, filling the bases. Then his skill returned long enough to cause Thompson to fan for the second out. Consternation was indeed great which Pitcher Phelps stepped up and smacked a single to right, Bissonette scoring and the bases remaining filled. May relieved Malone and Frederick forthwith scratched a single past Jakie, Lopez scoring. Gilbert flied to Moore.

Four Hits in Eighth.

And here's what transpired in the Cub half of that fourth: Cuyler singled with one out and was forced by Hartnett. Hartnett scored on Jurges' long double to right center and Jurges came home on Grimm's single to center. Phelps threw out May.

The Cub onslaught in the eighth which so briefly seemed to assure a Chicago triumph proceeded in this fashion: English fanned. Then Hornsby, Stephenson, Cuyler and Hartnett singled in succession, the first three knocks filling the bases and the one by Hartnett driving in two runs.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

POT POURRI.

EASTERN teams of the National league have opened their first invasion of the west. To meet this attack the Cubs, despite all harping at their showing, are in excellent position. In fact, they should gain temporarily on Cardinals and Giants while the latter are engaged in a four game tussle in the Mound City. When New York comes here, that's something else again.

With practically all managers agreeing that the St. Louis outfit is the one to beat for the flag, that will not make the St. Louis going any smoother. Considering many opportunities wasted, Hornsby's north siders are in a much more favorable spot than might have been expected under the circumstances.

Racing of 1931 is not showing much, if any, decrease in attendance. There is, however, a falling off in the volume of speculation, which decreases track profits. That was to be expected. The percentage loss, on the other hand, is less than in ordinary business. Outdoor amusements, more notably baseball, appear to feel hard times less than other enterprises.

Failure of the Florida bill legalizing pari-mutuel betting to receive the governor's approval may have far reaching consequences to racing in that state. James A. Widener, sponsor for the venture at Miami, has not announced his plans. It was supposed he would not continue much longer in the field unless given some kind of protection. Possibly the fact the legislature passed the bill vetoed by the governor may cause continuation of the present plan in hope of future relief.

There will be racing in Florida, whether or not conducted by the Widener coterie. But unless under the supervision of noted sportsmen, it will not attract the best stables nor prove of high class.

For Rachael.

You were always so brave
When I was afraid
Though I was two years older,
You always waded in first
To see if the water was Too deep for me.
And sometimes when you were scared, too,
You said you weren't, so I wouldn't be.
You were always brave—
Always took the deepest dive,
And I was so proud, knowing I
Never could do things like that—
Brave, splendid things.

You were always so brave.
And even though I'm older,
You still wade in to see

De Paul Preps Defend Track Title Today

De Paul academy, for two consecutive years the track and field champion of the Catholic High School league, will defend its title in the annual meet this afternoon at Soldiers' field. The meet was scheduled for last Saturday, but was postponed because of rain.

Harry Smith and Benny Hehir, stars in last year's victory, again will race down the cinders in an effort to help De Paul capture its third successive championship. Smith ran the quarter mile in record time in the 1930 meet, while Hehir set a new mark in the half mile event.

A record in the shot put is the hope of Harvey Rumsfield, De Paul star, who weighs 240 pounds. Rumsfield has tossed the weight past the 40 foot mark in dual meets this season. De Paul will have Wallen Bowen, defending champion, in the pole vault.

Among teams conceded a chance to wrest the title from De Paul is Loyola academy, which lost the championship two years ago. Harry Hofherr, Looney, Yore, and Daley will carry Loyola's hopes to regain the title.

Hofherr, who led the Loyola football team last fall, will compete in the sprints and possibly in the broad jump. Looney has been entered in the high jump, while Yore will race in the 440 yard run. Daley will broad jump.

The star of the St. George squad, Morrissey, will attempt to retain his title in the 120 yard low hurdles. Morrissey set a record of 15 seconds in last year's meet. St. George will have Kaiser in the broad jump and Zurecher in the shot put.

Lindblom has won seven games and lost one while Tilden, the runner up in the section, has a standing of six and two. They will meet in the semi-finals of the city championship race within the next two weeks. Score:

EL PRODUCTO! Personality!

As true of cigars as of men!

Ask your friends to describe an outstanding personality among men, and every one gives a different description. But description boils down to one opinion—"a fine fellow."

Let your taste describe El Producto's personality—that combination of mellow mildness blended with outstanding character to produce real enjoyment. And no matter how often you test it, your taste will tell you that El Producto's real enjoyment never varies. That is due to unchanging quality—in the tobaccos, in the blending, in the making—unvarying quality that has won El Producto an army of steady smokers whose combined opinion is—"a fine, distinctive cigar."

RAILS DOMINATE SUBURB GROWTH, KINGERY ASSERTS

Mrs. Carrie Bell Sells House on Woodlawn.

Robert Kingery, general manager of the Chicago Regional Planning association, addressed members of the subdivision division of the Chicago Real Estate board at a luncheon at the Palmer house yesterday on subdivisions with respect to the growth of the Chicago metropolitan area, pointing out some of the pitfalls confronting their activities and measures to promote their business.

Mr. Kingery urged the subdividers in making their plans for the exploitation of their properties to make allowances for park and playground areas before it is too late. He cited the high cost to the City of Chicago in securing recreation areas in built up districts and stated that this condition was one of the factors making for the high cost of government.

Growth Follows Rails.

Mr. Kingery called the attention of the realty men to the fact that railway transportation still dominates the growth of suburban communities, stating that despite the sixteen year road building program in Cook county the densest populations in outlying communities are located within a mile of rail transportation.

Percy Wilson, head of the division and president of Percy & Co., stated that present conditions in the financial investment field show real estate to be in a favorable position. Compared with the huge sums written off stock valuations, he said, real estate has not fared so badly.

South Side Deal.

Mrs. Carrie E. Bell of the Drake hotel, widow of R. W. Bell, formerly executive vice president of the Illinois Central railroad, has sold the twelve room residence at 4833 Woodlawn avenue, lot 55x280 feet, to Alex Harroun, Hyde Park investor, for a reported $45,000. As a part of the deal Mr. Harroun sold to Mrs. Bell the three apartment building at the northeast corner of Madison Park and Woodlawn avenue, lot 55x142 feet, at a reported $75,000. N. H. Helberg of the 53d street office of Carroll, Schendorf & Boenicke represented all parties.

A profitable long term lease transaction was disclosed in the filing for record of the terms of the lease entered into by Albert Hoefeld with Sol H. Goldberg on the property at the northwest corner of Belmont and Lincoln avenues. On a sublease Mr. Goldberg was to pay $20,000 annually from May 1, 1930, to Jan. 1, 1931, $40,000 annually from Jan. 1, 1931, to April 30, 1936, and $45,000 annually for the balance of the term, which ends April 29, 2027. Mr. Hoefeld originally leased the property from Samuel and Lena Safir on a basis of $20,000 annually for the first twenty years and $25,000 annually for the balance of the term. Mr. Goldberg has erected a two floor store and office building on the property.

RAIL LOADINGS SUGGEST RISE IN NATION'S TRADE

BY O. A. MATHER.

About the most cheerful news yesterday was the weekly report on the movement of commodities by the railroads. It suggested further improvement in general business in spite of the approach of summer. It was the more encouraging because the expansion for the week, at least, was somewhat larger than seasonal.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended May 23 totaled 755,071 cars, according to the summary of the American Railway association. This total marked an increase of 7,329 cars over the preceding week and was about three times as large as the increase in the corresponding week in 1930. However, the current total still was short of a year ago by 174,535 cars.

The detail of the report shows that miscellaneous freight loadings totaled 360,461 cars, a decrease of 65,556 from the corresponding week of 1930; merchandise 22,500, decrease 23,973; coal 116,312, decrease 13,142; forest products 37,843, decrease 17,592; ore 20,730, decrease 34,556; coke 6,625, decrease 1,161; grain and grain products 36,581, decrease 1,119; live stock 20,018, decrease 3,734.

Oil Output Rises.

Less cheerful was the weekly report on petroleum production. A considerable increase in production following several sharp declines, offered further explanation of the drastic reduction in prices announced by the chief purchasers of crude oil in the last few days.

The daily average gross crude oil output last week totaled 2,462,150 barrels, an increase of 25,000,000 barrels a day over the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum Institute. Expansion of 46,150 barrels a day in the east Texas flush field was primarily responsible for the increase and more than canceled considerable curtailment in the Oklahoma, coastal Texas, and California fields.

In spite of the larger production, the state of the summer motoring season enabled refiners to make further moderate progress. They took a trifle more crude oil and operated at 69.3 per cent of capacity last week, compared with 68.4 per cent in the previous week. Stocks of gasoline at the end of last week totaled 44,795,000 barrels, a decrease of 854,000 barrels.

Steel Production Eases.

The first estimate of the week on operations of the steel industry also was less reassuring, although the usual tapering off as summer begins had been expected. The American Iron and Steel Institute estimates that steel ingot production this week for the whole country will average about 40 per cent of mill capacity, making a decline of 2 points from a week ago and following several weeks of lesser decline.

However, mills in the Chicago district have been doing better than average, with operations running around 45 per cent of capacity. The publication predicts that the low level of operations will be reached in July and a rather sharp season gain thereafter.

CUTS IN PRICE OF CRUDE OIL BRING PROTEST

More than 100 Kansas producers, meeting at Wichita to discuss protection, voiced protests and declared that under the new prices it would be impossible to operate small wells which produce a few barrels a day by pumping.

The new prices, ranging from 25 cents to 27 cents a barrel and representing reductions of from 18 to 30 cents a barrel, were initiated yesterday by the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Other large purchasers met the Stanolind prices, making the lowered schedule general over the area.

The new top price for crude oil, 27 cents a barrel, represents a reduction of $2.30 a barrel since 1926, when high gravity oil sold for $3.57 a barrel.

Ten Years Ago in Finance

Wages of railway employés are restored 10 per cent, or around $400,000,000 annually, by the labor board.

Rail shares advance slightly on the New York Stock exchange. New York Central closes at 69, Pennsylvania at 37, and Illinois Central at 80.

Sears-Roebuck sales for May were $7,031,345, or 30.87 per cent below May, 1930, and $4,136,112 below April.

U. S. Quits Attempt to Halt Standard Oil-Vacuum Merger

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(AP)—The government today abandoned its effort to prevent the merger of the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Oil company. It is intended to merge the $450,000,000 capital stock and $708,000,000 assets of Standard of New York and the $128,000,000 capital stock and $205,000,000 assets of Vacuum in a world-wide petroleum products corporation.

Announcing its intention not to carry the case to the Supreme court, the justice department said an appeal "undoubtedly" would sustain the facts found by the District court of Missouri, which declined to enjoin the merger.

Litigation "Not Justified."

"It has been determined that the government is not justified," the department said, "in prolonging this litigation by a futile appeal to the Supreme court."

It was pointed out that when the petition of the government for an injunction preventing the merger was dismissed in the District court of Missouri a specially constituted court consisting of three Circuit judges unanimously concluded that the proposed merger was "not induced by any motive or purpose to monopolize commerce, but by legitimate business reasons alone."

Three judges of the federal Court of Appeals held the merger would not be a violation of the historic Standard Oil dissolution decree of 1909. They held the decree was intended to prohibit only a merger which would actually violate the law against combinations in restraint of trade.

Based on Conditions.

These conclusions, the department said, were based upon specific findings relative to the legitimate business demands for the merger of the two companies and the competitive conditions which the new company will confront if the merger is consummated.

"The controlling facts which established the propriety and validity of the merger as a legitimate business arrangement of importance to the companies concerned," the department added, "have thus been judicially determined upon evidence sufficient to support the conclusion. In the Supreme court the facts found in the lower court would undoubtedly be accepted as established by the evidence."

May Resume Negotiations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 2.—Although Peter M. Speer, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of New York, declined to comment on the decision of the government to abandon its action to prevent merger of that company with the Vacuum Oil company, it was presumed in Wall street that efforts to put through the transaction would be resumed. It was not thought certain, however, that an attempt would be made to complete the merger immediately.

The merger agreement between the companies was announced Feb. 21, 1930. The plan provided a new company, to be known as the General Petroleum corporation, should acquire the assets of the older companies, giving three of its shares for each Vacuum share and one of its shares for each Standard of New York share. The businesses of the merging companies would be carried on under their old names, with the addition of "Inc." after each.

Cite Price Ranges.

In view of the discrepancy in the prices of Standard of New York and Vacuum stocks in February, 1930, and those now current, it is thought likely that the terms would have to be revised if the merger were to be consummated in the immediate future. Some observers questioned whether an immediate merger would be advisable under present conditions in the oil industry and the country generally.

In February, 1930, Standard of New York ranged from 31¼ to 33⅝. Vacuum stock ranged from 88¼ to 96⅞. The high for Standard of New York this year was 36 and it reached a new low of 14½ yesterday. Vacuum sold as high as 69¾ on the curb exchange this year and dropped to a new low of 22½, closing down 4¼ points at 22⅝.

CURRENT STANDARD OIL DIVIDENDS ARE ON PAR WITH 1928

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 2.—Copper Exporters, Inc., today cut the price of the red metal for sale abroad to 8.77 cents a pound c. i. f. European base ports. The new price is on a parity with 8½ cents for copper delivered to domestic consumers.

The cut was official recognition of the fact that the actual market for copper here is 8½ cents a pound. Heretofore the major companies had held the metal at 8¾ cents a pound. It is a new low record official price for about thirty-five years.

Following that reduction the General Cable corporation, which usually takes the lead in adjusting prices of manufactured copper to the metal market, announced that it had lowered the price of bare copper wire ¼ of a cent a pound to 10¼ cents a pound. This is the price for wire in carload lots.

Senators Differ on New Tariff Boosts in Canada

JAS. A. COUZENS.

Senators Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, described Premier Bennett's program as a reprisal to the United States tariff wall. Both are members of the senate finance committee, which helped frame the Hawley - Smoot act.

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, another member of that committee, saw no retaliation in Canada's move, but rather an intent to aid her agriculture as the American congress attempted to assist domestic farmers.

Meanwhile, commerce department figures showed approximately one-fourth of the $659,325,000 of American exports to Canada last year were affected by the new Canadian duties. Coal, steel, automobiles, and oranges appeared chiefly affected by the higher levies. Canada imports nearly one-fifth of the total American exports.

Harrison Blames Hoover.

Senator La Follette said the Canadian measure was "simply the natural human reaction to the inordinate rates of the Grundy bill."

"Reprisals in rates against American goods by our best customer," he said, "were freely predicted when the bill was up for debate in the senate. Canada's action in the carrying out of those rates will contribute to the already alarming decrease in American exports."

Senator Harrison said Canada's action would further affect legitimate American industry. He blamed President Hoover and the Republican leadership in congress for a tariff which he said was bound to lead to "retaliation and reprisals."

Chairman Jouett Shouse of the Democratic national executive committee said the Hawley-Smoot tariff "is a definite issue and insofar as I can speak for it I predict the Democratic party will gladly accept the challenge."

Canada's rate increases he termed "one more blow to our industries already suffering from the ruination of our foreign markets by the Smoot-Hawley tariff."

Publishers Act First.

New York, June 2.—(AP)—American magazine publishers were the first to act today when the new Canadian tariff schedules, which generally boosted rates against goods from this country, were published.

As soon as he read of the new 15 cents a pound duty against magazines, George Lucas, secretary of the National Publishers association, the organization of major periodical publishers, announced he was going to Ottawa to learn exactly what the effects of the regulations would be.

In Detroit automobile makers who had anticipated the higher rates, pointed out that most American companies have production facilities in the dominion.

The Saturday Evening Post, with larger circulation in Canada than any Canadian magazine, today instructed all agents to cease taking subscriptions, following the practically prohibitive duty placed on American magazines by the budget.

Tax on Investors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., June 2.—American investors, with an estimated three and one-half billion dollars invested in Canada, will pay direct to the dominion treasury an estimated $2,800,000 under one of the minor taxation enactments of the new Canadian budget, imposing a two per cent levy on all income from foreign investments, but Americans who pay two per cent on their Canadian income will receive credit in their own country, Premier Bennett told the commons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 2.—Speculative Wall street continued in its sour mood. At one time or another most stock groups penetrated new low territory and yesterday's sharp losses were increased anywhere from 1 to 4 points.

At that the picture was a little brighter than it has been for these last ten days or so. Two or three rallies of more or less determined front developed in the course of the day and while each of them petered out in turn in a fresh run of offerings brought on by the upward tilt of prices, they had the combined effect of slowing up the momentum of the decline and imparting a generally better tone to the market. Scattered issues were able to muster enough support to finish with small net gains.

Banking Support Talk.

Talk of mobilized "banking support" waiting to step into the breach persisted, but the trading fraternity paid little heed to it. The talk has been going the rounds for a week or

Pierce-Arrow Earns Year's Pfd. Dividend in 4 Months

A. R. Erskine, president of Pierce-Arrow Motor company, sent out the following statement yesterday:

"The report that Pierce-Arrow had passed its current quarterly dividend on its preferred stock is untrue. The quarterly dividend due June 1 and declared April 21 was paid yesterday. The next quarterly dividend meeting will not occur until July 21.

Mr. Erskine reported that sales of Studebaker cars for May were 6,225, against 5,353 cars for May, 1930, an increase of 16 per cent. Sales for the first five months this year exceeded those for the same period of 1930.

Kroger Grocery Reports May Sales of $20,470,422

Kroger Grocery and Baking company reported for the four weeks ended May 23 sales of $20,470,422, a decrease of one-tenth of one per cent from $20,493,922 reported for the like period last year. Sales for the twenty weeks ended May 23 totaled $100,371,774, a decrease of 3.1 per cent from $103,639,863 for the corresponding period of 1930.

HERE IS A TEST YOU CAN APPLY TO YOUR LIST OF SECURITIES

DIVERSIFICATION AND PROPER BALANCE... DO YOU HAVE THEM IN YOUR INVESTMENT ACCOUNT?

Suppose you have been extremely cautious in selecting the investments you now own... that you have confined yourself to bonds of high quality... that every security on your list is as sound and desirable today as the day you bought it.

You may be justified in congratulating yourself on the soundness of your investments, considered individually. But an important question still remains, one that you cannot afford to neglect.

- The question is this:

Is your list of investments so diversified that you have maximum protection against future changes in any division of industry, in any geographical division of the United States or the world, or against the possibility of unfavorable conditions for reinvestment in any particular future period?

The extent to which investment risk has been distributed in your account becomes apparent immediately upon filling in the blanks provided in the investment Analysis Chart here illustrated. You can do this yourself. All you need is this chart, a pen, and your list of securities.

Why This Bank Believes In Life Insurance

REASON NUMBER EIGHT

Through the medium of life insurance, it is possible for you and those with whom you may now be associated, either in a partnership or in a close corporation, to provide for the outright purchase of the interest of any deceased associate and thereby make sure the continuation of the business without the intrusion of outsiders. Furthermore, by placing this insurance in trust, you can make certain the purchase of his interest at a price and on a basis which all of you have had a hand in arranging. This Bank, though not engaged in the sale of life insurance, does recommend this use of it as a modern way of perpetuating a going concern and protecting the interests of all of its members

STOCK WEAKNESS RETARDS RISE IN WHEAT PRICES

Offsets Bullish News from the Northwest.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation in the stock market continues to have a decidedly depressing effect on the grain markets and offset to a large extent yesterday's sensationally bullish reports from the Canadian and American northwestern spring wheat sections. The poorest outlook for the crop this side of the international line in over 45 years is indicated by the average of the private estimates.

Continued dry weather in the prairie provinces and a proposal to pay an export bounty of 5c per bu on the new Canadian wheat led to strength in Liverpool and in Winnipeg and there was a fair class of buying in the local pit early with an advance of around ¾c. The late weakness in the stock market led to selling and a decline to a new low for the season on the September and December, short covering causing a rally toward the last with the finish ⅜c higher on Julye at 53¼c, while the deferred deliveries were unchanged to ¼c lower, September being 57⅝c, and December 61c.

Expect Big Wheat Crop.

Premier Bennett of Canada in his address to the dominion assembly Monday night, in which the proposed export bounty of 5c per bu on wheat was announced, spoke exceedingly discouragingly regarding the outlook for the new crop in the prairie provinces. A Chicago statistician in his report during the day estimated the prospective yield for all provinces at 310,000,000 bu, or 82,000,000 bu less than was harvested in 1930. The forecast, however, was for showers over a wide area, and there was some selling toward the last on the prospective breaking of the prolonged drought.

An American spring wheat crop of 212,000,000 bu, or 35,000,000, bu less than last year was suggested by the private reports, and the latter also showed a winter wheat yield of 691,000,000 bu, the third largest on record, and compared with the government May returns of 653,000,000 bu this year and with 604,000,000 bu harvested last year.

A Canadian government report issued after the close of the market yesterday said that practically the entire area of heaviest production in the prairie provinces were in a critical condition due to intense and prolonged drought. The regions most affected are southern and central Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Winnipeg Wheat Higher.

The Winnipeg wheat market showed a tendency to break away from the action of Chicago and closed ⅝@¾c higher with July at 6c, or ⅝c over Chicago, while Liverpool was 1@1¼d higher with July 63¼c. Export sales of 500,000 bu or more Manitobas and old crop hard winters were reported during the day.

With the largest carryover in the history in the United States and prospects of a near record winter wheat crop, there were some operators who regarded the proposed export bounty on Canadian grain as decidedly bearish on the price of American grain, owing to the fact that this country must sell its surplus in competition with Canada, and the bounty would give the latter country considerable advantage in the world's market.

July corn is inclined to act tight and closed ⅝c higher at 56⅜@56½c, or 1⅛c over the September, the latter being unchanged for the day, while December was ⅛c higher at 48⅝@48¾c. Buying of July corn against sales of July rye to close spreads had some effect on the former. Crop reports were favorable, although H. S. Williams, who is investigating conditions in Iowa, wired Thomson & McKinnon from Alton, Ia., that, while the crop was in perfect condition at the present time, there was no reserve moisture.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, June 2.—(AP)—A slightly easier tone developed in raw sugar today and prices declined 2 points to 3.23c for spot duty paid.

Except for a partial upturn at the outset, raw futures were generally lower under liquidation or realizing and selling for both Cuban and European account, with final prices 4 to 8 points net lower. Sales were 48,300 tons. Prices follow:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, June 2.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil closed steady, unchanged to 5 points higher today. Sales were 1,350 bris. ANOTHER COTTON LOW; NEAR EIGHT CENT MARK

Action of cotton prices yesterday followed closely in line with those in the New York stock market, and a new low was set, despite the fact that prices have been continually on the downgrade of late, and the close was at only a moderate reaction from the low points. There were net losers of 17@20 points on futures in Chicago, 15@21 points in New Orleans, and 14@19 points in New York. Spots dropped 20 points, New York being 8.35c and New Orleans 8.03c. Galveston was 8.35c and Houston 8.30c. Prices are the lowest in recent years, but do not appear to bring much new buying. Prices follow:

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

Nervousness, with an irregular movement of prices, is expected in the wheat market until there is more certainty as to the crop prospects in the American and Canadian spring wheat sections and progress of harvest in the southwest. Shorts in July wheat are getting nervous, due probably to spreading operations between Chicago and Winnipeg. The disposition on the part of traders is to sell new crop futures on every report of rain or prospect of rain in the northwest.

July corn is not as easy to buy as the deferred futures. Apparently there is a large enough holding to make shorts uneasy. It is believed that there will be no movement of consequence until after corn is laid by and farmers have more time for marketing.

NEAR RECORD WINTER WHEAT CROP IN SIGHT

A near record winter wheat crop, with an estimated yield of 74,000,000 bu in excess of last year's harvest was suggested by the private crop reports given to the trade yesterday. The spring wheat condition, however, showed an average of only 78.8, the lowest at this season in over 45 years, comparing with 85.7 a year ago and a 10 year average of 86.2. A decrease of around 11 per cent was shown in the prospective spring wheat acreage. A crop of 312,000,000 bu was indicated or 35,000,000 bu short of last year's final returns.

The reports indicate that no estimate can be made as to the possible damage which might have occurred to winter wheat by recent frosts, while drought and repeated freezes is responsible for the poor start of the spring wheat crop.

Acreage of spring wheat in the three Canadian provinces is estimated by Murray at 20,050,000 acres, or 7.5 per cent less than last year with a condition of 82 against 96.5 a year ago, suggesting a crop for all Canada of 310,000,000 bu or 88,000,000 bu less than in 1930. Donovan looks for a decrease of 10 per cent in the acreage. Comparisons follow, last six ciphers omitted in the yields:

BUTTER AND EGGS LOWER

Butter and egg futures dropped sharply on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, although recovering slightly at the close from opening low prices. Potato futures were about steady. Idahoes off 1c and round whites unchanged. November butter opened ½c lower, recovering to close off ⅝c. November eggs dropped ⅝c at the opening, fell another ½c and climbed back ¼c and close ⅜c lower for the day. The weekly and daily storage news was bearish in both butter and eggs, the inward supply showing an increase over a year ago in the four market report. Heavier receipts also induced considerable selling in butter. Sales—Butter, 65 cars; eggs, 162 cars; potatoes, 6 cars. Deliveries—Butter, 19 cars; eggs, 5 cars. Prices follow:

LARD FAIRLY ACTIVE

Trading in lard showed a little more life and the market had a strong undertone yesterday in sympathy with the moderate receipts and steady market for hogs. A western packer was a good buyer of September and local interests were the best sellers. Prices advanced and closed 17½@20 cents higher. Cash trade in lard and meats was said to be fairly good. Liverpool lard advanced 6d to 1s. Export clearances of lard were 766,750 lbs and of bacon 319,500 lbs. Bellies received more attention, July being $7.85@7.95, with the market stronger. IOWA CORN MAKING GAIN

"Corn is from 3 to 4 inches high in Iowa on an average and has a fine stand," says a traveling man for a Chicago commission house. "Cultivating is in full progress and ground in fine condition. Rains over weekend were badly needed and have made great improvement in all growing crops. There are more cattle and hogs in the country than we have had for many years and naturally a great portion of our surplus grain will be consumed by live stock."
